ROOSEVELT RIPS ITALY; PLEDGES HELP TO ALLIES

Bares Effort to Keep Duce from War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Charlottesville, Va., June 10.—Addressing the graduating class of the University of Virginia here tonight, President Roosevelt denounced Italy for joining Germany in the war against France and Great Britain.

The President, whose speech was carried to the nation and other parts of the world by radio, declared that:

1. Every resource of the United States will be utilized to provide all kinds of material aid for France and England.

2. Every facility of this nation will be used at top speed to produce equipment and train men for the defense of America.

3. Efforts were made by the United States, thru communications between the President and Premier Benito Mussolini, to keep Italy from entering the war.

[In London the President's speech was taken to indicate that he expects to sit in on the postwar peace conference. The British gained this conclusion from the President's remarks to the effect that he had offered Mussolini an assurance that America would uphold his claims for Mediterranean concessions should Italy stay out of the war.]

Tells His Peace Efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt departed from the prepared text of his address to make this thrust at Mussolini: "The hand that held the dagger has struck it into the back of its neighbor."

He brushed aside secrecy surrounding his communications with Mussolini to reveal for the first time how he had tried to swerve Italy from war.

He said that he proposed that if Italy would refrain from going to war he would be willing to ask assurances from the "the other powers concerned" that they would execute faithfully any agreement made to effect readjustments desired by Italy.

The President said he had informed Il Duce that any extension of the war into the Mediterranean area "would inevitably result in great prejudice to the ways of life and government and to the trade and commerce of all of the American republics."

Finds Rights Disregarded.

In choosing to preserve what it termed "freedom of action," said the President, Italy has manifested "disregard for the rights and security of other nations, for the lives of the peoples of those nations which are directly threatened by this spread of the war." He said it also has shown Italy's unwillingness to find the means thru peaceful negotiations to satisfy its aspirations.

He asserted the people and government of the United States look upon Italy's action "with the utmost regret and with grave disquiet."

The President told the graduates, among whom was his third son, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., that every generation of young people has its problems of finding opportunity and satisfying ambition and that periodically, since the founding of the nation, they have faced the question of the future of the United States.

Raps at Isolationists.

He said this was true today, as it was in civil war times, when the north and south were fighting against each other. He said young people today are hearing the philosophy of force expounded as the new and vigorous system and the ideals of freedom and democracy denounced as decadent.

Isolationists were assailed by Mr. Roosevelt, who said the idea of the United States becoming a lone island in a world dominated by force represented to him a helpless nightmare of a people in prison.

President Roosevelt closed his address with a call for "effort, courage, sacrifice, devotion" on the part of Americans and a declaration to the world that the love of freedom still is fierce and steady in this nation.

[The text of Mr. Roosevelt's speech will be found on page 7.]

Angry Britons Smash Italian Shops, Cafes

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 10.—Anti-Italian riots broke out in London, Liverpool, Edinburgh, Glasgow, and other towns tonight resulting in heavy damage to property and injuries to many persons despite police intervention.

In the Soho district of the capital a pitched battle was staged. Firearms were used and mobs flung bottles and brickbats thru windows of Italian owned stores. One policeman was injured and sent to a hospital, but the number of casualties among the combatants was not announced.

Later, rioting spread southeast and east in London, where many Italians live. Windows in Italian cafés were wrecked as police squad cars rushed to the area to prevent spread of the trouble.

Embassy Guard Doubled.

The police guard around the Italian embassy was doubled because of fear of new outbreaks.

Police in Edinburgh made baton charges to disperse angry crowds raiding Italian shops. One hundred were reported arrested and many injured.

Mobs in the port of Glasgow wrecked and looted 15 of the 17 Italian owned stores in the city. Police were unable to disperse the vast crowd, which rioted for two hours.

Thousands of infuriated Britishers in Liverpool also defied the police and flung bricks and stones thru windows of Italian stores while the owners and their families barricaded themselves in inner rooms.

Other Disturbances Reported.

The police succeeded in restoring order only after considerable damage had been done. Other disturbances were reported in Newcastle, Greenock, Prestwich, and Manchester.

It was admitted unofficially that more than 1,000 Italians, 700 in London alone, had been rounded up and interned in barracks tonight.

Despite the outbreaks of mob violence in the streets, Britain and Italy observed all the accepted formalities today in going to war against each other for the first time. The counselor of the Italian embassy called at the foreign office to confer with Robert Dunbar, head of the treaty department, in arranging for safe conduct passes for the Italian diplomatic and consular staffs. With a number of other Italians, including newspaper men, they will go to Lisbon on two British liners.

At the same time, the Italian government provided the luxury liner Conte Rosso to convey the British diplomatic and consular staffs and other British nationals from Ancona to Lisbon, where the two parties will change ships.

ITALIANS SCUTTLE 3 SHIPS, 2 AT GIBRALTAR AND 1 IN ST. LAWRENCE

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10 (AP).—The Italian steamer Capo Noli, 3,921 tons, was run aground and set afire in the St. Lawrence river at Bic Island tonight to prevent her falling into the hands of the Royal Canadian navy, which seized the crew and began fighting the fire.

The ship sailed from Montreal yesterday afternoon, followed by the Canadian minesweeper Bras D'Or, which closed in when word came that the Canadian parliament had voted for a state of war between Canada and Italy.

2 Scuttled at Gibraltar.

LA LINEA, Spain, June 11, Tuesday (AP).—Two Italian merchant ships, the 10,000 ton Chelina and the 2,000 ton Numbolia, were scuttled by their crews in Gibraltar waters late yesterday.

Sixty persons from the Chelina, including a nurse and one passenger, reached La Linea. Only half of the crew of the Numbolia reached port. British boats picked up the others and made them prisoners.

Duce to Be Supreme Head of Italian Forces in War

LONDON, June 11 [Tuesday] (AP).—A Rome radio announcement heard here said Premier Mussolini will be supreme commander of the Italian armed forces in the conflict declared yesterday. King Victor Emmanuel will remain as "nominal chief." Marshal Pietro Badoglio was delegated as commander in chief of the army, the announcer said.

Hitler's Troops Cut Off Paris from Le Havre

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 10.—German troops closing in on Paris from the west and north tonight were reported to have formed a semicircle around the French capital. This so-called ring of steel, with Paris as its center, was said to have a radius of about 45 miles.

German tanks have penetrated Rouen, French city on the Seine river, according to French advices. Thus, the Germans said, Paris is cut off from its port of Le Havre. The Nazi air force was said to be pouring bombs on river traffic in the lower Seine.

Doubt French Can Hold Line.

With Rouen in German hands, Nazis doubted that the French could hold the Seine line "especially since the depleted French reserves will be weakened further thru Italy's entry into the war."

A second wedge of German soldiers was reported to have pushed forward to the Ourcq river, south of Soissons, northeast of the French capital.

Natural French defense positions between the Bresle and Bethune rivers in the coastal sectors were reported wiped aside and French troops in that pocket were said to be cut off from the main army and were forced toward the coast in the neighborhood of Dieppe.

Urge People to Give Up.

Some Nazis asserted Adolf Hitler's swiftly moving columns were within 30 to 35 miles of the French capital near Gisors and Vernon.

German aviators, it was said, were flying over Paris and dropping thousands of leaflets in which the people of France were urged to "give up the futile resistance."

"The situation of the French high command is as good as hopeless," authoritative sources exclaimed.

The cartoonist of the newspaper Nachtausgabe depicts Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England and Premier Paul Reynaud of France on their knees licking the boots of Uncle Sam and crying, "Give us planes, give us tanks!"

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 10.—The Daily Mail reported tonight that Paris is ringed by waves of German raiders and is being heavily bombed. The paper said the death toll was heavy and the damage to suburbs considerable. No confirmation of this report was available in official circles here.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, June 11, Tuesday (AP).—The roar of airplanes and the thunder of French antiaircraft guns were heard over Paris early today, but no alarm was sounded immediately.

PARIS, June 10 (AP).—The government fled from Paris, the capital of the republic of France, tonight as marauding German tanks were reported to have reached the region of the city itself.

Some German armored advance guards also were said to have penetrated to the environs of Paris in isolated raids thru the French lines.

But the main front was about 35 miles west of the capital. Another major battlefield was northeast of the capital on the Ourcq river.

The high command, however, said the "enemy is held everywhere by vigorous counterattacks."

[A London announcement said new British troops had joined the fighting in France, the British air force in France had been increased, and the British fleet was shelling German troops on the French coast.]

Reynaud to Army Headquarters.

Premier Paul Reynaud has gone to join the French armies, a brief ministry of information communique said.

"The high command asked the ministers to effect their withdrawal to the provinces in conformity witn established dispositions. This withdrawal has been effected."

The government transfer, at Generalissimo Maxime Weygand's request, was approved last night at a cabinet meeting. In the darkness the ministers and their principal aids drove to their new offices in the southern provinces. This morning the rest of the functionaries followed. Most of the government documents already had been moved. Premier Reynaud went to army general headquarters.

In the last war the government moved to Bordeaux for a few months late in 1914 when the Germans threatened Paris.

Newspapers Cease Publication.

Havas, the French news agency, suspended service in Paris, starting at 2 a. m. tomorrow [8 p. m. Monday, Chicago time].

At the same time, part of the Associated Press staff moved to a point "somewhere in France." Some communications facilities, including Press Wireless, Inc., which handles a heavy press dispatch file to America, left Paris. Indications were that they would operate from Bordeaux or Tours.

Newspapers already had ceased to appear in the French capital, which in peacetime has a population of nearly 3,000,000.

Most Paris banks already have completed plans to move. Taxicabs were noticeably scarce since many persons had engaged them for trips to the south.

The stream of civilians leaving the city was steadily swelling, and more and more antiaircraft fire against planes bombing the outskirts of the proud city was heard.

Altho steadily approaching, the battle's roar still could not be heard here.

Will Carry on Fight.

Premier Reynaud, speaking to his people an hour and 45 minutes after Premier Mussolini announced that Italy had cast her lot with Nazi Germany, voiced the nation's grim determination to fight against whatever might come.

[The text of Reynaud's speech will be found on page 5.]

BIG CELEBRATION IN BERLIN! HAIL 'SPEEDY VICTORY'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on page 8.)

BERLIN, June 10.—Singing and shouting fanatically, Italian men and women poured thru the streets of Berlin near the Italian embassy tonight after Italy's entry into the war was announced and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany, and Dino Alfieri, the Italian ambassador, showed themselves fraternizing on the balcony of the Italian embassy.

Behind the Italians came German youths in brown and black uniforms. They marched in military formation and sang patriotic songs with great seriousness.

Germans Enthusiastic.

For the first time since the outbreak of the war there were demonstrations of enthusiasm such as marked the victories of German troops during the world war.

Germans expressed the conviction that there can be no reverses to the military successes which enabled Adolf Hitler's war machine to conquer Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and brought German divisons to the gates of Paris. Many predicted a speedy victory.

Foreign and German newspaper correspondents this evening again assembled in the historical hall where Bismarck presided at the Berlin congress [1878]. It was there that Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Von Ribbentrop announced the conclusion of their pacts of friendship a year ago. In the same hall Von Ribbentrop on April 9 announced the German "advance into Denmark and Norway," and on May 10 declared the Germans had marched into the Netherlands and Belgium.

This time the hall was decorated with laurel wreaths, Italian and German flags, and a huge picture of Adolf Hitler. Hidden behind the green shrubs was a radio over which Premier Mussolini's address in Rome was being received. The roars of the Romans were heard thru the loudspeaker.

Hear Sighs of Relief.

While Mussolini was speaking one could hear sighs of relief that arose from the Swiss and representatives of southeastern countries as he announced that he did not intend to attack his neighbors, Switzerland, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Turkey, or Egypt.

After a translation of Mussolini's speech had been read and the announcer had introduced Von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister entered the hall. He wore his gray diplomatic uniform and was followed by his staff and bodyguard. Germans and members of authoritarian countries raised their arms in a Nazi salute which Von Ribbentrop returned.

"The German government and the whole German nation have just heard with profound emotion the words of Il Duce of Italy," he said. "In this historical hour, Germany is overwhelmed with joy that Fascist Italy, of its own free will, is coming to Germany's side against the common enemy, Great Britain and France. German and Italian soldiers will now fight shoulder to shoulder."

"North Cape to Equator."

Nazis said the front against England and France now extends from the North Cape to the equator.

[The North Cape is a Norwegian promontory forming, with the Knivskjaerodde [or knife-skerry-point], the northernmost point of Europe. It is situated on the northern extremity of the island of Mageroe.]

Whether Mussolini will order his troops to break into France was the subject of heated controversies in Berlin tonight. A number of prominent Nazis maintained that Italy may be satisfied with "compelling the French to increase their defenses in the south, thus forcing them to weaken their positions around Paris, where the fate of France and England will be decided."

Fascists Cheer, and Weep; Duce Aims to Rule Sea.

BULLETIN.

New York, June 10 (AP).—The Rome radio declared tonight that hostilities "started four hours ago" in a broadcast received in New York by CBS at 11 p. m. (Chicago time) today. "The first Italian bulletin is expected to be issued within a few hours," the broadcast said.

ROME, June 11, Tuesday (AP).—Italy was at war today on the side of Germany against France and Great Britain but the ominously blacked out Italian capital gave no hint as to where Premier Mussolini's Black Shirt legions struck first.

Altho Berlin reports said Italian troops already had set foot upon France, striking up thru the Riviera, there was no confirmation here.

This would comport with the long-anticipated Italian plan to strike secretly with the first blow, making fullest use of the strategy of surprise.

Midnight Is Zero Hour.

The zero hour of Italy's entry was midnight, the day of hostilities June 11, several hours after Mussolini announced the historic decision to side definitely with Germany.

But the deadline passed without event in Rome.

Rome was blacked out except for feeble blue lamps and dimmed headlights on the few automobiles and bicycles allowed to be at large. Steel helmeted Black Shirt troops patrolled the city thru the night.

Mussolini cast the fateful die in a dramatic announcement which called the allies "starvers" and the holders of "all the riches and gold on earth."

[The text of Mussolini's speech appears on page 5.]

Italy Cheers and Weeps.

Italy cheered his decision, and wept, too, but mostly it cheered.

Berlin sources said Italian troops already had set upon France thru the Riviera to sandwich Paris, marching from the south to meet the hard-pressing Nazi forces driving down from the north. An Italian communique, however, said the war declaration was not effective until today.

Attacks on French possessions in the Mediterranean were considered imminent—in response to the continual cries for Italian conquest of such prizes as Corsica and Tunisia.

Mussolini defined his principal war aim as control of the Mediterranean and warned his nonbelligerent neighbors to rigidly preserve neutrality, lest the war spread to the Balkans and to Egypt and Turkey.

Assails "League's Siege."

The hate which had been hammered into Italian minds in a five year propaganda campaign was epitomized in Mussolini's assertion that recent history might be summarized in "phrases, promises, threats of blackmail, and the league of nations' siege." This was in reference to the sanctions imposed on Italy during its conquest of Ethiopia.

Italy finally took the field with Germany, Mussolini said, "to smash the territorial military chains suffocating us in our own sea."

Behind his words lay the burning determination of Fascists to achieve territorial expansion which they said France and England always have blocked.

Posters on walls of every Italian community proclaim Italian rights to Nice, Savoia, Corsica, Malta, Tunisia, Djibouti, and the Suez canal.

In fighting for them, Mussolini asserted, Italy will keep her pledge to Germany, to "march to the end with friends."

The plunge clearly was seen here as the fruition of the historic conversation of last March 18 between Mussolini and Adolf Hitler at Brenner pass. All the world wondered what was decided at that crucial meeting. The agreement apparently gave Italy the promise of Mediterranean control.

Mussolini, standing in his familiar balcony of the Palazzo Venezia, made a characteristically vigorous exhortation, with his fist continually clenched and pounding upon the balustrade to enforce his points.

Cheers Punctuate Sentence.

Cheers punctuated every sentence. But at the end of his shrilling 16-minute call to arms, many women wept openly in the Piazza Venezia below and young women clung sadly to smartly uniformed young lieutenants.

Fathers wandered off, leading wide eyed sons by the hand.

A group of 150 uniformed German Nazis, including men, women, and boys, shouted "heils" under the balcony as Mussolini proclaimed his intention of keeping the pact of steel with Hitler.

Afterward they paraded, singing, to Nazi headquarters at the "Brown house."

Move on British Consulate.

Scenes of confusion followed the war announcement in the streets of Rome. Several hundred troops rushed to turn away a mob of sailors and civilians from the British consulate in the Piazza Espana. Firemen held one end of the Piazza with hoses attached to fireplugs ready to put down any rioting.

Students and Fascists roamed the streets for hours shouting and singing and speaking at demonstrations against what Mussolini called the "western plutocratic and reactionary democracies."

Mussolini opened his war statement by saying the declarations already had been handed to the allied ambassadors.

Last minute efforts were made by British and French ambassadors to avert the entry of Italy.

Seeks Mediterranean Rule.

Mussolini's war aim—based on Mediterranean control—conformed with the often expressed Italian hope of wresting Gibraltar from Britain and placing Spain in nominal control of the great fortified rock at the west, and of opening the eastern end at Suez with the acquiesence of Turkey.

The bottlenecks of the Mediterranean are the potential trouble spots as the war spreads to the sun dappled southern shores of Europe.

Italian-controled passage into the eastern Mediterranean would add a flourishing climax to the Italian conquest of Ethiopia in 1935 and 1936 and the riches that wait to be added to the lifeline linking Italy with Africa.

Rejecting all appeals to stay out, Mussolini overrode the beseechments of both Pope Pius and President Roosevelt in their vain effort to prevent the spread of bloodshed.

Allied Diplomats Leave.

British and French diplomats hastened from the belligerent country. The British headed for Lisbon, Portugal, and the French for Switzerland. Their nationals have been withdrawing from Italy for days.

The American embassy staff worked overtime preparing to take over British, French, and South African affairs. The staff also helped various Latin-American citizens who have asked the American embassy's aid in getting steamship and railway accommodations.

Blackouts were ordered. Three of Italy's greatest merchant ships—the Rex, the Conte di Savoia, and the Augustus — were mysteriously absent from their ports and lines of travel, presumably in trooper service.

Crowds began to pour into Piazza Venezia two hours before Il Duce was scheduled to speak. They stood quietly, perspiring beneath the hot sun of late afternoon.

Wave Banners and Placards.

Groups of Fascist youths, accompanied by bands, occasionally chorused patriotic hymns.

Hundreds of persons waved banners and placards bearing the usual watchwords, "Tunisia," "Nice," "Savoia," "Corsica," "Malta," and "Suez."

They flourished aloft sketches of umbrellas [a reminder of Britain's former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's ever present personal possession], along with pictures of top hats and money bags—young fascism's customary emblems of derision for democracies.

In the front rows of the surging multitude, directly beneath the famous balcony from which Mussolini spoke, was a platoon of Mussolini's musketeers wearing death's-head caps.

Nazis Attend Ceremony.

Behind them stood a straight, stiff row of brown uniformed Nazis. Near by was a small cluster of red shirted, white haired veterans of Garibaldi's volunteers, the men who fought for a united Italy.

Mussolini appeared on his balcony punctually at 6 p. m. [noon Monday, Chicago time].

As if to emphasize his thesis of war and continuation of the Fascist revolution, he wore the black uniform of a party member. The crowds noted that he left off his usual black gloves.

ARGENTINE PROBLEM: 2 MILLION RESIDENTS HAVE ITALIAN BLOOD

BUENOS AIRES, June 10 (AP).—Italy's entrance into the European war today created new problems of neutrality for Argentina, home of some 2 million persons of Italian extraction.

For one thing, the Italian step increased many-fold the possibilities of fifth column activities, since pro-Fascist organizations here long have been outspokenly anti-British in sentiment.

Nationalists likewise frequently have engaged in activities bearing the stamp of strong anti-British and pro-German or pro-Italian feelings.

Official circles deferred comment on Italy's belligerency, but the man in the street expressed little surprise.

The spread of the war cut another large segment from Argentina's overseas trade. In addition to heavy meat contracts, Italy had just established credits for the purchase of 1 million pesos [about $298,000] worth of cereals and other products, all of which have not been shipped.

The government ordered all Argentine merchant ships in home ports to stay there and directed all those abroad to return home immediately.

Meanwhile, 11 Italian ships totaling more than 55,000 tons lay in Brazilian ports awaiting orders.

COLOMBIAN MOBS ATTACK ITALIAN BUSINESS HOUSES

BOGOTA, Colombia, June 10 (AP).—A violent anti-Italian demonstration, in which an estimated 4,000 persons joined, broke out here today when the word came that Italy had declared war on Britain and France.

Italian commercial establishments were attacked and several were damaged badly.

One of the leaders of the demonstration, borne on the shoulders of the crowd, harangued the demonstrators.

"Colombia will applaud the liberty and triumph of France over Italy!" he shouted.

Australia Hopes to Turn Out 3 Bombers a Week

SYDNEY, Australia, June 10.—Sir Frederick Stewart, minister of supply, told newspapermen on a tour of government aircraft and munitions factories and private engineering works that by April, 1941, Australia would be producing two and maybe three Bristol Beaufort bombers weekly. By the end of 1941, he said, 180 such aircraft will have been manufactured. This schedule, he emphasized, depended on Australia getting from the United States such raw materials as aluminum and manganese.

TURKISH CABINET WEIGHS QUESTION OF GOING TO WAR

Report Mobilization Under Way.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, June 10.—While mobilization was reported under way, Turkey's cabinet met tonight to consider war or peace following Italy's entry into the war.

Under a mutual assistance pact signed in October, Turkey is bound to help Britain and France in the Mediterranean with all her resources as they ask. There is no way to evade it without repudiating their word, which the Turks insist they have no idea of doing, but they probably cannot give immediate military help.

All Turkish air fields and naval bases will be open to the allies if Turkey keeps the treaty, since it states that if an attack involves France and Britain in war in the Mediterranean, Turkey will associate herself with them and give them all the help in her power.

400,000 Under Arms.

About 400,000 men are under arms out of a total possible force of 1,500,000. General mobilization would raise the force rapidly to 750,000.

About 300,000 men are now divided between two areas where Italy might strike. Thrace and the area in the south near Italy's Dodecanese Islands.

One gets the impression in talking with the Turks that they will avoid war for a while if they can. They know they are not equipped industrially to carry on a war if cut off from the allies' supply sources.

Censorship at Work.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 10 (AP).—Telephonic service connecting Turkey to the outside world was cut for half an hour tonight, then restored with a strict censorship imposed.

Rumanian Council Called.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 10 (AP).—The crown council of Rumania tonight was called into session for tomorrow. It is expected a reaffirmation of the country's neutrality will be proclaimed. Rumania strengthened her defense forces on the Jugo-Slav and Russian frontiers immediately.

Jugo-Slavia to Revise Cabinet.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, June 10 (AP).—Two cabinet ministers resigned from Jugo-Slavia's cabinet late today. Formation of a government of national concentration is expected as a consequence of Italy's belligerency.

The ministers who resigned were representative of the Moslems. They were Srdjan Budisavljevio, minister of social welfare, and Dzafer Kulenovic, minister of forests and mines.

A foreign office spokesman said Jugo-Slavia expects help from Russia if her borders are violated and that her policy will be one of neutrality.

A dispatch from Ljubljana stated Jugo-Slavia has called up large numbers of technical troops and ordered new fortifications on her Italian and German borders.

Greece Takes Precautions.

ATHENS, Greece, June 10 (AP).—Naval and military precautionary measures were instituted tonight by Greece following Italy's entry into the war.

Balkans Safe, Bulgarians Say.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 10.—Italy's entry into the war caused apprehension but no surprise here today. Bulgarians are convinced the war will not spread to the Balkans because Russia is opposed to this development.

Senator Asks: Bar Fascists, Reds, Nazis as Union Heads

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], introduced a resolution today to bar communists, Nazis, Fascists, aliens and felons from serving as labor union officers and agents. He asserted that sabotage and propaganda efforts are being attempted in key American industries.

WE WERE READY TO FIGHT ITALY, ALLIES REVEAL

Prepared to 'Meet Sword with the Sword.'

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Preparations of the allies with regard to Italy are complete, the ministry of information declared tonight, and Britain and France will "know how to meet the sword with the sword."

The ministry's communique said:

"The Balkan peoples will have noted Signor Mussolini's reassuring words in their regard. The axis powers have been prodigal of such assurances in the past, as Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg have learnt to their cost.

"In the struggle between civilization and the pagan hordes of Germany the Fascist government has waited so as to intervene at the moment of greatest embarrassment to the allies. It is hoped by this unchivalrous and cowardly policy to secure safely for Italy such plunder as Germany will graciously permit her to have. But what the Italians will in fact experience is the contempt of the world and the armed might of the two empires which Italy has wantonly attacked.

Predict War Will Be Long.

"This is to be a long war. Unless Germany collapses unexpectedly it will be fought, as Mr. Churchill declared, on the oceans, on land and in the air with the vast resources at the disposal of the allies, until the German menace has been lifted from Europe.

"There can be no hope, therefore, of Italy obtaining great success in a short while and at little cost. She will be called upon for great sacrifices—and to whose advantage? Germany.

"The allied governments have for some time discounted the decision of Italy to enter the war as Germany's vassal. Their preparations are complete and they will know how to meet the sword with sword."

Authoritative sources described the Italian entry as a "treacherous blow" and declared the Italians "must expect to be treated by us in exactly the same way as the Germans."

French High Command Prepared.

PARIS, June 10 (AP).—The French high command had prepared in advance for Italy's long awaited entry into the war on the side of Germany, it was declared tonight.

France learned Italy is ranged alongside Germany against her as the great battle of France apparently reached a critical stage.

The German drive was being met on two sides—on the Seine river west of Paris and on the Ourcq river northeast of the capital.

Besides the Germans on the north and east, however, the French line had a new menace on the south.

ROOSEVELT BIDS FOR PEACE TABLE JOB, LONDON VIEW

British Regard Talk as Encouraging.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 10.—Indications that President Roosevelt expects to sit in on the peace conference after the war were seen here tonight following his speech in which he pledged that America would aid Britain and France in their war against Germany and Italy with all available material and resources.

The speech was welcomed as the one spot of good news in a day of black depression in Britain.

While the public still was attempting to digest Roosevelt's pronouncements as to where America stands in the fight, diplomatic circles here showed considerable interest in his account of how he tried to swerve Premier Mussolini from war.

Speech Called Encouraging.

The disclosure that he was prepared to commit the United States to a demand that the other powers faithfully observe any agreements they had made to carry out the readjustments desired by Italy in the Mediterranean was interpreted in some quarters as tantamount to offering Italy the position of a belligerent at the peace conference without the need of participating in the war. Further, it was taken as indicating that Roosevelt expects to take part in the final settlement.

The reaction in official circles in London was that the speech was highly encouraging to the allies. The material and resources from the United States, added to those of the French and British empires, it was stated, would prove a vital factor in the struggle.

Thousands Hear Broadcast.

Thousands here picked up the President's broadcast over short wave radios and the text of the speech was prominently displayed on the front pages of Tuesday morning papers.

Much is made here of the President's personal attack on Il Duce and bitter criticisms of American isolationists whose policy of staying out of European quarrels now is regarded by the British as a dead letter.

The Daily Telegraph, editorializing on the speech in its late editions, pictures Roosevelt as having thrown down the challenge to Mussolini and Hitler. The President's answer to Italy's entry into the war, according to the Telegraph, has doomed the alliance of Fascism and Naziism.

COL. M'CORMICK DEMANDS SPEED IN DEFENSE PLAN

Urges Mechanization of U. S. Armed Forces.

Culver, Ind., June 10 [Special].—Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, delivered a stirring appeal for Americanism and military preparedness tonight at the graduation exercises of Culver Military academy. He urged that mechanization of the army be speeded and that all the American armed forces be speedily molded into one coördinated whole, with the ablest minds of the service in command.

Col. McCormick demanded that, in defense of the United States, the nation's military chiefs turn to good account the military lessons taught by the present war. He called upon the nation to protect itself against the fifth column. In America this easily can be done, he said, because the fifth column workers exposed themselves prematurely in the labor lawlessness of 1937.

Warns Against Delay.

If America acts at once, he said, this country can avoid the catastrophes that have come upon the defeated countries of Europe, but he warned there must be no delay.

"With the world afire," he said, "we cannot humor ourselves nor waste a single day."

Col. McCormick wore in his lapel the distinguished service medal, awarded for distinguished service at the front in France during the last war. He delivered his address in a military setting on the academy's green military field with the parents of many of the 160 members of the graduating class in his audience.

Prolonged applause greeted a display of military readiness by Culver's famed black horse cavalry troop, its motorized and horse artillery and its mortorized infantry weapons company.

Three Win Gold Medals.

Forty-three graduates received R. O. T. C. certificates, symbolic of four years of R. O. T. C. training. These certificates may be exchanged for commissions as second lieutenants in the army when the cadets reach 21 years of age.

Col. McCormick presented the certificates and three gold medals donated for the academy's outstanding cadets by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The gold medal winners are Cadet Lieutenant Donald F. Becher, 6473 Newland avenue, Chicago, cavalry; Cadet Captain John L. McAllister, Carmi, Ill., infantry; and Cadet Captain Donald A. Stackhouse Jr., Indianapolis, field artillery.

Air Pioneer's Son in Class.

The graduating class included John Doolittle, son of the aviation pioneer, Jimmy Doolittle.

The graduation services were conducted by Col. A. E. Elliott, executive officer, and Lieut. Col. E. R. Bull, war department professor of military science and tactics at the academy.

Col. William E. Gregory, acting superintendent, and Gen. L. R. Gignilliat, retired superintendent, were in Washington for the funeral of Admiral Hugh Rodman, director of the Culver summer school for 14 years.

Col. Elliott introduced Col. McCormick as a citizen, soldier, author, and publisher, whom the nation had honored with its distinguished service medal.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Ladies and gentlemen; cadets of Culver Military academy:

"Students of military affairs have been astounded in recent days to see four armies surprised by the use of weapons with which they should have been fully familiar.

"Parachutes are 140 years old. Nearly as long ago as that Benjamin Franklin suggested the use of parachute troops jumping from balloons. Parachutes were the commonplace of our boyhood, when we saw them at every county fair. They have been in commercial use for years.

"Pictures of Russians jumping from parachute planes have been familiar to newspaper readers.

Gen. Mitchell's Plan.

"As long ago as 1918, Gen. William Mitchell of the United States army prepared a plan for the use of parachute troops to alight from army planes—to attack from the rear.

"Eleven years ago at the Chicago air races, a demonstration was made showing that an airport could be taken by troops landing in parachutes.

"Passenger planes are fully 20 years old. They are used all over the world. American air liners alone can carry 7,000 passengers at a time.

"As much as 20 years ago, I saw a British army transport plane. Freight commonly is moved by airplane and dropped with parachutes. There was no reason to doubt that troops in large numbers could be moved and landed from the air.

"Bombing dates from the last war. Each country had an equal opportunity to study the effect of bombing and how to prevent it. England and France practiced it on live targets in the colonial wars.

"In our own country, factories were bombed by the C. I. O. in the late undeclared civil war.

"Why the armies remained so far behind in speed is a mystery. The air liners were faster than the pursuit planes only a few years ago. Three years ago Al Williams, a racing pilot and a one-time member of the marine corps, brought home word that German planes were fully 150 miles an hour faster than any we had in this country. His information was disregarded and it was not until Col. Lindbergh brought the great reputation of his name to support that statement that any effort was made to get up-to-date in military and naval aviation.

"That is why all countries other than Germany are so pitifully short in pursuit planes.

Tanks 40 Years Old.

"Tanks—endless chain treads—originated in Peoria, Ill., forty years ago. The English navy took them over and developed them into tanks. They finally forced their way into the army and played an important part in the allied victories of 1918—tanks, omnibuses, and trucks which the Germans did not possess at that time.

"All of these weapons were tried out in Spain for all the world to see and for all newspaper readers to read about. Correspondents—men of military record—described fully how these tactics worked.

"The Germans finally put on a grand dress rehearsal in Poland in the fall of 1939 and again in Norway and yet the generals and staffs of Holland, Belgium, England, and France were caught asleep by tactics known to all newspaper readers.

"It is not enough to say that these men were all inept or all badly selected. They were men in supreme military power who chose to ignore the evidence thrust upon them because they preferred their own old opinions. They are guilty of criminal negligence on a vast and tragic scale.

"But the lowest step on the ladder of degradation and disgrace is for the men who purposely made their country helpless in the face of invasion.

"Leon Blum and his comrades of the Popular Front stopped the manufacture of airplanes in France and, during his eighteen months at the head of the French government, shipped aviation and other war material to Spain to support the cause of communism, leaving France unprotected.

"We have a Popular Front here. We have an alien in control of shipping on the west coast. We have communists in public office. Was Blum working under orders of Stalin? Are our officials under orders from Stalin, keeping us unarmed and rushing us into the vortex?

"Fortunately the members of the fifth column in this country exposed themselves prematurely in their civil war in 1937 and can be picked up by the authorities when these choose to do so.

Reviews Army Neglect.

"Our army has been sadly neglected and yet 17 years ago we were able to reach the theory that mechanization was the coming form of war. Little by little, mechanical equipment was put together. Education lagged, and in the recent maneuvers in Texas and Louisiana, an all too large number of high ranking officers showed themselves ill prepared to use the weapons at hand.

"Even more unfortunate is the attitude of the air corps. Admitting it has been treated as a prodigal son, it should not refuse to play at the war games, but should be part of the army team, coöperating to a common end.

"The reform of the army must take drastic shape. Instead of having each arm jealously trying to preserve its importance at the expense of progress, let us mold these military factions into one coördinated whole in which the ablest, most elastic minds will flow freely into new arms and new tactics, leaving the duller men in the occupation which becomes of minor importance.

"With the world afire we cannot humor ourselves nor waste a single day."

ARMY'S PROMOTION BOARD OPENS STUDY OF HAFFNER RECORD

A promotion board sitting at headquarters of the army's 6th corps area yesterday began hearing testimony concerning the fitness of Col. Charles C. Haffner Jr. to be advanced to the rank of brigadier general in command of the 58th field artillery brigade, Illinois National Guard. Col. Haffner until recently commanded the 124th field artillery regiment, and his promotion has been suggested by Gov. Horner since the resignation of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn as commander of the guard division.

According to spokesmen for the board, the members are examining the conduct of Col. Haffner, who is alleged to have attempted to block the motorization of guard regiments. Originally this was suggested in August, 1939, and approved by Gov. Horner. Col. Haffner is alleged to have gone to Washington in an attempt to defeat the move, but his opposition was not sufficient to prevent the plans from being carried thru.

The promotion board is a regular army board that must give approval to any promotions made by Gov. Horner before they are recognized by the war department. The board also is considering the promotion of Brig. Gen. Samuel Lawton as major general in command of the 33d division.

PEPPER WARNED: 'NO WAR DRUMS' IN SPEECH HERE

Flag Day Committee Will Edit Address.

Criticism of the selection of Senator Claude D. Pepper [D., Fla.] as speaker at the Flag day celebration in Grant park tomorrow night culminated in the following developments yesterday:

Claude D. Pepper.

1. Officials in charge of the affair telegraphed Pepper informing him of their intention to examine a copy of his scheduled address and if necessary to cut therefrom any war-drum thumping sentiments.

2. Leaders of veterans' groups were invited by Judge Oscar Caplan, chairman of the Flag day committee, to confer with Pepper regarding his talk.

3. Representatives of American Legion posts and the Veterans of Foreign Wars were instructed to leave the platform of the Grant park band shell at once if the Floridan decides to swerve from the approved script and use the patriotic occasion for sounding interventionist ideas.

Protests Pile Up.

Protests over Pepper's appearance continued to pile up yesterday.

These protests—by persons ranging from Theodore Miller, judge advocate of the V. F. W. to Miss Harriet Vittum, head of the Northwestern university settlement—characterized the selection of Pepper as both "very unfortunate" and "purely political."

Miller described Pepper as a "war monger and an internationalist." Miss Vittum deplored the choice of Pepper as "very unfortunate," adding, "It seems to me a man more temperate in his expressions on the international situation might have been named as speaker."

Raymond J. Kelly, national commander of the American Legion, said: "I do not know what the senator's subject will be, but I do not believe that a Flag day celebration should be the occasion for either a political speech or a speech advocating our entry into the war. The Legion is opposed to the entry of America in the war."

Thomas Cannon, head of the Catholic Order of Foresters, said no approval had been given the committee to use his group's name in connection with the celebration. [The organization is listed with about 20 others on the committee stationery.] Henry L. Warner announced the withdrawal as cosponsor of the 33d Division Veterans organization, of which he is trustee.

Won't Stand for Mockery.

William Collins, commander of the Cook county council of the American Legion, said: "We are glad to participate in such a celebration but we will not stand for an address which will make a mockery of the spirit of Flag day. If Senator Pepper persists in making a dangerous talk, we will take up our flags and walk out."

Judge Caplan, emphasizing that the purpose of the affair is to stress the importance of Flag day and not to promote any war spirit, explained that Pepper was chosen speaker only after such others as Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] had declined because of official duties.

Among the organizations listed by Judge Caplan as cosponsors of the celebration, which was authorized recently by the city council, are the Chicago Federation of Labor, the Chicago B'nai Brith council, the Allied War Veterans, the American Legion, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Wabash Y. M. C. A.

10,000 CALLS ON WAR HANDLED BY TRIBUNE IN A SIX HOUR PERIOD

THE TRIBUNE switchboard was flooded with an estimated 10,000 calls in the six hours following Mussolini's speech announcing Italy's declaration of war against Great Britain and France and preceding President Roosevelt's radio address last evening. Altho the volume of calls from citizens seeking information on the crisis was one of the greatest in THE TRIBUNE'S experience, the staff of operators proved equal to the task of handling it and summarizing information reported from the news room.

Miss Anne Garrow, manager of Tribune telephone service, said that many of the callers used the special group number, Superior 0200, in asking for information, thus enabling the main switchboard to handle ordinary business calls. Ten operators handling incoming calls on Superior 0200 switched them in groups of 30 to special bulletin service equipment. There a girl reading the bulletin outlining the war developments into a microphone was able to make the announcement to the entire group as clearly as if she were addressing but one caller.

Most of the callers wanted to know how Russia and Turkey were affected by the Italian developments, and at what time President Roosevelt's address was to be broadcast.

U. S. PLANE BURNS ON WAY TO ALLIED BASE; PILOT DIES

Mariaville, N. Y., June 10 (AP).—A United States navy bomber, en route from Buffalo to Houlton, Me., for delivery to the allies, crashed and burned on a rain soaked pasture late today, killing its pilot, Allan B. Lullman, 26 years old, of St. Louis, Mo.

The demolished ship was one of nine which left Buffalo earlier in the day, the remaining eight landing at Albany, N. Y., airport because of inclement weather.

Burdette S. Wright, vice president and general manager of the Curtiss aeroplane division of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, to which the navy returned 50 planes for release to the allies, said in Buffalo:

"Reports are that the cause of the crash was laid to unexpected weather conditions. The Curtiss organization and Civil Aeronautics authority are investigating."

Tow Bombers Into Canada.

Houlton, Me., June 10 (AP).—Three Curtiss dive bombers—first of a detachment of fifty planes released by the U. S. navy for re-sale to the allies—arrived here late today and in quick order were towed across the international boundary line into Canada.

CANADIANS VOTE WAR STEP; RAID ITALIAN PLACES

MackenzieKing Calls Duce a Carrion Bird.

BULLETIN.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 11 (AP).—Prime Minister Fraser stated today that New Zealand was at war with Italy from 10:30 a. m. today, New Zealand time (6 p. m. Monday, Chicago time).

OTTAWA, Que., June 10 (AP).—The Canadian house of commons unanimously approved declaration of a state of war against Italy late today as Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King called Italian Premier Mussolini "a carrion bird waiting for brave men to die."

The resolution, calling on King George formally to proclaim a state of war between Canada and Italy, was proposed by the prime minister, seconded by Opposition Leader R. B. Hanson, and carried by acclamation.

The senate, scheduled to meet tomorrow, was summoned hastily to give its expected indorsement to the resolution.

Italian Homes and Offices Raided.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 10.—Within a few minutes of Italy's declaration of war, the full force of the royal Canadian mounted police went into action today raiding homes and offices of Italian Fascists in Montreal and rounding up enemy aliens.

Coöperation of the United States immigration department was given the Canadian authorities and extra guards were placed at border points to prevent illegal entry of Italians into the United States. Some who tried to flee from Montreal were stopped at barricaded bridges leading from the city.

One of the raids was on the Casa D'Italia, center of Italian activities in Montreal, where angry crowds already had broken windows and smashed furniture. The offices of the Italian line and of the Italo-Canadian Press were raided and closed.

Crowds gathered at the Italian consulate as soon as the news of Italy's war declaration became widespread. Inside Paola de Simone, the Italian consul, who was wounded twice fighting against Germany in the last war, met reporters with tears in his eyes. "I have always tried to do my duty to my government and by the country which gave me hospitality," he said.

Italian anti-Fascists met and urged their youth to join the Canadian army.

Italy's War Entry Hampers Transmission of U. S. Mail

Washington, D. C., June 10 [Special].—As a result of Italy's entrance into the war, almost the last means of forwarding mail from the United States to northern and eastern Europe in American vessels has disappeared, postoffice officials said today. It still is possible to send letters to Portugal by boat or by clipper, but soon the state department may include Spain and Portugal in the combat area.

Natural defenses inherent in the topography of France became doubly significant yesterday as Italy entered the war on the side of Germany and artillery activity developed on the German border north of Switzerland. Mountains, rivers, and topographical bulwarks, as well as France's fortified lines, are shown above.

The military aspects of the Mediterranean basin are stupendous. It is Europe's newest battleground since Italy joined Germany against the allies. Possessions, air bases, and naval bases of opposing factions are shown above, together with the fortifications of nine nations.

MUSSOLINI ASKS ITALY TO BREAK MILITARY CHAINS

Duce Tells Why Nation Is Entering War.

ROME, June 10 (AP).—Here is the text of Premier Mussolini's announcement of Italy's entry into the war at the side of Germany:

"Fighters of land, sea, and air, blackshirts of the revolution and of the legions, men and women of Italy, of the empire and of the kingdom of Albania, listen:

"The hour destined by fate is sounding for us: The hour of irrevocable decision has come. A declaration of war already has been handed to the ambassadors of Great Britain and France.

"We take the field against the plutocratic and reactionary democracies who always have blocked the march and frequently plotted against the existence of the Italian people.

Calls Conscience Clear.

"Several decades of recent history may be summarized in these words: Phrases, promises, threats of blackmail, and finally, crowning that ignoble edifice—the league of nations of 52 nations.

"Our conscience is absolutely clear.

"With you, the entire world is witness that the Italy of Fascism has done everything humanly possible to avoid the tempest which envelops Europe, but all in vain.

"It would have sufficed to revise treaties to adapt them to changing requirements vital to nations and not consider them untouchable for eternity.

"It would have sufficed not to begin the stupid policy of guarantees which proved particularly deadly for those who accepted them.

"It would have sufficed not to reject the proposal the Fuehrer [Adolf Hitler] made last Oct. 6 after the campaign in Poland ended.

Mussolini Cites Reasons.

"Now all that belongs to the past.

"If today we have decided to take the risks and sacrifices of war, it is because the honor, interests, and future firmly impose it, since a great people is truly such if it considers its obligations sacred and does not avoid the supreme trials which determine the course of history.

"We are taking up arms, after having solved the problem of our continental frontiers, to solve our maritime frontiers. We want to break the territorial and military chains which confine us in our sea since a people of 45,000,000 souls is not truly free if it has not free access to the ocean.

"This gigantic conflict is only a phase of the logical development of our revolution. It is the conflict of poor, numerous peoples who labor against starvers who ferociously cling to a monopoly of all riches and all gold on earth.

Conflict Between "Two Ideas."

"It is a conflict of fruitful, useful peoples against peoples who are in a decline. It is a conflict between two ages, two ideas.

"Now the die is cast and our will has burned our ships behind us.

"I solemnly declare that Italy does not intend to drag other peoples bordering on her by sea or land into the conflict. Switzerland, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Turkey, and Egypt take note of these words of mine. It depends on them and only on them if these words are rigorously confirmed or not.

"Italians, in a memorable mass-meeting in Berlin, I said that according to the rules of Fascist morals when one has a friend one marches with him to the end.

"This we have done and will continue to do with Germany, its people, and its victorious armed forces.

Salute to Hitler.

"On this eve of an event of import for centuries, we turn our thoughts to his majesty, the king and emperor, who always has understood the thought of the country.

"Lastly, we salute the new Fuehrer, chief of great allied Germany.

"Proletarian, Fascist Italy has arisen for the third time, strong, proud, compact as never before.

"There is only one order. It is categorical and obligatory for every one.

"It already wings over and enflames hearts from the Alps to the Indian ocean: conquer!

"And we will conquer in order, finally, to give a new world of peace with justice to Italy, to Europe, and to the universe.

"Italian people, rush to arms and show your tenacity, your courage, your valor."

AMATEUR RADIO ASKS LESS RIGID SILENCING ORDER

Hartford, Conn., June 10 [Special].—Kenneth B. Warner, secretary of the American Radio Relay league, will appeal to the Federal Communications commission this week for additional exceptions to a recent order prohibiting operation of all amateur radio stations which are portable or mobile.

Warner interprets the commission's order of June 7 as applying to all amateur stations essentially portable or intended as such and all amateur stations on moving vehicles.

Two exceptions already made by the FCC permit operation of stations in the 56 megacycle band and higher and lift all restrictions on June 22 and 23 when the league will conduct its annual field day test of portable stations for use in time of emergency. One exception Warner is especially interested in is for cases where portable permits are issued to cover removal of permanent stations to new addresses.

Moscow Silent as Italy Enters War on Nazi Side

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP).—Italy's declaration of war against Britain and France was announced briefly by the Moscow radio tonight without comment. Official circles were silent on Italy's action.

Norse Fate Awaits War's End

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Following is the text of the proclamation issued here today by the Norwegian government:

"The king and the government now have found it necessary to remove their residence outside their country in order to continue their work there. Thru the brutal invasion which the German government carried out without warning, German forces succeeded in gaining a stronghold in Norway and successively to occupy a greater part of the country.

"The allied governments with which Germany is at war—that is: the British, French, and Polish governments—rendered generous help to Norway, both with men and weapons, and until now it has been possible to conserve part of the country for its legal national government. But the hard necessity of war has forced the allied governments to gather all their strength for the struggle on other fronts and they need all their men and all materials on these fronts.

Unable to Get Supplies.

"Under these conditions it is impossible to continue in this country against a superior power as formidable as Germany. Our defensive forces which fought two months with spirit and courage are without necessary war materials, particularly ammunition and fighter planes, and no longer are able to obtain them. A continued struggle would only lead to complete destruction of those parts of the country which still are free. For in their warfare Germans showed as little regard for the most peaceful towns and villages as for military objectives.

"The high command of defense therefore advised the king and the government temporarily to cease the struggle in Norway, and the king and government found it their duty to follow this advice. They therefore now are leaving the country. But this does not mean they are giving up the fight to regain the independence of Norway. On the contrary, they will continue the fight outside the country. They firmly hope the German invaders soon will be forced to give up their booty and that the Norwegian people, together with other peoples which now are suffering under German domination, will once more regain their rights and liberty.

Remain Free Spokesmen.

"The Norwegian king and government will during this time of struggle be free spokesmen of the Norwegian people's national rights. They will as far as possible maintain Norway's independent life in such way that none of the rights which are due a free nation shall be frustrated.

It will be their task to safeguard the country's and the people's political and legal foundation in order that our fatherland in the hour of victory may stand forward and assert its national liberty.

"The president of the Norwegian storting stands together with the king and government in this struggle. The same applies to commanders of the Norwegian army and navy. And to confirm that the government will be the government for the whole Norwegian people without regard to old party differences, it today has been strengthened by the appointment of new ministers of all parties.

Plead for Courage at Home.

"We appeal to all:

"Hold out in faithfulness towards our dear fatherland.

"We who send this appeal in this hour are compelled to leave Norway's soil; we are decided to stake our life to the end and give all our efforts and everything we possess for Norway.

"Our belief is we will soon be allowed return to a free and independent Norway, and we hope we shall be able to do that with honor. The thought that will help our actions abroad and which we know we have in common with everybody who remains at home is one contained in the words:

"Live for Norway; everything for Norway."

STOCKHOLM, June 10 (AP).—German troops in northern Norway, saved from what appeared to be certain defeat by the withdrawal of allied forces and the resultant capitulation of the Norwegian army, moved back today into the battered Narvik area from which they were driven after a siege of several weeks.

Reports from Norway said the allies, who began their withdrawal in deepest secrecy last Wednesday, left considerable quantities of war materials, altho they rendered much of it useless.

Norwegian troops were ordered to lay down their arms last midnight. King Haakon VII. had secretly left Tromso last Friday for England with the crown prince and the entire Norwegian government.

French Leave on Wednesday.

Press dispatches said the French began leaving their positions Wednesday, and the British began leaving Friday.

From Helsingfors came reports that seven Norwegian army planes landed at Petsamo, far-north Finnish port, and a considerable number of Norwegian soldiers and civilians crossed the Finnish frontier in the Petsamo and Salmijarvi regions. The planes and pilots were interned.

A declaration by the king and the government, read by Foreign Minister Dr. Halvdan Koht in a radio broadcast from Tromso, north of Narvik, stated that the Norwegian storting decided on capitulation on the advice of Gen. Otto Ruge, the commander in chief, and that on June 7 it had been decided that the king and the government should take seat outside the country.

Gen. Ruge Stays Behind.

Gen. Ruge, who was urged to go with the government but stayed behind to negotiate the surrender of his remaining troops to the Germans, issued a statement declaring that Norway, "in spite of the fact that we are not defeated," was abandoning its resistance to save the northern part of the country from "being completely destroyed."

Addressed to "Norwegian men and women," Gen. Ruge's statement said:

"The first phase of the war is over. We are meeting a dark period, but the fight will continue at other fronts where there also are Norwegians."

Once a modern port, Narvik has been reduced to a mass of ruins as the result of bombardment from sea and air, while the Germans themselves, in their retreat toward the Swedish border, have destroyed parts of the railway to Sweden.

According to experts here, there is therefore little or no possibility that Germany could hope to restore her supply of valuable ore shipments via Narvik this summer.

King Arrives in Britain.

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—King Haakon of Norway arrived somewhere in Britain today on a British warship and was received by high admiralty officers. He later boarded a special train for the south.

A ministry of information announcement said: "With the foreknowledge and understanding of his majesty the king of Norway and the Norwegian government the British and French troops have been withdrawn from northern Norway."

DUCE HAS NO REAL EXCUSE FOR WAR, REYNAUD CLAIMS

Pledges to Hitler Given as Sole Reason.

PARIS, June 10 (AP).—The text of Premier Paul Reynaud's radio address tonight:

"We are in the sixth day of the greatest battle in history.

"The conflagration began on the Somme and spread east to the Meuse.

"For six days and five nights our soldiers, our aviators, and the British air force have faced an enemy superior in numbers and in armament. In this war, which is no longer a war of fronts but of support points in depth, our armies have maneuvered in retreat.

"They have abandoned each support point only after inflicting cruel losses on the adversary. The miles gained by the enemy are strewn with tanks destroyed and planes brought down.

"Heads Will Not Be Bowed."

"Despite the success of prestige that they may have won, it remains to be seen what will be the effect of their losses on the outcome of the war.

"In any case nothing will be able to share our will to fight for our soil and for our liberties.

"The trials which await us are severe but we are ready for them. Our heads will not be bowed.

"It is at this precise moment when France, wounded but valiant and upright is fighting against the hegemony of Germany, when she is fighting for the independence of all other peoples as for her own, it is this hour that Mussolini chooses to declare war on us. How shall we judge this act? France has nothing to say. The world which is watching us will judge.

Always Would Negotiate.

"You know what was our effort for an understanding and our long patience with the Italian government. You know that several times I said publicly, after my predecessors, that there are no problems between Italy and us that cannot be settled by friendly negotiations.

"The highest authorities of the world, the pope and President Roosevelt, tried several times to prevent this war, which is a challenge to the Christian idea and to the feeling of human solidarity. In vain.

"Mussolini decided blood must run.

"Under what pretext this declaration of war?

"When this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock our Ambassador Francois-Poncet addressed this question to Count Ciano [Italian foreign minister] the latter replied that Mussolini was only executing engagements he had taken with Hitler.

Strong in Mediterranean.

"The same declaration of war was addressed to England. Hostilities will begin tonight at midnight.

"The word has been passed to force. In the Mediterranean, more than anywhere, the allies are strong.

"France enters this war with a pure conscience and for her that is not a word. The world perhaps will soon know that moral force is also force.

"During her long and glorious history France has traversed the hardest trials. It is then that she has always astonished the world. France cannot die!"

Malta Is Not Surprised by Italy's War Steps

VALETTA, Malta, June 10.—News of Italy's entry into the war on Germany's side caused no surprise here. It was received by the whole population with grave calm.

'WE WILL WIN,' HITLER ASSURES DUCE AND KING

Sends Notes to Rome as Italy Joins War.

BERLIN, June 10 (AP).—Adolf Hitler telegraphed King Victor Emanuel of Italy tonight his conviction that "the tremendous power of Italy and Germany will gain victory over the enemy.

"Providence has willed that we defend the freedom and future of our nations in battle against England and France against our own intentions," Hitler told the king.

In a separate message to Premier Mussolini the Fuehrer said Italy's plunge into the war had moved him profoundly.

Will Secure Rights.

"I am of the firm conviction that the great strength of Italy and Germany will obtain victory over our enemy. The living rights of both our peoples will then be secured for all time," he told the king.

The Fuehrer sent the following message to Mussolini:

"The historical decision which you announced today moved me most deeply. The entire German people thinks of you and your country in this moment. German armed forces are glad to be able to stand in battle at the side of their Italian comrades.

Hails Fighting Unity.

"In September last year the British rulers declared war on the German reich without reason. They rejected every offer of peaceful settlement. Even your intervention proposal, Duce, was answered with a harsh 'No.'

"The rising disrespect for the national living rights of Italy by the rulers in London and Paris has now led us together—we who already were most closely bound in the world outlook thru our revolutions and politically thru treaties—in the great battle for the freedom and future of our nation.

"Duce of Fascist Italy, accept assurance of the indissoluble fighting unity of the German nation with the Italian nation. I myself send you as usual in loyal comradeship most cordial greetings."

JAPAN SILENT ON MANCHUKUO PACT WITH REDS

TOKIO, June 10.—The Japanese government's communique and the foreign office spokesman failed today to give further information concerning the Russian-Japanese settlement of the Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia boundary dispute. Nothing was divulged regarding the location of the new frontier line except that it has been settled on the map and will be marked by permanent boundary posts to be erected soon.

Final ownership of Khalka river, the object of five months of bloody fighting last year, was not disclosed. According to the spokesman, the settlement represents "mutual concessions and compromises."

Altho the agreement covers only a comparatively small area around Nomonhan on the border, it is said to have settled chief questions outstanding between Japan and Russia.

Reports Navy Plans Test of an Amphibian Tractor

Clearwater, Fla., June 10 (AP).—Indication that the United States navy plans to experiment with an amphibian tractor was given today. Donald Roebling, builder of a machine which he says can be handled with equal ease on land or water, said the navy had ordered one "for experimental purposes." He described the tractor, originally designed for rescue work in flooded areas and for travel thru thick underbrush, swamps, deep water channels, and other regions ordinarily inaccessible, as "more seaworthy than a normal boat of comparable size."

IL DUCE ACCUSED OF STABBING OLD FRIEND IN BACK

Duff Cooper Calls His Act That of a Murderer.

LONDON, June 10 (AP) [via Radio].—Alfred Duff Cooper, Great Britain's minister of information, tonight declared Premier Mussolini, "the opportunist," had stabbed an old friend in the back by declaring war on France.

He said Italy had aligned itself with an hereditary enemy in a war against an hereditary friend.

Predicts Their Defeat.

"Whatever temporary successes they may achieve in the early days of the war," he said, "they will be defeated in the end."

Should Germany win the war, he said, Italy's fate would be even worse than in the event of an allied victory.

"But we have no need to fear such an eventuality," he asserted, expressing confidence that the axis partners would be defeated.

"No war," he said, "has ever been declared with such little provocation."

Calls It Act of a Murderer.

"This indeed is the criminal act of a common murderer.

"Murderers very often succeed in the first instance, . . . but the end of murderers is always painful.

"We know the Italians of old," he said, "and we know that, whatever other qualities they may possess, we can defeat them on the field of battle.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill is expected to make a public statement in the house of commons tomorrow on Italy's entry into the war.

American Hospital Sends Patients Away from Paris

PARIS, June 10 (AP).—Civilian patients of the American hospital in the Paris suburb of Neuilly have been sent to an emergency hospital in the center of France, and military patients were also removed. The famous American library of Paris already has been moved to the same central France city. The American embassy expects to stay in Paris, but some of the staff was moving out today.

CANADA DEFENSE CHIEF IS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., June 10.—Norman Rogers, Canadian defense minister, was killed today when an army plane crashed as he was flying here from Ottawa to urge that Canada go "all out" in its war effort. Three other men in the plane with him also were killed. Rogers was flying to make an address before the Canadian and Empire clubs.

Norman Rogers.

The plane fell near Bowmanville, about 40 miles east of Toronto, and burst into flames. The other victims, a civilian and two army crew members, were not immediately identified.

A protégé and former secretary of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, Rogers was minister of labor from 1935 until last autumn when he became defense minister. It was assumed in Liberal party circles that Mackenzie King was grooming Rogers for his post as prime minister.

Born in Amherst, N. S., July 25, 1894 Rogers served overseas in the world war with the Canadian Mounted Rifles. In 1919 he was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford university and then was a professor at Arcadia and Queen's universities before joining the government.

ITALIANS, AT WAR AGAIN, FACE NEW FOE ON LONG LINE

Better Fitted for Blitz Idea than Endurance.

Italy, now at war with the allies, shares with one of her enemies—France—a common frontier of approximately 280 miles defended by the "Littorio line" of fortifications which have been strengthened in recent months.

This frontier is extremely mountainous, a fact which has caused Italy to train large numbers of her troops especially for mountain warfare.

Three railways and six international highways cross the French-Italian border.

Beyond the "Littorio line" from Italy lies the French city of Nice and the territory of Savoy, for which the Italians repeatedly have shouted demands.

Savoy Once a Duchy.

Savoy formerly was a duchy lying between Italy and France. Subsequently it became a part of the kingdom of Sardinia and in 1860 Savoy and Nice were ceded by Victor Emanuel II., founder of modern Italy, to France. Victor Emanuel II. was the grandfather of the present Italian monarch.

The Italians also have made demands on France for Corsica—scene of Napoleon Bonaparte's birthplace—and Tunisia.

Germany's anschluss with Austria gave the axis partners a common frontier of approximately 210 miles, running thru rugged Alpine territory. Three railways and five highways provide the means of military communication.

Italy also has common frontiers with Switzerland and Jugo-Slavia—a matter of about 370 and 140 miles, respectively.

Suited for Short War.

By the nature of her geographical position and resources for war, Italy's greatest value as a blitzkrieg partner of Germany is bound up with the blitzkrieg idea itself—the idea of the swift, paralyzing blow rather than the battle of endurance.

The Italian boot dangles into the sea—"our sea," the Italians call it—with the Mediterranean on one side and the Adriatic on the other.

At the knee it hinges into the most mountainous section of the European continent. Unless Italy could smash her way into France, French mountain troops and border forces in the Nice region might amputate the boot while the allied Mediterranean fleets cut the tenuous lifelines from the Italian African empire.

The Mediterranean may be "our sea" to the Italians, but the French and British battle fleets have a pretty secure lease on it, confronted only by Italy's power in the air, Italy's relatively small fleet and the incipient threat of an assault on the Suez canal and Gibraltar to bottle up the allies' navy.

Can Muster 9,000,000 Men.

Premier Mussolini said on March 30, 1938, he could muster 9,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 55, of whom 5,000,000 would be first line combatants. Many of these would be deployed thru the empire, however, not all on the European front.

Italy has 8,000 warplanes, by authoritative estimate, of which 2,160 are of first line caliber, and about 1,000,000 tons of naval strength.

Shortly before the war Italy's naval strength was estimated at 717,920 tons, as compared with 2,079,863 for Great Britain and 755,370 for France. Italy has concentrated heavily on submarines and motor torpedo boats. It is estimated she has 180 submarines and more than 120 torpedo boats.

Reverses War Position.

Twenty-five years ago last month, Italy startled the world by denouncing the triple alliance with Germany and Austria-Hungary and throwing her fortunes with Britain and France. An equally startling disclosure was made later that she had signed a secret pact in London on April 26, 1915. On May 23, Italy formally declared war on Austria, but the declaration against Germany did not come until Aug. 28, 1916.

When the world war broke out, Italy openly coöperated with Great Britain in trying to avert it. She was incensed because she was not consulted by Germany and Austria-Hungary on the Serbian ultimatum.

Also, the kingdom of Italy was not complete as Austria-Hungary still controlled many thousands of Italians in the Trentino and Trieste—"unredeemed Italy."

Highest Casualty List.

Out of 42 months of fighting Italy emerged with a casualty list higher, proportionately, than the losses of the British empire; a staggering war debt of $16,000,000,000, severe privation among her people that led to internal disorders, intense disappointment over her share of "promised" territory by the terms of the Versailles treaty, a succession of governmental crises and, finally, the march on Rome by the Blackshirts and the ascendancy of Benito Mussolini.

Italy mobilized 5,615,000 men. More than 650,000 were killed or died from wounds and disease; 947,000 were wounded, of whom 220,000 were permanently disabled; 600,000 were taken prisoner or reported missing.

Suffered Rout.

At the start of hostilities she had 23 battleships, nine light cruisers and scouts, 93 torpedo boats and 21 submarines. She lost five battleships, one scout, eight destroyers, six torpedo boats, eight submarines and auxiliary vessels.

The army was not so well prepared then as now. Early in the war the Italians scored initial, but not decisive, successes against the Austrians. When the Germans came to the aid of the Austrians, after the collapse of Russia, the center of the Italian army was broken in a surprise attack, preceded by four hours of gas shelling, and the disastrous rout of Caporetto resulted.

But the Italians made a remarkable rally on the Piave river and stemmed the tide of defeat, to be followed, in the closing days of the war by the decisive victory at Vittorio Veneto, when the Austrian army was annihilated.

not downed," Reynaud declared. "There never has been any time during the past when France has not been ready to negotiate peacefully to settle all differences in question. Italy has not seen fit to negotiate."

Reynaud asserted the only excuse Mussolini offered for entering the war was that he was fulfilling his "axis obligations" to Hitler.

The battle against the Germans, which had been waged heretofore on familiar world war territory for the most part, swung into virgin soil as the Germans advanced west of Paris.

"Somewhere in France."

The French high command communique, which was filed from Paris, but was issued "somewhere in France," stated that in the triangle bounded by Amiens on the Somme, Rouen, 70 miles west of Paris on the Seine, and Vernon, 40 miles west on the Seine, the Germans redoubled their attacks, crossing the river at several points. An armored column which crossed the Bresle river last week, led the assault.

In the other principal area of combat, east of the Oise river, German columns coming down from the region of Soissons have resumed their attack toward the Ourcq river. The Ourcq at one point is about 12 miles north of the Marne river.

Strike South of Soissons.

"To the east of the Oise, enemy columns which had flowed yesterday afternoon from the region of Soissons resumed in the morning their attack toward the Ourcq river, from La Ferte Milon and from Fere en Tardenois," the communique said.

"Other units have attacked at the same time by the valley of the Vesle in the direction of Fismes."

They were just north of Château-Thierry and the Marne, where they were stopped in their 1918 thrust by Americans fighting with the French.

"In Champagne the enemy resumed at dawn his offensive on both sides of Rethel with new divisions supported by detachments of tanks and squadrons of bombardment," the high command stated.

"Despite all his efforts he has succeeded only in extending the bridge head that he had created the day before in pushing up to La Retournes.

Fighting in the Argonne.

"To the east of the Aisne from Attigny he extended his attacks at all openings north of the Argonne up to Themeuse from Beaumont. Everywhere our troops have opposed to the enemy the most energetic resistance in defending foot by foot and in counterattacking.

"Numerous aerial reconnaissances have been effected on the front and rear, in particular Namur and Donauechingen have been flown over.

"Convoys have been bombarded by our aviation at Forges les Eaux, Soissons, and Pontavert. Our pursuit planes in the course of covering missions have won important victories. A pursuit group under orders of Commandant Thibaudet has particularly distinguished itself by bringing down in one single sortie 12 enemy planes. All our planes which participated in these combats have returned without showing a trace of a single bullet."

ARTILLERY DUELS AS SWISS WATCH IN NIGHTCLOTHES

Climb Houses; See Flashes and Fires.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, June 11, Tuesday.—The population of Basel, many of them clad in nightclothes, and perched atop houses, had another glimpse of war at 12:30 o'clock this morning. French artillery blasted at German lines, and the Nazis replied.

Soon after the opening shots the sky was lighted up in German territory to the north by a fire started by the bursting shells. The opening barrage lasted about 10 minutes.

Second Fire Started.

At 2 a.m. the guns renewed their duel, after a lull of about 45 minutes. There was another burst of shelling at 2:30 a.m., and another fire was seen near Kandern, on the German side. The blaze seemed about what a 10 room house would produce. Mixed with the flames and the flashes of cannon were flashes of lightning, creating a ghastly show for the Swiss.

Cut Off from World Supplies.

With the entry of Italy into the war, completely shutting Switzerland off from the world, sober minded individuals are more concerned with the future supply of necessities than they are with the roar of cannon.

The Swiss have many friends in Germany, France, and Italy, and the fact that their friends and neighbors are killing one another saddens them.

564 Aliens to Receive Americanism Citations

Harold A. Taylor post, No. 47, of the American Legion will present an Americanism citation to 564 aliens to morrow at the Dante school, 814 South Desplaines street, where they have been studying Americanism. The group comprises 264 adults who came to the United States during the last year, and 300 children, some of whom arrived in this country only two months ago. Charles Thies is commander of the post.

ROOSEVELT RIPS ITALY; PLEDGES HELP TO ALLIES

Reveals Efforts to Keep Il Duce from War.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., June 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt's address today at graduation exercises of the University of Virginia follows:

"Every generation of young men and women in America has questions to ask the world. Most of the time they are the simple but nevertheless difficult questions of work to do, opportunities to find, ambitions to satisfy.

"But every now and again in the history of the republic a different kind of question presents itself—a question which asks, not about the future of an individual or even of a generation, but about the future of the country, the future of the American people.

"There was such a time at the beginning of our history as a nation. Young people asked themselves in those days what lay ahead, not for themselves, but for the new United States.

"There was such a time again in the seemingly endless years of the war between the states. Young men and young women on both sides of the line asked themselves, not what trades or professions they would enter, what lives they would make, but what was to become of the country they had known.

Faced for Third Time.

"There is such a time again today. Again today the young men and the young women of America ask themselves with earnestness and with deep concern this same question: 'What is to become of the country we know?'

"Now they ask it with even greater anxiety than before. They ask, not only what the future holds for this republic, but what the future holds for all peoples and all nations that have been living under democratic forms of government—under the free institutions of a free people.

"It is understandable that they should ask this question. They read the words of those who are telling them that the ideal of individual liberty, the ideal of free franchise, the ideal of peace thru justice is a decadent ideal.

"They read the word and hear the boast of those who say that a belief in force—force directed by self-chosen leaders—is the new and vigorous system which will overrun the earth. They have seen the ascendancy of this philosophy of force in country after country where free institutions and individual liberties were once maintained.

Face Philosophy of Force.

"It is natural and understandable, therefore, that the younger generation should first ask itself what the extension of the philosophy of force to all the world would lead to ultimately. We see today in stark reality some of the consequences of the machine age.

"Where control of machines has been retained in the hands of mankind as a whole, untold benefits have accrued to mankind. For mankind was then the master; the machine was the servant.

"But, in this new system of force the mastery of the machine is not in the hands of mankind. It is in the control of infinitely small groups of individuals who rule without a single one of the democratic sanctions.

"The machine in the hands of irresponsible conquerors becomes the master; mankind is not only the servant but the victim. Such mastery abandons with deliberate contempt all of the moral values to which even this young continent for more than 300 years has been accustomed and dedicated.

Cannot Be Indifferent.

"Surely the new philosophy proves from month to month that it could have no concept of the way of life or the way of thought of a nation whose origins go back to Jamestown and Plymouth rock.

"Conversely, neither those who spring from that stock nor those who have come hither in later years can be indifferent to the destruction of freedom in their ancestral lands across the sea.

"Perception of danger to our institutions may come slowly or it may come with a rush and shock as it has to the people of the United States in the last few months. This perception of danger has come to us clearly and overwhelmingly; and we perceive the peril in a world-wide arena—an arena which may become so narrowed that only the Americas would retain the ancient faiths.

"Some indeed still hold to the now obvious delusion that we of the United States can safely permit the United States to become a lone island in a world dominated by the philosophy of force.

"Such an island may be the dream of those who still talk and vote as isolationists. Such an island represents to me and to the overwhelming majority of Americans today a helpless nightmare of a people without freedom, a people lodged in prison, handcuffed, hungry, and fed thru the bars from day to day by the contemptuous, unpitying masters of other continents.

Means of Prevention.

"It is natural also that we should ask ourselves how now we can prevent the building of that prison and the placing of ourselves in the midst of it.

"Let us not hesitate—all of us—to proclaim certain truths. Overwhelmingly we, as a nation, and this applies to all the other American nations, are convinced that military and naval victory for the gods of force and hate would endanger the institutions of democracy in the western world—and that equally, therefore, the whole of our sympathies lie with those nations which are giving their lifeblood in combat against those forces.

"The people and government of the United States have seen with the utmost regret and with grave disquiet the decision of the Italian government to engage in the hostilities now raging in Europe.

More than three months ago the chief of the Italian government sent me word that because of the determination of Italy to limit, so far as might be possible, the spread of the European conflict, more than 200 millions of people in the region of the Mediterranean had been enabled to escape the suffering and the devastation of war.

Warns of War's Extension.

"I informed the chief of the Italian government that this desire on the part of Italy to prevent the war from spreading met with sympathy and response on the part of the government and the people of the United States, and I expressed the earnest hope of this government that this policy on the part of Italy might be continued. I made it clear that in the opinion of the government of the United States any extension of the hostilities in the region of the Mediterranean might result in a still greater enlargement of the scene of the conflict in the near east and in Africa and that if this came to pass no one could foretell how much greater the extension of the war might eventually become.

"Again upon a subsequent occasion, recognizing that certain aspirations of Italy might form the basis of discussions between the powers most specifically concerned, I offered, in a message addressed to the chief of the Italian government, to send to the governments of France and of Great Britain such specific indications of the desires of Italy to obtain readjustments with regard to her position as the chief of the Italian government might desire to transmit thru me.

Offers to Get Assurances.

"While making it clear that the government of the United States in such event could not and would not assume responsibility for the nature of the proposals submitted nor for agreements which might thereafter be reached, I proposed that if Italy would refrain from entering the war I would be willing to ask assurances from the other powers concerned that they would faithfully execute any agreement so reached and that Italy's voice in any future peace conference would have the same authority as if Italy had actually taken part in the war as a belligerent.

"Unfortunately, the chief of the Italian government was unwilling to accept the procedure suggested.

"The efforts of this government have been directed to doing what it could to work for the preservation of peace in the Mediterranean area, and it likewise expressed its willingness to endeavor to coöperate with the government of Italy when the appropriate occasion arose for the creation of a stable world order, thru the reduction of armaments, and thru the construction of a more liberal international economic system which would assure to all powers equality of opportunity in the world's markets and in the securing of raw materials on equal terms.

Express Concern of Americas.

"I have likewise, of course, felt it necessary in my communications to Signor Mussolini to express the concern of the government of the United States because of the fact that any extension of the war in the region of the Mediterranean would inevitably result in great prejudice to the ways of life and government and to the trade and commerce of all of the American republics.

"The government of Italy has now chosen to preserve what it terms its 'freedom of action' and to fulfill what it states are its promises to Germany. In so doing it has manifested disregard for the rights and security of other nations, for the lives of the peoples of those nations which are directly threatened by this spread of the war; and has evidenced its unwillingness to find the means thru pacific negotiations for the satisfaction of what it believes are its legitimate aspirations.

"On this 10th day of June, 1940, the hand that held the dagger has struck it in the back of its neighbor.

"On this 10th day of June, 1940, in this university founded by the first great American teacher of democracy, we send forth our prayers and our hopes to those beyond the seas who are maintaining with magnificent valor their battle for freedom.

Will Give Aid to Allies.

"In our American unity, we will pursue two obvious and simultaneous courses: we will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this nation and, at the same time, we will harness and speed up the use of those resources in order that we ourselves in the Americas may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense.

"All roads leading to the accomplishment of these objectives must be kept clear of obstructions. We will not slow down or detour. Signs and signals call for speed—full speed ahead.

"It is right that each new generation should ask questions. But in recent months the principal question has been greatly simplified. Once more the future of the nation and of the American people is at stake.

Love of Freedom Steady.

"We need not and we will not, in any way, abandon our continuing effort to make democracy work within our own borders. We still insist on the need for vast improvements in our own social and economic life.

"But that is a component part of national defense itself.

"The program unfolds swiftly and into it will fit the responsibility and the opportunity of every man and woman to preserve our heritage in days of peril.

"I call for effort, courage, sacrifice, devotion. Granting the love of freedom, all of these are possible.

"And the love of freedom is still fierce and steady in the nation today."

U. S. NOW NEARER WAR THAN WHEN LUSITANIA SANK, SAYS LA GUARDIA

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10 (AP).—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York said tonight that the United States is nearer the verge of declaring war on Germany today than she was the day the Lusitania was sunk in the world war.

Referring to the speech of President Roosevelt at Charlottesville, Va., the mayor declared, "The President was magnificent. He went as far as he could in his speech short of actually declaring war."

The mayor came here to address the third annual convention of Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities tomorrow.

"I was wondering how far I could go in my speech tomorrow. Now I will be able to open my mouth and say just what I want to," he said.

Earlier today, in a radio broadcast at New York, La Guardia exhorted all persons of Italian extraction to maintain complete neutrality toward the European war.

The mayor warned that no demonstrations would be permitted in the vicinity of foreign consulates.

Holds Up a Hamburger Shop on His Third Visit

Three times last night a young man entered the hamburger shop at 4815 Chicago avenue. The first time he had coffee and doughnuts. The second time he took only coffee. But the third time, with the aid of a gun, he took $140 and $70 worth of cigarets from Howard Kelley, the clerk. Kelley later told police he sort of suspected the man on his third visit.

NEUTRALITY LAW EXTENDED BY U. S. TO ITALIAN ZONE

Series of Proclamations Signed by Roosevelt.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10 [Special].—The American neutrality act was extended to the Italian theater of war tonight.

President Roosevelt signed three proclamations and issued an executive order to enforce the neutrality act's provisions. He did not, however, order any extension of the "combat zone" from which American vessels would be barred.

The first proclamation set forth the neutrality of the United States in war between Italy, on the one hand, and France and the United Kingdom on the other.

Another declared a state of war to exist between Italy on the one hand and France and the United Kingdom on the other. This automatically extended the neutrality act to this conflict.

The third proclamation dealt with the use of ports and territorial waters of the United States by warships and armed merchant vessels of the belligerents.

Three Regulations Included.

The executive order was issued under the first proclamation and contained three regulations.

The first dealt with exceptions to the "cash and carry" policy which will henceforth apply to United States exports to Italy.

The second forbade United States citizens to travel on Italian ships.

The third imposed restrictions upon the solicitation and collection of contributions for Italy in this country.

The orders were signed by President Roosevelt late tonight upon his return from Charlottesville, Va. The proclamations were written in technical language as amendments to similar proclamations issued at the start of the war between Germany and France and England.

Variety of Comment.

Official comment on the Italian declaration of war was varied. Secretary Hull said he had had sufficient time "merely to formulate the opinion that the spread of the war to Italy constitutes a great human tragedy."

"I think it's horrible," said Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.].

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] said "It is deplorable, but I don't see anything we can do about it."

"Mussolini's action is that of a hungry landgrabber in the hour of the distress and weakness of its owners," said Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.].

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, said that Italy's entrance into the war "will accelerate our efforts to aid the allies." But he added that "the American people don't desire to enter the war even if the government enters it."

Representative Jed Johnson [D., Okla.] declared in the house that "America is now in peril."

Representative Shafer's Stand.

He was followed by Representative Paul W. Shafer [R., Mich.], a member of the military affairs committee, who asserted that "whether we like it or not, the United States is in this war. If sending army and navy planes and munitions to the allies does not constitute participation, then words and deeds have lost their meaning."

Senator B. K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said:

"This demand on the part of some that we declare war immediately is surely a result of a lack of understanding of the true situation. To declare war immediately and send American boys across the water unprepared would simply mean that they would be slaughtered. Those who say we should declare war but not send our boys abroad are in an equally untenable position."

DOCUMENTS BURNED IN ITALIAN EMBASSY, CHIMNEY INDICATES

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Smoke rising from the Italian embassy chimney indicated today the possibility that papers and documents were being burned.

No smoke appeared from other chimneys in the neighborhood, sweltering in June heat.

Two policemen stood in front of the embassy and one at the back.

Every window was lighted and unusual activity was evident inside.

At the United States embassy next door, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy held an important staff conference at 5 p. m.

LET THOSE WHO URGE WAR JOIN THE ALLIES: HOLT

Senator Raps Policy of Nonbelligerency.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] said in a radio address tonight that "any man who advocates our entrance into this war and who does not enlist in the cause of the allies is a cowardly traitor to his country."

"If the danger is what they say and the cause is what they preach, they should have the courage to offer their lives to the machines of death, rather than sitting back asking the sacrifice of the young fellows who want none of this war," Holt said.

The young West Virginia senator included President Roosevelt and other administration officials among the "fifth column war mongers" who, he said, are seeking to plunge the country into war by subterfuge, thru the back door.

Holt Raps Nonbelligerency.

"I shall talk plainly," Holt said. "It is no time to dodge when persons are being shoved to their death. It is no time to be nice to those who are directing our country to the precipice of our destruction. The President has said privately that this country is nonbelligerent. We should be a neutral. Nonbelligerency means in the war part way as an ally, but all history will prove that nonbelligerency finally and ultimately means war all of the way."

Holt accused the President of withholding from congress and the people information of vital importance to their peace and security in spite of his recent radio statement that, "your government has no information which it has any thought of withholding from you."

Asks About Clark Inquiry.

"Why has the investigation of foreign propaganda by a senate committee been held up under administration pressure since last fall?" Holt asked, referring to a resolution by Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.]. "When I attacked these termites who are boring from within, some, yes many, who are now generating hysteria by talking about fifth columnists were defending these influences.

"We have been told that we are woefully unprepared, yet these same individuals want us to dispose of the very implements necessary for preparedness here.

Strong Defense Will Protect Us.

"A strong national defense will protect us here, but it will not keep us out of foreign wars if we allow ourselves to go there. Let us defend the Monroe Doctrine, which says 'no' to foreign invasion of the American hemisphere and which also says 'no' to our involvement in the affairs of Europe."

Holt asked his listeners to inquire into the motives and interests of "the fifth column interventionists," among whom he included "financially involved newspapers," "controled radio commentators," "jingoistic government officials," "paid columnists," and "the active interventionists who have large financial holdings in Europe."

BARKLEY PLEADS WITH SENATE TO SPEED DEFENSES

Reflects Roosevelt's Wish for Adjournment.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky complained in the senate today that too many war and antiwar speeches are delaying congressional enactment of the 4½ billion dollar national defense program.

Barkley's statement to the senate was made in response to a swelling chorus of demands that congress remain in session and perform its constitutional functions as long as there is danger of American involvement in the European war. He had just returned from the White House and his appeal to the senate reflected President Roosevelt's well known anxiety for congress to approve the defense program and relief and tax legislation and adjourn by the end of next week.

Army Increase Approved.

Developments in the national defense program included:

1. The house military affairs committee unanimously reported a bill increasing the authorized strength of the regular army from 280,000 to 400,000, as recommended by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

2. The house military affairs committee approved, by a 16 to 8 vote, a resolution authorizing the President to call the national guard and the army and navy reserves into active service during the recess of congress. This action was taken after the committee had rejected, by a 14 to 10 vote, an amendment authorizing the President to send the national guard anywhere in the western hemisphere. As approved by the committee, the resolution would not permit the President to send the guard anywhere beyond the continental limits of the United States, its outlying possessions, and the Panama Canal Zone.

Naval Expansions Voted.

3. The senate approved and sent to the house a conference agreement on a bill authorizing an 11 per cent increase in the combat strength of the navy, at a cost of 655 million dollars.

4. The senate approved and sent to the house a conference agreement on a bill authorizing a 2¼ billion dollar expansion of naval aviation and its ground facilities. This program, which will require from 3 to 5 years to complete, provides for a maximum of 10,000 naval airplanes, 16,000 naval aviators, and 20 naval air bases in the United States and its outlying possessions.

5. The house approved and sent to the senate the conference report on the 1 billion 822 million dollar war department appropriation bill, which includes funds to increase the actual strength of the regular army to 280,000 men, for critical items of equipment to supply an army of 1,000,000 men, and for 2,566 airplanes, of which 2,200 will be training craft.

Supplemental Bill Prepared.

6. The house appropriations committee prepared to report tomorrow a bill providing supplemental appropriations of 1 billion 227 million dollars for the army and navy, as requested by President Roosevelt.

Majority Leader Barkley told the senate that President Roosevelt's national defense advisory commission "is now waiting in part the performance of its duties and the carrying out of its functions until congress passes some of this legislation."

Barkley urged senators "not to interfere unduly with the consideration of measures which are important by speeches which have no particular reference to the bill under consideration."

"Regardless of any adjournment or regardless of any maneuvers, political or otherwise, for or against adjournment, it is more important that the senate get down to business and pass the legislation which is so essential than it is for us to talk about adjournment," Barkley said. "I am perfectly willing if you want to indulge in war or anti-war speeches to have night sessions in order that senators may dispose of such problems as are on their bosoms."

Lee Takes Up Pepper Plea.

Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.] made Italy's entrance into the European war the occasion of an exhibition of demagogery in his best camp meeting oratorical style. Lee took up where Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] left off last week, demanding that we send Great Britain and France "all we've got—not men—but all the machines we've got to save America from total war."

If Hitler defeats the allies this summer, Lee said, "he'll invade the United States before snow flies." The Oklahoma New Dealer urged that Great Britain, France, and the United States "pool their resources to present an invincible front against totalitarian aggression."

Pepper followed Lee with another appeal for congress to "unloose the shackles from the mighty arm of President Roosevelt" so that all possible assistance "short of war" can be given to the allies. He charged that both Hitler and Mussolini are at war against the United States because it possesses most of the world's gold.

"How long will it be before the congress catches up with an aroused country?" Pepper shouted.

Eastern Tourists Applaud.

The Lee and Pepper speeches were loudly applauded by spectators in the galleries, most of whom were tourists from the eastern seaboard states, where interventionist sentiment is strong.

Today's speech making deferred an expected senate controversy over President Roosevelt's action in releasing army and navy airplanes and other war supplies for resale to the allies.

This issue will be raised when the senate considers an amendment by Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee, to a pending bill relaxing various legal restrictions affecting the war department's armaments procurement program.

Seeks Surplus Exchange.

The Sheppard amendment, drafted by the army's general staff at the request of the President, authorizes the secretary of war to exchange so-called surplus or obsolescent guns and ammunition to manufacturers for credit on new war materials. The purpose of the amendment is to make available to Great Britain and France the army's world war stocks of 75 mm. guns, Lee-Enfield rifles, ammunition, and other war supplies.

Naval airplanes are being traded in for future deliveries of new planes, and made available for resale to the allies, under a 1921 statute. In this manner a total of approximately 1,000 army and navy planes are expected to be made available to the allies in the next few weeks, and there are reports that a considerable number of destroyers will be designated as surplus and released to Great Britain.

Berlin Cheers Italian Ambassador

CORSICANS SING THEIR LOYALTY TO FRANCE AS ITALY DECLARES WAR

LONDON, June 11 [Tuesday] (AP).—A Reuters [British] news agency dispatch from Ajaccio, Corsica, today said Italy's war declaration had precipitated impressive patriotic demonstrations on behalf of the allies on that Mediterranean island.

Huge crowds marched thru the streets, singing the Marseillaise.

JAP PLANES RAID CHUNGKING; 100 HOUSES BLASTED

CHUNGKING, China, June 10 (AP).—The interiors of the French and German embassies were damaged today when 36 Japanese planes dropped bombs on the new residential district of Chungking, destroying or badly damaging about a hundred houses and causing about 50 casualties.

The alarm lasted four hours. The embassies suffered when bombs fell nearby.

A small bomb hit the house of Andrew Bassi of Chicago, and others fell nearby. Bassi was unhurt.

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—Maj. Gen. George Grunert, who entered the army as an enlisted man during the war with Spain, has been assigned to command all United States troops in the Philippine Islands.

Gen. Grunert succeeds Maj. Gen. Walter S. Grant, who has been assigned to the Third corps area with headquarters at Baltimore, Md.

Until his present assignment to command the Philippine department, Gen. Grunert was in command of the Philippine division. He served in the Philippines for two years during the Philippine insurrecton. For world war servce he was awarded the distinguished service medal, the Purple Heart, and the decoration of the French Legion of Honor.

U.S. STRATEGISTS STUDY LESSONS OF EUROPE'S WAR

Revise Defense Plans to Cope with Parachutes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Military experts today expressed keen interest in the Tribune's cables on military strategy employed by the Nazis and the allies, using the stories of Tribune correspondents to corroborate their information on the latest war developments.

The effective use of parachute troops and clever employment of camouflage by the Nazis, as described by Guy Murchie from London and by E. R. Noderer from Berlin in the Tribune yesterday, attracted particular attention. The army intelligence service has been collecting all possible data on developments in the war zone. Military attachés stationed abroad also are active in forwarding the latest information on the surprise tactics employed on Europe's battleground.

Parachute troops will cause the United States army to make slight variations in the defenses of the Hawaiian Islands, as well as other areas, experts said.

Rear Must Be Guarded.

Use of specialized parachute troops, as described by Murchie, will call for deploying the defense forces to cover rear areas, which in the past were considered protected simply because they were behind the line of action. This does not necessarily mean that more troops will be necessary, but rather a better distribution of present forces, they said.

This would call for increased use of camouflage to conceal defense positions against aerial warfare.

Military information is that the Germans not only have used underground airdromes, but also have put manufacturing plants underground. Some manufacturing activities in Germany are camouflaged in deep woods.

The Germans, according to information here, have made a point of distributing vital war industries over wide areas, as an added precaution against destruction from the air.

Speed Overwhelms Allies.

Commenting upon reports that the allies have not concealed their positions from air attack, experts here said the speed of the German attack has given the allies little time to prepare camouflages or even to dig in, leaving them subject to open field attack. American troops are drilled in digging in whenever there is a lull in the fighting.

Photographs of the recent third army maneuvers in Louisiana gave an illustration of effective camouflaging. Two painted logs were set up to represent howitzers and furnished an illusion of that sort from the air. The real howitzers were concealed by trees and other foliage.

The use of branches and other greens for camouflage was used extensively by the American Indians, it was recalled.

SPAIN BARES NO SIGN OF MOVE TO QUIT NEUTRALITY

Excited Over News of Italy's Blow.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, June 10.—Armed and vigilant Spain today learned that her friend, Italy, had entered the war. There was tense and ominous excitement but no apparent change in the policy of neutrality laid down by Spain last September.

The Madrid press this evening carried on its front pages the text of Premier Benito Mussolini's speech and the news that the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, had handed declarations of war to the French and British ambassadors. It quoted statements by the Italian press but refrained from making any editorial comment itself.

No War Move Indicated.

There was no official indication that Spain is making any special military or other preparations to defend its neutrality or for any other purpose.

The leisurely pace of Madrid life was shattered by the news of Italy's action. Crowds snatched newspapers as soon as newsboys scurried into the streets, then read them aloud to groups on street corners and in cafés.

For the Spaniard the dreaded moment has arrived when the theater of war has been moved into his own back yard. If the 11th hour has not struck for Spain he feels it may prove to be close. That the entrance of Italy into the war puts the gravest strain on Spanish isolationism is admitted.

Spain's Sphere Involved.

More important is the fact that Mussolini's action has brought the war into the Mediterranean and Africa, in other words, to the region where Spain lives and looks for its future. Even if Spain does not take the initiative, dangerous spots will exist in the war zone until the end of the conflict.

Spaniards have been saying for months that the complications of a hard fought war would mean that Spain, if Italy went to war, would have to follow.

Of the two most important military bases in the western Mediterranean, Gibraltar and the Balearic Islands, Spain owns the latter and controls the area necessary for a successful attack on the other. The importance to the allies and to Italy of these two key points is feared likely to cause trouble.

British Colony Gets News.

News of Italy's move was announced to the British colony by Ambassador Sir Samuel Hoare at a reception given for him by the British-American club. The envoy urged Britons here to combat a defeatist spirit and asserted that the empires would fight to the end.

The British embassy began the strictest supervision of members of the British colony. Those who have business at the embassy were given identification cards and told that they would not be admitted without them.

URGES MACHINES MORE THAN MEN FOR U. S. DEFENSE

25 Mechanized Divisions Demanded in House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Many superannuated officers in the army cling to the obsolete military theory that man-power can overcome mechanized equipment, Representative Ross A. Collins [D., Miss.] of the military appropriations subcommittee told the house today.

A dominating element in the war department, usually the older men, think of military strength almost wholly in terms of men, oblivious to developments in the European war, Collins declared.

"This devotion to the god of man-power puts a premium on age," he said. "It makes it possible for the elderly majors and colonels to get along in the service.

"However well intentioned are these persons who are advocating universal military training, their preachments would deny security to this land. They want us to copy the practices of the losers in this war.

Lauds Use of Machines.

"So much as I dislike Hitler and his philosophy of government, he has put machinery into warfare and it is machinery that is gaining ground on the western front.

"Military plans depending upon mere numbers of men are so much nonsense. All that could be done with large numbers of mobilized men would be to arm a few of them with out-of-date rifles.

"Up to now the desire of the war department has been for men and still more men. Let us pray that those in charge today begin to plan to fight according to the 1940 model."

The present army, Collins noted, is an organization of considerable proportions. The regular army, National Guard, R. O. T. C., reserve officers, and other training groups provide a total of more than 988,000 officers and men.

25 Mechanized Divisions.

"We should aim at nothing less than 25 mechanized divisions of about 9,000 men to the division," he told members. "In the air we must have large, heavy bombing units, medium and light bombers, and pursuit planes of the interceptor type, designed for action against enemy planes of all types, but particularly against bombers.

"In my opinion the greatest balanced air program which can reasonably be hoped for in this country would be one calling for a doubling of the present program in the next 18 months—10,000 to 20,000 combat airplanes with pilots and equipment to make them available for action.

"We must quit letting outmoded army and navy officers induce us to sink defense money in antiquated army and navy equipment. The pay-off will come to us, as it has come to others, if we base our preparation upon sling-shot ideas and upon the theory of mere numbers."

British M. P. Gets Divorce Decree; Wife an American

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—The divorce tribunal granted a decree nisi today to Capt. H. D. R. Margesson, chief government whip in the house of commons since 1931, on the grounds that his wife deserted him. She is the former Frances Leggett, daughter of the late Francis H. Leggett of New York.

BRITONS ORDERED TO CUT DOWN ON THEIR USE OF TEA

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Britons, already heavily taxed and rationed on many foodstuffs, were called upon today to economize on tea, one of their most-loved items. Their weekly bacon ration of eight ounces was cut in half.

The public was assured that enough grain is available and in prospect to keep the nation supplied with white bread.

It was said Canadian supplies of bacon were not sufficient to replace those formerly received from Danish and Dutch markets.

BILLION DOLLAR TAX BILL GOES TO HOUSE TODAY

Demands Heard in Senate for Even More.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—As the house rules committee today cleared the way for speedy passage of the new billion dollar a year tax bill, new demands were heard in the senate for even heavier taxes to pay for the national defense.

The tax measure, adding 1 billion 4 million dollars to the revenues of the nation by increasing income levies and excise taxes on gasoline, cigarets, liquor, and a long list of other luxury commodities, will be taken up by the house tomorrow under a gag rule excluding amendments and permitting only six hours of debate.

Unanimously approved by the ways and means committee, the bill is scheduled to receive an overwhelming vote of approval. Both Democratic and Republican members of the committee declared that the American people had evidenced in a flood of letters and telegrams their willingness to be taxed for defense purposes.

Step Toward Higher Levies.

The same members agreed that this year's tax bill is but a step toward more burdensome taxation next year. Altho the bill increases the national debt limit from 45 to 49 billion dollars, treasury credit will be exhausted if defense spending keeps up at the rate of 5 billions a year.

Senator Millard F. Tydings [D., Md.] declared that the people are being misled by statements that the new taxes will pay for national defense. He joined with Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] who proposes raising at least a billion and a half dollars additional in new taxes.

If 2 billion 700 million dollars a year were being raised in new taxes, Tydings declared, our normal expenditures for the army and navy as well as all other government departments could be paid for out of the national income. Even in that case, he said, extraordinary defense expenditures, such as this year's multi-billion dollar program, would be left unpaid.

Won't Pay for Defense.

"To say that the new tax bill will finance new defense expenditures is wholly, totally, and absolutely incorrect," Tydings said. "The new tax bill will not pay a single dollar of the costs of the new defense program. It cannot do so under present conditions.

"For 10 years we have had an average annual deficit of 2 billion 700 million dollars. How can you start paying for new expenses now contracted for additional national defense when for the last 10 years we have been expending each year 2 billion 700 million more than we have been taking in?

"We have spent a total of 10 billion 870 million dollars on our army and navy during the last 10 years, an average cost per year of 1 billion 87 million dollars. If we subtract this sum from our yearly average deficit that leaves 1 billion 600 million dollars which we did not raise and did not have—which we borrowed, and none of which was spent on the army and navy.

Predicts New Depression.

"If not a single cent had been spent on the army and navy during the last 10 years our government was still running 1 billion 600 million dollars a year behind. Consequently, a billion dollars in new taxes would still leave us 600 million behind what we need to pay for the other functions of government, without a cent being provided for the army and navy.

"After this war is over we will go into a far deeper depression than that which commenced in 1929. We will not be as well prepared to meet it from a standpoint of governmental finance as we were to meet the present depression.

"To raise the national debt limit without providing for the payment of the 2 billion 700 million dollar yearly deficit of the last 10 years is the grossest kind of unpreparedness."

LONDON ADMITS LOSS OF 5 SHIPS IN WAR ACTIONS

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Britain announced today the sinking of the 22,500 ton aircraft carrier Glorious, the 19,840 ton transport Orama, and the presumable loss of the destroyers Acasta and Ardent and the tanker Oil Pioneer.

The Germans announced yesterday that the Glorious, sister ship of the aircraft carrier Courageous, which was torpedoed on Sept. 17 by a Nazi submarine, had been sunk on June 8 in the North sea.

The Glorious carried a normal complement of 1,216 men, including royal air force pilots. Her actual crew normally was 748 men.

The admiralty announcement failed to say how many men were lost in the sinkings, but it was stated the Orama had no troops on board.

The Ardent and Acasta were 1,350 ton ships of the Acasta class and carried a normal complement of 138 men each. They were among eight ships of this class built in the program of 1927. The Oil Pioneer was of 5,666 tons Indies trade. All the ships were in company of the Glorious in northern waters.

BRITAIN LANDS MORE TROOPS TO AID FRENCH

Air Force Increased; Fleet Shells Nazis.

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—An official statement said tonight that "important contingents of new troops already have disembarked in France to reinforce British forces which are fighting at the side of the allies." The Royal Air force in France also was said to have been increased in strength.

The British fleet, it was also announced, was shelling German troops on the French coast tonight.

"Hundreds of German planes" during the last few days dropped bombs on Britain in the hope of "immobilizing our fighters," the statement said, adding that "the measure has completely failed."

All At Stake in Battle.

"One thought in British minds is to sustain the battle front," the statement continued. "It is realized that the fate of not only Britain and France but of the whole world depends on the result of the battle now raging.

"Despite the imminent danger of German invasion of the United Kingdom, the British government and the British nation are unanimously of the opinion that all their available forces should be directed without delay to the scene of the battle."

The statement referred to the battle in France as "the battle of Paris and London" and declared the British people were "proud to endure attacks which otherwise would have been directed against the allied armies" from the air.

"Faced with the menace of Nazi slavery, every free man must say to himself, 'Victory at all costs and sooner death than defeat,'" the statement concluded.

Bomber Seen Over English Town.

A Heinkel bomber flew over a town in southern England at 7:35 o'clock this morning.

Bombardments of Amiens and Abbeville, French towns held by the Germans, by the British air force during the last 24 hours were reported by the air ministry.

Its communique said armored fighting vehicles, mechanical transport columns and troop concentrations were also heavily bombed in the Abbeville-Amiens-Beauvais-Rouen area.

River Crossings Attacked.

"River crossings on the Somme, the Aisne and the Meuse were repeatedly attacked during the night," the communique added.

"Serious damage was caused to the enemy's ammunition dumps and supplies when large tracts of the Ardennes forest between Charleville and Fumay were set on fire.

"Other formations of heavy bombers attacked a large number of military objectives in Rhenish Prussia and the Ruhr.

"Four of our aircraft are missing."

Six thousand six hundred incendiary bombs were dropped on the Ardennes countryside last night, it was said, and 2,000 were dropped in 15 minutes in raids today.

Downed 40 Planes

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Britain's first air ace of the war, Flying Officer E. J. "Cobber" Kain, unofficially credited with more than 40 German planes shot down in action, has been killed, it was disclosed today. He was 22 years old. His death resulted from a flying accident while on duty, not in action.

A New Zealander, Kain recently had been named to head a group of British pilots "with a bag of 20 or more" enemy planes on roving commissions. Kain was the first British airman to win distinction in France in the present war. He was awarded the distinguished flying cross last March for gallantry in attacking, with another plane, seven Nazi bombers, and chasing them into German territory.

Previously "Cobber" had shot down five German planes. In one air fight Kain had to "bail out" when his machine was shot down. He was wounded by shrapnel in his left leg and hand. While on leave in England last April, Kain announced his engagement to Joyce Phillips, 23 year old actress.

UNITY MITFORD AND HITLER NOTES FIGURE IN TRIAL

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—A story of the finding of a letter of thanks from Adolf Hitler and of a letter signed "Unity Mitford" in the possession of a woman accused of having distributed advertisments for German broadcasts was told today by detectives testifying against her.

The woman, named by authorities as Olive Evelyn Baker, 40 years old, of Bath, was said by the police to have had a pass signed by the Nazi propaganda minister, Joseph Goebbels. She was held for trial.

The nature of the contents of the letter "signed by a person giving the name of Unity Mitford" was not disclosed.

[Miss Unity Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale, was found shot in Munich last October 29, after she was said to have quarreled with Adolf Hitler. Suffering from a head wound, she was later returned to England.]

Nazis Report Lithuanian Foreign Chief Flies to Russia

BERLIN, June 10 (AP).—A dispatch from Kaunas, Lithuania, broadcast by the German radio today, said Foreign Minister Juozas Urbsys left by special plane for Moscow today to participate in the discussions between Premier Merkis and the soviet government. The talks began last Friday. Political circles in the Lithuanian capital, the broadcast said, assumed the discussions were widened beyond the originally planned trade talks.

DOCTORS PLEDGE SERVICES TO U. S. IN EVENT OF WAR

Convention Finds 117,000 Ready for Emergency.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 10.—Talk of war overshadowed the opening of the 91st annual convention of the American Medical association here today. Preparations for aiding men wounded in battle dominated the session of the leaders of medical science, whose gatherings in previous years have been devoted to the healing of man's ills in times of peace.

Speakers offered the services of the association's 117,000 members to the federal government in the event of a national crisis, but in the same breath warned of the trend toward totalitarian doctrines under the present régime in Washington.

Resolutions for medical preparedness were offered in the house of delegates, the ranking body of 174 men who determine the policies of the association's membership.

Map Plan to Aid Army.

A plan for enlisting professional personnel for the army medical corps, thru facilities of the American Medical association was presented by Dr. G. C. Dunham, lieutenant colonel in the army medical service and a member of the house of delegates. Surgeon General James C. Magee of the army, in whose office the program was prepared, looked on with interest while Dunham spoke.

Under this program the association would conduct a survey of the medical profession thru its state, county, and local societies to determine which doctors "express a willingness to service, who should be available for the military service, and who, on account of their age, physical disability, or commitment in civil capacities, should remain at home."

Debate to be Secret.

There was no debate from the floor on the medical mobilization proposal. Action will be taken tomorrow afternoon at an executive session of the house of delegates, when subjects such as birth control, tabooed for public debate, will be taken up behind closed doors.

Dr. Nathan B. Van Etten of New York City, president-elect of the association, addressing the house of delegates, declared the medical profession in America is being "mobilized to defend our liberal democracy against the invasion of foreign influences."

He pledged the American Medical association to coöperate to the limit in all measures of national defense.

Dr. Rock Sleyster of Wauwatosa, Wis., retiring president of the association, discussed war possibilities. He reminded the delegates that at the time of the armistice in 1918 there were 35,000 medical officers in the army and 3,000 in the navy.

REFUGEES AT SEA FIND NEW HORROR OF WAR: DIAPERS!

Multitude of Babies Ties Up Ship Laundries.

New York, June 10 (AP).—Her eight decks packed with humanity in search of peace, the liner Manhattan sped into safe harbor today carrying a record load of 1,907 refugees, 867 of whom were aliens, from Genoa and Naples, only a few hours after Italy threw her armed forces into the cauldron of war.

Cradled in the vessel were so many babies — 194 minor children were aboard—that the ship's laundry suspended all other services to wash diapers.

Other Ships on Way.

Only yesterday, a similar refugee ship, the President Roosevelt, landed more than 700 persons, including 220 children, from England and Ireland, and racing across the Atlantic is a third vessel, the President Harrison, with some 500 men, women, and children from Genoa. A fourth American ship, the liner Washington, sailed from Lisbon for Galway, Ireland, to add more New York-bound passengers to a load already exceeding her normal capacity.

More than 1,200 flag waving, bouquet carrying friends and relatives shouted and waved their greetings to the Manhattan.

Many of the aliens aboard were refugee Jews, who obtained passage before a state department order directed preference be given Americans.

700 Sleep on Cots.

Nearly 700 persons slept on cots in passageways, and in makeshift dormitories in the grand salon, the palm court, the library, post office, gymnasium and playroom.

Many were not surprised by the news of Italy's entrance into the war—they said they had observed signs of military preparation in Italy—but others reacted with deep concern.

Mrs. Myron C. Taylor, wife of President Roosevelt's special envoy to the Vatican, buried her face in a handkerchief, weeping.

"I can't say anything," she said.

A Water Shortage.

Like the Manhattan, the President Roosevelt had diaper problems, along with rough weather and shortages of fresh water. Among the children aboard were 33 babies, whose mothers were forced to launder for them in sea water.

A well stocked bar that remained open 24 hours a day helped the men forget the inconveniences of the water shortage, Stewards said.

WINS FIGHT WITH N. U. FOR PART OF FATHER'S ESTATE

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday approved an out of court settlement of the suit of Willard C. Howe of New York City against Northwestern university contesting terms of the will of Howe's father, Samuel J. Howe, a Wheaton attorney. The elder Howe left his entire estate of $70,000 to the university and cut off his son.

A sensation was caused last Oct. 30 after the first mixed jury ever to sit in federal District court here had returned a sealed verdict setting aside the will and depriving the university of the gift. The verdict was reported on a Saturday and the jurors returned to court on Monday to be polled on the verdict. When Mrs. Katherine Merrifield, 1014 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, was asked if she supported the verdict she announced she had changed her mind over the week-end. Juge Igoe set aside the verdirt after Mrs. Merrifield explained that she had yielded to the majority of the jury against her will.

The settlement gives Howe $17,500, a half interest in a Chicago cemetery lot in which his mother is buried, and the right to buy personal effects of his father which have not been disposed of. Mrs. Addie M. Gilbert, a sister of his father, living in Ashton, Lee county, gets two pieces of real estate valued at $1,500. The residue of the estate goes to Northwestern.

40 VOLUNTEER FOR YEAR OF AIR CORPS SERVICE

Forty men with flying experience have volunteered for one year's active duty with a regular tactical unit of the army air corps, according to Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the 6th corps area.

Among those who accepted from this area, which is made up of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan, are some of the highest ranking air reserve officers, including colonels, lieutenant colonels, and majors. The volunteers include attorneys, business executives, airport managers, engineers, accountants, chemists, civilian conservation corps officers, and teachers. Nineteen of the men have air pilot ratings, and the others have military and civil training which will be of value to the air corps.

A report listing the volunteers has been sent by Gen. Ford to the adjutant general of the army.

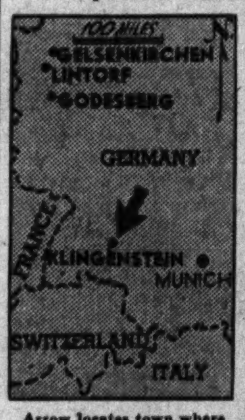
AMERICAN BOY, 8, KILLED BY BOMB IN RAID ON NAZIS

First U. S. Civilian to Die in War.

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—The state department announced today that Alfred Paul Ritter, 8 years old, an American boy, was killed in an air bombing attack at Klingenstein, near Ulm, Germany, shortly after midnight on June 4.



Arrow locates town where boy was killed.

The child, whose mother, Maria, lives in New York City, had been living with his grandparents in Germany since 1937. His father, German born, is dead.

The state department said that so far as it knew, this was the first American civilian killed in the war. Capt. Robert M. Losey, military attaché at Stockholm, was killed in Norway early in the Scandinavian fighting.

British "Dud" Kills Six.

BERLIN, June 10 (AP).—Six persons were killed and two seriously wounded in removing an unexploded British bomb at Gelsenkirchen-Bismarck, the Gelsenkirchner Allgemeine Zeitung reported today.

British bombs also were reported to have killed a farmer and his wife and wounded a child in a lonely cottage near Lintorf, near Duesseldorf.

Allies Bomb Godesberg.

COLOGNE, Germany, June 10 [A. P. via radio].—Allied planes rained scores of bombs on the Rhineland and German-held military objectives in Belgium the last two nights, but did little damage, the newspaper West Deutsche Beobachter reported.

Godesberg, scene of the historic pre-Munich conference between former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of England and Adolf Hitler was one of the towns bombed.

Crowley, Gilbert Expected to Deny Wire Tap Charge

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorney's police, are expected to take the stand before Judge James F. Fardy today to deny tapping wires in the investigation of the "jury fix" case. Telephone company employés testified yesterday that the company neither tapped nor aided in tapping wires. Attorney George Crane and three codefendants have moved to suppress the evidence on the ground that wire tapping was used to obtain evidence.

61 Receive Diplomas

Graduations, even from kindergarten, are not to be taken lightly, so 61 5 year old boys and girls of Our Lady of Grace school, 2446 North Ridgeway avenue, wore their most formal clothes last evening to receive their diplomas. The little boys were dressed in miniature tuxedoes and the girls in bouffant gowns like their big sisters' prom dresses. After the diplomas were given out by Msgr. Victor B. Primeau, pastor of Our Lady of Grace church, the graduates staged a three act play, "Goldilocks Adventure."

INFLUX OF NEW MEMBERS SPURS DEFENSE PATROL

Illinois sportsmen are flocking to join the Sportsmen's Defense Reserve, and requests for information on the organization's program are being received from thruout the nation, Walter Peacock, president of the reserve, said yesterday.

Peacock described the spread of the movement at a meeting of officers of the reserve. The officers met at the Chicago Athletic association to discuss plans for expanding the organization, which was formed for civilian defense in the event of a national emergency.

L. E. Doll, secretary of the Illinois Skeet association and assistant secretary of the Sportsmen's Defense Reserve, told the officers he had talked with members of nine skeet and gun clubs in Chicago and downstate towns during the week-end and that all were enrolling their members into the reserve.

Russell Wiles Jr., vice president of the Sportsmen's Defense Reserve and director of the Illinois State Rifle association, told officers the formation of the reserve had stimulated interest in rifle clubs in the Chicago area and that several new clubs have been formed.

FEARS LAPSE OF INSURANCE AND KILLS HIMSELF

William P. Hinkel, 58 years old, a former paper company executive, took poison and shot himself below the heart last night in a secluded spot in Jackson park, near 64th street and Stony Island avenue. He was taken to the Illinois Central hospital, where he died early today. He lived with a son, William Jr., at 6613 Normal avenue.

Before dying Hinkel told police that he was despondent over financial reverses, and particularly because he was unable to meet premiums due today and next week on $12,500 worth of life insurance. He said he feared they would lapse. Hinkel said he was general manager of a paper company in Carlyle, Clinton county, until two years ago.

PASSAGE LOANS CONSIDERED FOR YANKS IN EUROPE

400 in Britain Lack Funds for Fare.

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—The American embassy said today the state department was "making arrangements to help" Americans who wish to sail for home on the liner Washington but who haven't enough money for passage.

A spokesman said it was estimated there were still about 400 in the United Kingdom who would like to get home from the invasion-threatened British Isles.

The kind of help was not made known, but it was intimated that special loans would be made in "bona fide" cases.

150 Apply for Passage.

DUBLIN, June 10 (AP).—At noon today, 150 persons had filed applications for passage to the United States on the liner Washington, scheduled to reach Ireland from Lisbon, Portugal, this week.

The minimum fare of $200 was attracting many persons who had balked at paying the minimum of $300 on the Roosevelt, which left Galway June 2.

The latest word is that the Washington will reach Galway late Wednesday night and will sail Thursday.

Liner Leaves Lisbon.

LISBON, Portugal, June 10 (AP).—The United States liner Washington sailed late today after a brief call en route to the United States filled beyond her normal capacity with American refugees from Europe's war.

Her last European destination before crossing to New York is Galway, Ireland. She left Bordeaux, France, yesterday.

United States naval squadron launches in the Tagus river kept a close watch, sailing around the liner.

SHUN EUROPEAN WAR, U. S. URGED BY LEGION CHIEF

Nation Warned on Need for Strong Defenses.

"Let America stay out of Europe's war. Let America be strong, with the greatest defense system and the most powerful battle fleet in the world. Then, if America fights a war, it will be our own war, for our own country."

Raymond Kelly.

Those are the words of Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, Mich., national commander of the American Legion, an organization of the men who fought America's battles in the worlr war, an organization which has been semanding a strong national defense ever since.

Kelly spoke them in an interview yesterday after reviewing the latest developments in the European war. He repeated them last night in a broadcast address at an annual banquet of the Board of Trade post of the American Legion in the Union League club.

Counsels Against Hysteria.

"There is no reason for the present hysteria and no good cause is served by a hysterical approach to our defense problems," Kelly said. "The American Legion has been urging preparedness for 21 years, But few listened to us.

"The need now is for sane thinking and sane action. We must keep first things first. The war belongs to Europe. We've got a job to do at home—a big job—and we'll keep busy doing it. Vain boasting about our undeveloped but potentially great military strength will avail us little. Loose talk about our neighbors will butter no parsnips.

"The first problem before America is the creation of impregnable national defense and the elimination of the fifth column.

Cites Menace from Within.

"There is nothing new about either of those problems. The American Legion has been demanding their solution for more than a score of years.

"In my belief the most menacing factor to the safety of the United States arises from within our borders, rather than without. Our house must be set in order.

"Let us face the fact that communazi [communist and Nazi] conspirators seeking to undermine and destroy our institutions are fanatics.

"We have been told that far-reaching suppressive measures against flourishing domestic ideological conspiracies might injure innocent people. In my belief the good of the whole nation compels summary action to be taken by our properly constituted federal, state, and local authorities to stamp out in their entirety the activities of these subverters. Such action is needed irrespective of what may happen to their fellow travelers or innocent bystanders."

National defense has been wofully neglected, despite efforts of the Legion to get attention for this vital problem, Kelly said.

Favors Western Defense.

"For two decades national defense preparedness has lagged," he said. "Within the last two weeks the first new United States battleship in 19 years has been launched. In every other element of preparedness we have been equally complacent.

"The United States must be prepared to defend the whole western hemisphere. We've got to have men, equipment, supplies, organization, training. We've got to have the greatest battle fleet in the world.

"Nobody will dare to attack the strongest nation in the world. But there will be plenty of enemies if we are weak. We've got to put our house in order, and build the most powerful defense ever known, regardless of the cost."

This is no time for Americans to talk of intervening in Europe, Kelly said.

Lack of Materials Cited.

"With what would we intervene?" he asked. "We can't fight wars with blueprints. Orders have been given, but we do not have on hand today the needed planes, weapons, and materials to train properly the extremely moderate armed forces we are able to put in the field.

"The question is whether you and I are willing to accept our individual responsibilities in shaping the course the United States will follow. We must think and act sanely."

In the world war Kelly served in France with the 323d field artillery and the 62d coast artillery.

EGYPT ORDERS FREE GAS MASKS GIVEN TO CIVILIAN POPULATION

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 10 (AP).—The Egyptian government tonight ordered free distribution of gas masks to the civilian population and increased a special defense appropriation from 600,000 to 1,000,000 pounds [from about $2,120,000 to $3,530,000].

The government also created a special commission to fix the indemnities on properties requisitioned for war purposes and also prepared to establish a concentration camp for undesirables and criminal suspects in another move aimed at maintaining internal security.

The nation was split into supply districts, where foodstuffs adequate for four months are being stored.

Newspapers, commenting on Premier Mussolini's assurances that Italy has no hostile intentions toward Egypt, said Egypt would fulfill all obligations under her military alliance with Britain.

"What...another new magazine?"

You might call it that!

1 Q. Well, who reads this one?
A. A million American women and their families, not counting the friends to whom copies are passed along.

2 Q. That's quite a lot of people, isn't it?
A. Yes—more families than you'll find in the cities of St. Louis, Cleveland, Boston, Baltimore and Pittsburgh combined.

3 Q. Where do these people live?
A. In better-than-average neighborhoods all over America.

4 Q. How do they buy the magazine?
A. Over two-thirds of them at newsstands; the rest have it delivered, pay in advance.

5 Q. How much does it cost to advertise in it?
A. NOTHING!

6 Q. NOTHING?
A. No—for it is the million copy XTRA edition of the Ladies' Home Journal now being printed to care for the Journal's 6-year circulation increase of over a million XTRA buyers!

★ Over 1,000,000 new buyers in 6 years! (And no increase in advertising rates!)

Here is how women bought these million xtra copies: Newsstand sales gain, 144%. Subscription gain, 30%.

Yes, the Ladies' Home Journal has increased its circulation by a million copies in the past 6 years, an increase equal to the entire readership of many a worth-while magazine! An xtra million copy circulation . . . a current bonus for Journal advertisers of an xtra million buyers.

Two-thirds of this phenomenal growth has occurred in newsstand sales, considered by many the most voluntary type of circulation.

This growth is occurring because more and more women are finding in today's Journal a magazine that stimulates their minds—advances the techniques of womanhood—provides gaiety and entertainment in an often troubling world.

That is why advertisers are seeking the Journal also. Not only because the Journal reaches the world's largest paid magazine circulation (over 3,500,000 women buyers). But because women reach for the Journal eagerly. Journal advertising increases this year have been steady—culminating with a 36% increase for July, the current issue.

YOUTH WOUNDED IN NEW RAID ON RELIGIOUS SECT

Governor Threatens to Call Soldiers.

Wells, Me., June 10 (AP).—Wounding of a boy in a crowd demonstration tonight was followed by an announcement from Gov. Lewis O. Barrows that he was prepared to muster the national guard if state police failed to cope with "disorders" directed at members of a religious sect [Jehovah's witnesses].

Barrows, declaring "we cannot permit a breakdown of order and our citizens must be protected from violence," instructed that extra state police be sent to the vicinity.

Members of the sect have been involved in a series of disturbances in York county as the outgrowth of their refusal to salute the American flag on the grounds that they give allegiance only to the deity.

Shots Fired Into Crowd.

State Police Capt. William P. Hancock said that Jerry Semo, 19 years old, of Biddeford, was wounded when two shots were fired into a crowd gathered outside a man's home here.

Hancock, declaring the crowd had "gone too far," said he contemplated taking no action against the dwelling's occupant, who, he said, admitted firing the shots. Hancock quoted the man as saying that several of the crowd went to his door, demanding to know whether he was a member of the sect and whether he would salute the flag. When he denied membership and expressed no objection to saluting the flag, the crowd threw stones at the dwelling, whereupon he fired.

Shooting of the youth came only a few hours after six sect members pleaded innocent in Kennebunk Municipal court to charges of assault with intent to kill resulting from the shooting and wounding of two men Sunday in Kennebunk.

That shooting was followed by the burning of the sect's Kennebunk headquarters by a crowd of 2,000 townspeople.

RECALL WORLD WAR ROLE.

Nine leaders of the sect of Jehovah's Witnesses, militant pacifist organization which has been in the news lately because of its teachings not to salute the flag, were sentenced to prison during the world war for violation of the espionage act.

Clarence L. Converse, special agent of the intelligence unit of the internal revenue department, yesterday recalled his investigation of the sect's activities in the world war. Members of the sect were then known as Russelites.

Converse, then director of investigation for the military intelligence, said the organization, known formally as the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society, was headed by Joseph F. Rutherford, former Missouri judge, who is still its leader. Judge Rutherford also was head of the International Bible Students' association, an affiliated organization.

Propaganda Pamphlets Traced.

Converse learned the Germans were deluging the Italian army with propaganda pamphlets designed to shatter Italian morale. He traced the pamphlet to the Brooklyn headquarters of the sect and found Rutherford had been in Germany when the world war started and had returned to America with a rich German widow, who was financing the printing of the propaganda material the Germans were spreading among the Italians.

The investigation also disclosed the sect had published a pamphlet called "The British Mystery," written around the Book of Revelations. This work contained a definition of a soldier, attributed to Jack London, as "the lowest form of humanity." Converse said the pamphlet was clearly designed to obstruct the draft.

As a result of Converse's investigation the nine cultists were sentenced in 1918 to 20 years each in federal prison.

Convictions Later Reversed.

They served nine months before the United States Supreme court reversed the convictions on the ground Federal Judge Harlan B. Howe of Vermont, who presided at the trial, was prejudiced. The war ended before the case was again brought to trial and the proceedings were finally dismissed.

Since 1935 the German gestapo has been busy raiding bookshops and newspaper stands to keep the Watch Tower society's publications out of Germans' hands. The Hitler régime asserted these publications contained treasonable charges. Some of the literature allegedly agitated for disobedience to Hitler, representing him as holding conferences with the devil in his Berchtesgaden home. The Third Reich was caricatured in the literature as a beast of prey.

At least 15 German members of the sect were sentenced to prison. One defendant informed the German court he had sworn never to hold public office under any existing state, never to bear arms, and never to take the oath of allegiance to any government.

BRIDGES ASSAILS ROOSEVELT FOR LAG IN DEFENSE

Hits Presidential Curbs on Arms Council.

Senator H. Styles Bridges.

United States Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, spoke yesterday at a luncheon in his honor in the Palmer House. He declared that, if the President knew as much as he says he knows about the international situation, he was derelict in his duty in not informing the country until a few weeks ago of the necessity for adequate national defense. Bridges is a member of the senate committee on military affairs.

High points in his speech included the following statements:

"The best contribution President Roosevelt could make to the welfare of the country would be to fire Madam Perkins.

Hits Fifth Column in Capital.

"The fifth column has infiltrated into official Washington—you'd be shocked to know to what extent."

Senator Bridges began by describing his pleasure at being in Chicago where, he said, the atmosphere is much clearer than in Washington. He described the capital as jittery.

The senator discussed the Roosevelt defense planning structure. He declared the membership of the national council is stacked so that it will always give the administration a majority.

When members of the advisory board of the national council suggested that it should be given congressional authority, the proposal was rejected, Bridges said, and now the council is limited to the power given it by the President. Roosevelt, he continued, wants to get rid of congress as soon as possible.

G. O. P. Fights Adjournment.

The senator said he was confident the Republicans in the house will win their part of the battle against adjournment. Bridges said that if the senate Republicans lose and the upper chamber votes to adjourn, he expected the President to exercise his authority to prorogue the session. The President has such authority when the two houses disagree.

"We are woefully unprepared," the senator continued. "It will take a minimum of two years before we can wage an effective battle. It is a pitiful story, but I won't go into details. You know them.

"Our navy is reasonably well prepared, but it is a one ocean navy.

"Our fleet is cruising a thousand miles beyond Hawaii. I feel that it should be in the Atlantic. It is a mistake to think of Japan alone as our potential enemy. We ought to have a two ocean fleet, but that wouldn't be possible for four or five years."

Thomas J. Downs, Illinois manager for the Bridges forces, was host at the luncheon and introduced the senator. Those present included C. B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the Republican national committee; Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator; Republican State Chairman B. L. Berve, Col. Robert R. McCormick, and a number of delegates to the national convention.

Release Evicted Widow Accused of Ruining House

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday dismissed charges of destroying government property against Mrs. August Carmichael, 55 years old, a widow. She was accused of ruining the interior of her home at 1646 Homer street after she was evicted for paying only $249 of a $2,854 loan from the Home Owners' Loan corporation. Judge Woodward upheld a defense motion to quash the indictment on the ground that it was vague and indefinite. The indictment charged Mrs. Carmichael with defacing the walls, destroying the fixtures, ruining the plumbing, and dismantling and flooding the house.

COMMITTEE O.K.'S VANDENBERG AND DEWEY EXPENSES

Senators Decide Outlays Weren't Excessive.

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—Chairman Guy M. Gillette announced tonight that his senate campaign investigation committee had found no evidence of "unreasonably large expenditures" by Thomas E. Dewey or Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in their presidential primary campaigns in three states.

The committee investigated in Nebraska and Wisconsin, where Dewey defeated Vandenberg, and in Maryland, where Dewey alone was entered. Inquiry also was made at Dewey's New York headquarters.

Some General Complaints.

"Some of the complaints we received were general," Gillette told reporters, "and some specified Mr. Dewey. The committee found no evidence of unreasonably large expenditures. It was of the opinion that any nation-wide campaign takes money, and altho there were some accounting discrepancies, these were more careless than intentional."

In Maryland, the committee found, expenditures in both the Democratic and Republican senatorial primaries were "too large for the public interest." "There should be some check on such expenditures so as not to preclude a poor man or a man of moderate income from running for the senate," Gillette said.

Reveals Other Findings.

Gillette gave these reports on committee investigations in other states:

West Virginia—The committee found evidence to support complaints of vote buying and turned it over to state authorities for action. Gillette said that complaints involved some of the authorities to whom the evidence was presented.

New Jersey—Investigators reported that WPA workers had been "indirectly coerced" into buying tickets for boat excursions from agents of The Harry J. Thourot Democratic association. Gillette said the tickets were mailed to workers shortly before pay day and that they felt impelled to buy them.

Ohio—Charges of irregularities in the Republican senatorial campaign, the nature of which Gillette did not specify, were found to be without foundation.

STATE ANSWERS DEFENSE BRIEF IN BOWEN CASE

State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro of Kankakee county yesterday filed a reply brief with Circuit Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet in answer to the defense brief filed last week in behalf of A. L. Bowen, state welfare director, who is charged with gross omission of duty in connection with the typhoid epidemic which caused the death of 60 persons at Manteno State hospital last year.

On May 22 the jury selected for Bowen's second trial was dismissed by agreement of counsel and the decision was placed in the hands of Judge Bartley. The brief filed by Shapiro summarized evidence presented against Bowen in his first trial, which ended in a disagreement. Judge Bartley is expected to hand down his ruling before the end of the month.

SHE WAS STILL in the clouds WHEN SHE LANDED!

(Listen to her rave about "flying United"—and read some good "plane facts" about Standard's gasoline.)

1) Yup! My wife! Her first flight, and you should have seen that don't-wake-me-up-let-me-dream expression on her face when she steps out of that big Mainliner! "Contact!" says I, expectantly, but all I get is one casual kiss before she bursts with delight.

2) "Dar-ling! It was glorious! When can I go again? Why it takes no time to fly any place on the 'Mainline'! Only an overnight sleeper plane flight from Chicago to San Francisco or Los Angeles! Why, it's . . . it's . . . well, isn't it?" The way she flaps her wings, I can see she's plenty sold on "flying United."

3) Across the field I see one of those giant silver birds refueling from a big red Standard Oil truck. "H'm!" says me to me, "If those Mainliners can perform such miracles on an exclusive diet of Standard-made gasoline, then it's no wonder I feel magic in my throttle-toe when there's Red Crown in my car's tank . . .

4) ". . . If United chooses Standard over all other makes, I can't go wrong at the Standard Service sign! . . . So I'm sticking to

4 UNION LABOR RACKETEERS GET TERMS IN PRISON

Controled by Underworld, N. Y. Judge Asserts.

New York, June 10 [Special].—Prison sentences ranging from 5 to 15 years were meted out today to four racketeers who had used a labor union to extort thousands of dollars from business men. All were convicted on May 1 of extortion and conspiracy on evidence gathered by the rackets bureau of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

Judge James G. Wallace.

Before imposing the sentences, General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace denounced the four as "labor racketeers." He called them a disgrace to the labor movement and asserted that they had gained control of a union by schemes to use it as an instrument to extort money. He added that they were dominated by underworld characters.

Manager Gets 15-30 Years.

The four sentenced were members of Local 1204 of the Retail Food Clerks union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

They are: Nicola Elia, 32 years old, general manager of Local 1204, who was sentenced to from 15 to 30 years in state prison; Frank Persico, 30, strong arm man for the union, according to the testimony during the trial, who was sentenced to 10 to 20 years; Louis Iannecone, 28, union treasurer, 7 to 14 years, and Anthony Pollemeni, 32, former president of the union, 5 to 10 years.

Judge Wallace adjourned until next Monday the sentencing of Sol Schuster, 40, president of local 202 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and Simon Zalentz, 34, a strong arm man.

Two Plead Guilty.

Twelve men in all were named in the indictment handed up last Dec. 1, but four are fugitives and now are being hunted by police under Dewey's direction. Two others pleaded guilty at the start of the trial.

Testimony at the trial indicated that the activities of the defendants followed the now familiar pattern of racketeering under the guise of labor. Witnesses testified that tribute was demanded of the victims as their union contracts fell due, and that they were threatened with strikes, picketing and embargoes on their supplies.

One victim testified that he had offered to hand over a tribute of $500, but that Elia had sneered at his offer with the remark: "That's only peanuts."

Jurors Under Guard.

Another testified that Elia had extorted $1,000 from him in 1937 and that Zalentz was present when Elia got another $5,000 from him in 1938. The witness added that on the latter occasion Elia had told him: "I have your business in the palm of my hand. Isn't it worth $10,000 to buy back your business?"

During the 17 days that the trial lasted, the jurors were under constant guard to protect them from attempts at intimidation.

3,000 WILL LOSE JOBS TOMORROW ON WPA PROJECTS

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said yesterday that 3,000 WPA workers on city sponsored construction projects will be discharged tomorrow, and another 3,000 within the next four or five days. A total of nearly 8,500 will be slashed from the rolls by June 30.

The reduction in WPA employment follows last week's action of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which allotted to the city only 63 per cent of the funds requested by Hewitt to keep the projects operating this month. City and WPA engineers are expected to have a program for the month mapped out today.

At present 33,000 are employed on city sponsored projects, of which about 12,000 are white collar workers.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 32.

1. Which of the following produces the largest egg?
   Turkey Duck Hen Goose
2. The usual number of prongs in a cocktail fork is
   2 3 4 5
3. On the back of our $5 bill is depicted the White House Treasury Building Washington Monument Lincoln Memorial
4. A mule skinner is a
   Tanner Taxidermist Mule Driver Mule Breeder
5. You would most likely find a kumquat in a
   Fruit Store Shoe Store Hardware Store Clothing Store
6. Think carefully about this problem before you decide, for by using your "Horse Sense" you can work out the answers, even if you never saw them before. I have listed five common substances in the first column, with their weights per gallon in the second column. Try to match the correct weight with its proper substance. You deserve one point for each correct matching.

—— Lard [a] 8.4 pounds per gallon
—— Water [b] 7.7 pounds per gallon
—— Kerosene [c] 6.2 pounds per gallon
—— Vinegar [d] 8.3 pounds per gallon
—— Gasoline [e] 5.6 pounds per gallon

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

O. K. FINGERPRINT LAW FOR ALIENS, SENATE IS URGED

Biddle Seeks to Aid Border Guard.

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—The senate judiciary committee urged the senate today to approve legislation requiring the fingerprinting and registration of aliens, and to impose other restrictions designed to prevent fifth column activity.

Senator Tom Connally.

In a formal report, the committee said that besides providing for the registration and fingerprinting of aliens, the legislation would forbid aliens to possess automatic rifles, machine guns, or sawed-off shotguns.

The fingerprinting and registration program would be carried out by the immigration service. All aliens except officials of foreign governments and their families would be required to register at postoffices or other places designated by the immigration service, which would formulate regulations to implement the law.

Hopes for Approval This Week.

Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], sponsor of the legislation, told reporters he hoped to obtain senate approval this week. The house previously had passed similar legislation.

Solicitor General Francis Biddle disclosed today a proposal to coördinate the police work of the customs patrol, the coast guard and national park rangers with that of the border patrol to seal the nation's borders against unwanted aliens.

Under Biddle's suggestion, these police units of the treasury and interior departments would aid the border patrol, which has the primary responsibility for keeping a watch on aliens.

To Direct Border Patrol.

Biddle, who has become defense coordinator of the justice department, will have charge of the border patrol when the immigration and naturalization service moves from the labor department to the justice department next Friday.

The patrol has 856 officers and men and is expected to get 712 more under a bill submitted to congress last week. Under Biddle's proposal, this force would be strengthened by the 350 men in the customs patrol, 237 park rangers and 17,000 coast guardsmen.

Biddle has presented his proposal to representatives of the other departments, and the conferee's views will be studied by Willard F. Kelly, head of the border patrol.

Police Mexican, Canadian Borders.

Kelly's men police about 1,800 miles of border facing Mexico, and 4,000 miles [including lakes and connecting rivers] facing Canada. There are more than 7,000 miles of seacoast. The number of persons engaged in smuggling in aliens has been estimated at 1,000 to 1,500.

The move toward tightening police lines at the borders follows action last week by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who denied unrestricted entry to residents of neighboring countries who previously were admitted without passports.

ANNENBERG PUTS HIS FATE IN HANDS OF COURT TODAY

Final Plea Due in Tax Evasion Case.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

The fate of Moses L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, today will be placed in the hands of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, with whom rests the decision whether Annenberg must go to prison for income tax evasion.

Defense Attorney Weymouth Kirkland will climax his case with a final plea for clemency, and William J. Campbell, United States attorney, will answer for the prosecution. Judge Wilkerson has indicated he will take the case under advisement for a few days before announcing a decision.

Annenberg faces a maximum punishment of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. During four days of court arguments he has been endeavoring to show mitigating circumstances to lighten his sentence.

Agrees to Pay 9½ Millions.

He has pleaded guilty to evasion of $1,217,296 in taxes for 1936 and has agreed to pay the government 9½ million dollars in the next seven years to settle all tax claims going back to 1923. This sum is the largest ever levied by the government upon one of its citizens.

The court session yesterday was full of activity. Attorney Kirkland finished the first phase of his case—a factual statement attacking in detail most of the government charges. Austin Hall, assistant prosecutor, then presented his reply.

"Everything the defense says should be viewed with suspicion because of the guilty plea," Hall said.

Defense Attorney Francis X. Busch, representing Joseph Hafner, Annenberg's head bookkeeper and business partner—who also has pleaded guilty—followed Hall before the bar.

Resume Plea Today.

He was speaking when court was adjourned for the day. He will resume this morning, after which Kirkland will make his final plea.

The morning hearing was enlivened by a series of exchanges by the court, Kirkland, and Hall.

"My position here," Kirkland said, "is that the defendant has a right to show he had no motive to evade nor any willful intent in regard to many large items charged against him."

"A small amount under certain circumstances," said Judge Wilkerson, "might be worse than a large amount."

"We have set up many things in our statement of facts in behalf of Mr. Annenberg and the government hasn't denied them," Kirkland said.

Hall Disputes Statement.

Hall was on his feet immediately, a crimson flush suffusing his face.

"We don't agree with anything you have said," Hall replied. "You pleaded guilty."

Speaking of entries totaling $100,000 which are listed as household expense but which the government alleges actually were income to Annenberg personally, Kirkland said:

"My client has a very expensive habit. He likes to play roulette. He's not very good at it, either. He has lost considerable sums. It is probable that some of this $100,000 was used for that purpose and not for household expenses."

TWO INTERNATIONAL BARTENDER UNION CHIEFS AID PROBE

Ed S. Miller of Kansas City, Mo., vice president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés' International Alliance and Bartenders' International Union of America, and Joseph A. Padway of Detroit, general counsel for the American Federation of Labor, came to Chicago yesterday to join the state's attorney's office in its effort to smash hoodlum control of the Chicago Bartenders' union.

The investigation is based on charges by George McLane, veteran business agent, that members of the Nitti gang, headed by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, are seeking to oust him and to raid the union treasury.

Miller, who represents the international union as a whole, and Padway who represents the hotel employés' section of the international, promised full coöperation to First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. "If a general cleanup is necessary, we'll do what we can," said Padway. The international has general jurisdiction of the Chicago union.

MILK PARLEYS CLOSE WITHOUT PACT ON WAGES

Contract negotiations between the Milk Wagon Drivers' union and the Associated Milk Dealers ended last night without an agreement on the question of wages.

Under the terms of the truce, which halted the eight day milk strike on May 26, this disputed point will be submitted to Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney within 48 hours. Leslie G. Goudie, president of the teamsters' joint council, said he would make arrangements for this meeting today.

If the mayor and state's attorney fail to bring about an agreement a board of arbitration will be set up. One member will be selected by the dealers and a second by the drivers. In case these members are not able to agree on a third party the Rev. Dennis J. Dunne, pastor of the Holy Cross church, will serve on the board.

The negotiators agreed on a 54 hour week and seniority for the drivers, but were far apart on the wage question.

MRS. NANCY JANE BAKER DEAD.

Polo, Ill., June 10 [Special].—Mrs. Nancy Jane Baker, 91 years old, died yesterday at the home of her son, the Rev. H. Jesse Baker, pastor of the Brethren church here. Her husband, the Rev. H. M. Baker, died 20 years ago. She leaves three sons, three daughters, 24 grandchildren, and 26 great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held here today.

THINK FOR SELF, GRADUATES TOLD AT U. OF ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., June 10 [Special.]—A plea to Americans to think for themselves and not to accept propaganda slogans and catchwords was voiced today by Dr. Herman G. James, president of Ohio university, Athens, O., as he delivered the 69th annual commencement address of 2,404 seniors at the University of Illinois. He asserted the dictatorships of the world today came about because people were too tired or too lazy to think. He declared the third term issue is the most vital question in domestic politics.

Dr. Herman G. James.

Dr. James, a graduate of the University of Illinois class of 1906, is the son of the late Dr. Edmund Janes James, president of Illinois from 1904 to 1920.

Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the university, awarded the 2,404 degrees following the commencement address. The Chicago departments of the state institution—the colleges of medicine, pharmacy, and dentistry—conferred 375 degrees last Friday, making a grand total of 2,779 June graduates, a new record. Of the number receiving degrees here today, 555 were from Cook county—384 from Chicago and 171 from outside of Chicago.

ITALY ENTERS THE WAR.

Italy has finally entered the war, tho it is still far from certain what forms her participation will take. Mussolini's broad ambition is to dominate the Mediterranean, incorporate much or all of the French territory in North Africa and Corsica in his empire, take the eastern shore of the Adriatic, drive the British from Gibraltar, Suez, and her other bases and regain Savoy and Nice from France.

Italy's declaration of war may be taken as evidencing Mussolini's conviction that France is about to succumb. That would mean that France in his judgment will be forced to cede the desired territories. It would also mean that he believes the combined power of Germany and Italy is sufficient at least to drive Britain out of the Mediterranean. Quite likely he is convinced that the combined power of the Italians and Germans can knock out Britain in one way or another, and force her to accept dictated terms of peace.

Certainly the inability of the French thus far to halt the progress of the German attack has given the Italians reason for confidence that France can be forced to her knees. It is true, of course, that even if Paris falls, France may continue to defend her southern and western territories, but so much of France's economic strength in production and transportation is centered in Paris that a successful defense this side of Paris is certain to be difficult and may be impossible.

So far as overcoming Britain is concerned, the prospects are far more difficult to appraise. Mussolini's belief that he can defeat the British and French navies in the Mediterranean and drive them out has a good deal less basis in accomplished fact than is to be seen in Poland, Holland, Belgium, and northern France. The German armies are going ahead, but the balance between sea power and air power is still undetermined. To date, German air power has not demonstrated a supremacy over surface ships. The allies did succeed in withdrawing some hundreds of thousands of men by sea from Dunkirk despite all the German air corps could do to prevent the movement. The attempts to sink naval and merchant vessels by bombing them from the air have been numerous but only occasionally successful.

Italy may reckon on obtaining title to the territories she wants from France, but to get possession of them she must defeat Britain as well. Mussolini and Hitler together may be able to turn the trick by a successful invasion of the British Isles or perhaps by systematic bombing, but there is as yet no certainty that such an effort will succeed. So far German successes on land have been achieved by a remarkable coordination of air units and mechanized equipment. No obstacle comparable to the channel has yet been met and it is far from clear that the Germans and Italians have the means of surmounting it. All that can be said now is that Mussolini appears to believe the victory can be achieved with his help.

The entrance of Italy into the war is a new test of faith for the vast majority in this country who believe in individual liberty, including economic liberty. Thus far the totalitarian powers have gone from success to success. Their military and diplomatic programs have clicked. There no doubt are already some Americans who are saying that we must imitate the dictator powers if we are to get along in the world they are preparing. It is difficult to believe that many Americans share this view. Certainly nothing has happened in Europe to justify Americans in abandoning the practices of 150 years of freedom during which the United States has become the most successful nation in the world. Even if all of Hitler's and Mussolini's military calculation is proved correct, they have yet to demonstrate either the survival power of their régimes or their ability to confer real benefits upon their subjects.

$650,000,000 IN ORDERS; HOW MUCH IN TAXES?

The army officer in charge of the Chicago ordnance area says that orders will be given in this area for some $650,000,000 worth of ordnance material on the day that the United States enters any war; a thoroly ghastly bribe.

If any one in the middle west thinks those war orders are an inducement toward getting this country into war he should talk to almost any one of the manufacturers who will have to execute the orders. They know there is no profit in war.

The Chicago area is a natural center for munitions manufacture for both military and technical reasons. It is safe from any attack that may be directed against our shores, and its factories are well stocked with machine tools vital to armament manufacture. The plant owners of the area have coöperated wholeheartedly with the ordnance department in planning the changeover from peacetime to wartime production, but they have done so as a patriotic duty and not in any hope of war profits.

Along with the $650,000,000 in war orders the Chicago area will get a bill for far more than $650,000,000 in war taxes. We will have to pay not only for the weapons, but as well for the support and training of the troops that will use them. The best that can be hoped is that the country may be relieved of the senseless peacetime expenditures of the Roosevelt administration, but the President and his supporters have given no indication yet that they have any intention of stopping the waste of public funds on Grand Coulees and other social experiments.

The only place the war taxes can be collected is from the earnings of industry and the wages of its employés. They will pay for the weapons they make. Manufacturers are not looking forward to war profits. They will be grateful if the demands on them do not destroy a substantial part of their present investments. Workmen need not expect war wages. They will help pay the war bill thru a lower standard of living.

Almost every manufacturers' organization in the country has gone on record in opposition to our participation in war, and has done so from sound reasons of self-interest. Industry knows that there won't be any war profits after the war taxes have been paid.

A HALF WIT PLAN TO TRAIN PILOTS.

The announcement that the government is going to train 45,000 airplane pilots in the next nine months reads well. The public should realize, however, that this program of the Civil Aeronautics Authority is not going to produce a single pilot fit, or anywhere near fit, to fly a military or naval plane.

The program has serious defects. Before going into them some of its good points should be recognized. The CAA has standardized training methods, something that should have been done long ago. In consequence, the students will get better instruction than most civilian flying students have had in the past.

Another advantage is the stiffening of physical requirements for applicants. These physical standards are now reported to approach those demanded of students at the army and navy flight schools.

The program's primary defect is not only that it is not going to produce any fighting pilots but that inadequate provision is made for carrying on its graduates and giving them the advanced instruction that will make them useful to the army and navy.

A pilot must have had at least 350 hours in the air before he can be trusted to fight a high speed military plane. Five hundred hours is a safer minimum. The CAA program gives 35 hours' flight training, in slow, light training planes. A graduate of that course is no closer to being a military pilot than a rookie is to being a soldier when he has learned squads right and the manual of arms.

Altho national defense is the only valid excuse for spending public funds on the program, authorities at Washington have sought to deprive it of all military emphasis. They have even established training units in women's colleges. Students are under no obligation to continue training after they have finished the course. They should not be enrolled except as members of a military reserve, subject to call for further training and military duty if needed.

The snobbery of confining the program largely to college students and graduates is continued. Only 15 per cent of the enrollees in the new course are to be noncollege men, and no provision whatever is made in this program for training or retraining the thousands of pilots with private flying licenses or those with partial training for such licenses. Many of these private pilots are already better flyers than the CAA students will be when they are graduated, but there is no provision for utilizing their talents.

The statement of CAA authorities that the program is largely confined to colleges because the training machinery is already set up there, thru the program of the last year, may have temporary validity. But the contention that it is necessary to go to college to get flying students of necessary intelligence is pure hooey. Enrollment in a college today is better evidence of the father's solvency than of the student's intelligence.

The CAA program gives good primary training, but it will be a waste of money unless provision is made to continue the training of its graduates for military purposes. Its students should not be enrolled except as military reserves. The snobbery and country club atmosphere should be wiped out by dropping the discrimination in favor of college students. The schoolgirl pilots should be put to rolling bandages. And the government, either in this program or an independent one, should start retraining and advanced training activities for the thousands of civilians who already know how to fly.

ABOUT AN ADVERTISMENT.

Readers of this morning's paper will notice the full page advertisment published by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. The opinion expressed there differs from ours, but neither that fact nor the fact that the committee appears to us to be speeding this country into war has warranted a refusal to give publicity to an advertisment bearing the name of Mr. William Allen White. The chairman of the committee is certainly an honest man and equally certainly a simple one. He may think that a formula like "all measures short of war" can be followed, but experience warns that when "measures short of war" fail, as they frequently do, entrance into war follows almost automatically. Mr. White may not realize this, but it seems probable that a good many of the subscribers to his committee are supporting the movement precisely because they understand its implications.

A list of the contributors to the vast sum the committee is spending and the amount contributed by each would go a long way to establish the degree of bona fides of the movement.

ENCYCLOPEDIA'S FORECAST.

[Detroit News.]

We find in the Encyclopedia Britannica, edition of 1929, an article on "Tactics" which forecast in main outline the German blitzkrieg.

The article tells how tactics have changed during 1,500 years in response, usually reluctant and delayed, to recurring changes in the weapons of war. The story is too involved for summarization here. Suffice it to say the upshot of its argument was that in 1914-'18 automatic weapons abolished the infantry as the arm that wins wars.

The article goes on to describe the probable effect on a "next war," in which armies, it predicted, would be largely mechanized. "The decisive point of attack will once again become the rear of the enemy's army." "Not only will shock weapons [mainly the bayonet] disappear, but also the smaller missile throwing weapons." "The approach will be made rapidly not only by road but across country, consequently the nature of strategy will be changed." "Area warfare will replace linear warfare and fronts may be anywhere."

The writer of the article was Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, retired, who quit the British army in 1933 after unpleasantnesses traced to his "excessive" preoccupation with the tank and its effect on tactics.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

A FEW FIGHTING WORDS.

Monger: A trader, a dealer; since about the 16th century usually implying petty or discreditable dealing or traffic, and now used chiefly in combinations such as fish-monger, coster-monger, war-monger. [Of Anglo-Saxon origin. See the Latin mango, a dealer in slaves.]

Poilu: This term for French soldiers came into use in 1914. It means a hairy and by implication a husky fellow. Before 1914 it was an expression, bordering on slang, for the average bearded, sturdy Frenchman. See Balzac, "The Country Doctor," who refers to soldiers "assez poilus" for a hazardous job of bridge building in the retreat from Moscow.

Anastasie: This cropped up in recent dispatches from Paris to puzzle American cable editors. It is French slang for newspaper censorship. It is an around-the-corner reference to Atropos, one of the three Fates, who wields shears. How Atropos became Anastasie is a mystery, but we suspect that the latter is a common name among French dressmakers, also busy girls with scissors.

Big Bertha: Krupp, the munitions maker, had a daughter named Bertha; hence this name for heavy artillery. To the French, in the world war, a Bertha was an extra-large shell.

Howitzer: This standard word for high-angle cannons comes from German and Bohemian words that originally meant "a sling."

Joséphine, tire-boche, tourne-boche: French soldier slang expressions for "bayonet." The last two are puns on the words for corkscrew and kitchen-spit.

Pioupiou, tourlourou: Peacetime slang in France for a private soldier, especially a young conscript.

TO JIM, JOE, MAC, AND DIXIE.

If you want to know the answer,
Ask the elevator boys—
Sports,
War,
Weather news or politics;
Stump them if you can, sir.
They're the compensating joys
For working in the city
Where the landscape isn't pretty,
Where your ultraurban neighbors
Give you looks that carry sabers
If you pass the time of day,
Or just send a smile their way!

If you're downcast in the morning,
Let the elevator boys
Grin,
Joke,
They can snap you out of it!
Story? Take a warning:
They will demonstrate their poise,
Let you tell it to the letter,
Then they'll tell you one that's better.
Country folks on party lines
Learn of bushes, trees, and vines,
Learn of peas and corn and 'taters;
We can learn in elevators!

The Swastika Spins Backward.

"Plowshares become swords—the world moves backward" [May 30]. Yes! And there's another sign.

The swastika! Form of a cross. Used as a religious symbol in pre-Christian times. Symbol of happiness.

The cradle of its birth traces back to the Troäd—the land of Troy, in the 13th century B. C. And even earlier, in the bronze age, swords showing the design of the cross in the shape of the handle, bear tracery of an imitation of this ancient symbol—the swastika. Symbol of the sun.

In India they have discovered an ancient stupa—a burial mound over the ashes of some great person. This stupa, one of the grandest in India, is placed in time as the 3d century B. C. And the whole ground plan of this imposing monument is in the shape of a giant swastika. Symbol of good fortune.

The swastika has traveled far, farther than any other symbol. Ranging thru the centuries it has passed to Thibet, Japan, China, and Persia; on thru northern Africa to the western hemisphere. . . . Until today.

And now this symbol of light, of happiness, and of good fortune rises in blackness across the universe and is turned to one of darkness, sorrow, and destruction.

MISS TALEITHA'S GARDEN.

Miss Taleitha tends her garden from early until late,
Plants such gay petunias down to her garden gate;
Waters plots of delicate, untrodden grass,
Calling cheerful greetings to the friends who pass.

Miss Taleitha wears no crinoline, as you may think,
No dainty gown of muslin sweetly sprigged in pink;
She does not swoon at spiders strung across her flowers,
Nor does an angleworm deprive her of her powers!

Miss Taleitha is a modern, and her favorite garden dress
An ample pair of earthy slacks; she chooses to express
Her love of beauty in the light a poppy throws,
Her joy of living in the exuberance of a rose!

A Dissenter's 10 Best Plays.

This column's favorite anticritic, Eugene Burr, who writes about the Broadway stage for the Billboard, defies the seasonal band wagon by announcing the following 10 "best plays":

"The World We Make," by Sidney Kingsley; "A Passenger to Bali," by Ellis St. Joseph; "Morning's at Seven," by Paul Osborn; "Life with Father," by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse; "The Male Animal," by Elliott Nugent and James Thurber; "Heavenly Express," by Albert Bein; "Kindred," by Paul Vincent Carroll; "Two on an Island," by Elmer Rice; "Thunder Rock," by Robert Ardry; and "Morning Star," by Sylvia Regan.

I wrote Maj. George F. Lee to ask if the correct spelling of the Irish word of lamentation is "wirra" or "wurra." [He's an authority in linguistics.] He answered:

"You clearly haven't much to wurra about."

DESTROYING ITCH MITES WITH SULFUR.

SCABIES—a skin condition caused by the itch mite—is rather prevalent among school children. It may be contracted from so many sources that no disgrace attaches to one who becomes a victim. But we should not confuse the malady with other types of irritation which are in no wise associated with parasites. For example, eczema is frequently the result of sensitivity to soap, house dust, etc.; and it may simulate this ailment quite accurately.

We may as well acknowledge—with good grace—that these mites abound and that they may be picked up from an infected person—even by shaking hands. The disorder is characterized by such intense itching—particularly after retiring—that sleep is disturbed. Other modes of transfer include the common towel or articles of clothing—such as gloves—that have been worn by a sufferer.

How does the disease manifest itself? The female mite tunnels into the epidermis—depositing her eggs as she goes. Then comes the hatching process and the entire episode requires only 14 days. The most favored sites are the folds between the fingers [the so-calld web], the wrists, the region of the breasts in women, the trunk, thighs, legs, and feet. A typical eruption between the fingers looks like a slightly raised, grayish pimple. It is located at the end of a crack [the burrow], which varies in length. Sometimes the pathways are not prominent and the cuticle may give the appearance of fine red dots that may mimic other lesions.

Whenever one feels obliged to scratch incessantly—or awakens in order to indulge in this pleasant pastime—scabies may well be suspected. This symptom may usher in what will occasionally prove to be a distressing complication—namely, infection. The finger nails are rarely clean and "digging" may introduce enough bacteria to lead to congestion and then inflammation. Small pus pockets may then develop and treatment will be demanded not alone for the extermination of the "bugs" but for the organisms which have been planted in spots suitable for growth.

The first item on the curative program is a scouring, hot bath. Plenty of soap should be employed and a moderately firm brush may be utilized. Every part of the body should be well scrubbed. After drying with a soft towel, sulfur ointment or other suitable mixture may be rubbed in, thoroly coating all affected areas. This general anointing must be kept up for three or four days—morning and evening. In the meantime water is not permitted to touch the skin. The underclothing is changed daily and the same rule applies to the bedding, nightclothes, socks, and shirts. Because the linen and the underwear may contain eggs, they should be boiled before they are sent to the laundry.

Sulfur ointment [10 per cent] will bring relief in most instances, but the substance must be applied with great care—allowing no infected part to remain uncovered. The chief objection to this plan is that now and then an individual will be unfavorably influenced by the drug—exhibiting a true dermatitis [inflammation of the skin]. As a rule, however, this comes only when the material is used beyond the prescribed four day limit. For children a preparation of half strength is suggested and then only for about three days. If necessary, and should no reaction occur—sulfur may be continued for a longer period. In such cases it may be advisable, however, to switch to another chemical, such as betanaphthol.

Sanitation is as important as is the antidote, and fresh bedding every day, separate towels, and avoiding contact with all other members of the family probably will prevent its spread. Itching may persist for a while after all of the parasites have been destroyed. But this will soon vanish. It should be pointed out, however, that if one prolific female is left she may start the chain of symptoms all over again. This is why the difficulty is often termed "seven year itch."

DIET AFTER INFECTION.

E. H. R. writes: What diet is advisable after a streptococcus infection?

REPLY.

Any type of infection may depress one's reserve substantially. Tissue building edibles will be needed and all classes of foodstuffs may be included. Small, frequent, balanced meals are advised. If the kidneys have not been damaged, rather more protein [meat] proportionately may be taken. A balanced menu will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SNEAKERS.

H. G. writes: Our 10 year old boy wants to wear tennis shoes all summer. Aren't the arches damaged without proper support?

REPLY.

No danger if the muscles of the feet are strong and the bones in correct position.

PECULIAR WALK.

J. L. writes: I have trouble walking. I stumble and act as tho I were drunk. What is wrong with me?

REPLY.

You are probably facing some disorder of the nerves or the spinal cord. A skilled physician may be able to help you.

CONGENITAL.

H. D. writes: What causes congenital heart disease?

REPLY.

One of the many puzzles confronting medical science. Some fault in the development of the embryo for which neither parent is to blame. We do not know.

LISTS SOME HYPHENATES.

Chicago, June 6.—The so-called fifth column activities in our country make me wonder why our government permits certain clubs and societies to operate under hyphenated names which in themselves show a split in the allegiance of the members.

A glance thru the Chicago telephone directory reveals the following, just a few of the type I have in mind:

All Belgians Are Equal club.
Alliance Francaise.
American Jugo-Slav society.
American Lithuanian club.
Armenian-American Citizen Club, Inc.
Danish-American Athletic Club, Inc.
Danish Glee club.
Danish Home club.
Finnish Workers club.
German-American club.
The German Club of Chicago.
Germania club.
Hungarian Workers club.
Italian Athletic club.
Norwegian-American Athletic association.
Polish Turners.
Swedish Club of Chicago.
Swiss clubhouse.

I do not believe it possible for any one to be a 100 per cent American and retain a membership in an organization that shows in its name that it still retains even a small allegiance to another country.

The time is ripe to enact laws to put an end to anything but 100 per cent American organizations within the borders of the United States.

WAR AND THE DEADLY SWAN.

Villa Park, Ill., June 6.—Mrs. A. E. F., who wrote about the killing of two tiny ducklings by a ferocious swan, no doubt is very sympathetic, but during times like these, when a horrible war is being waged against our neighboring countries, torturing and killing human beings, old men and women, and innocent children, why bring before the public the killing of a duckling by a swan?

Does Mrs. A. E. F. think of the B. E. F. when they were imprisoned in Germany's trap? Their ordeal must have been great, and if only the torture of those who died in the trap could have been as brief as that of the duckling, war would not be so ghastly.

LILLIAN PETERSEN.

A MACHINIST; NO JOB.

Chicago, June 4.—I have been reading lately that there is a serious shortage of machinists, lathe operators, etc.

I am one of many who have spent several hundred dollars and a great deal of time attending a trade school trying to fit themselves for a job in this line of work. After I spent about $600 and about 10 or 11 months in a widely advertised trade school in this city I find that employers of this kind of help will not give me any consideration when I apply for a job, altho they may be advertising for help.

Of course I committed the unpardonable crime of getting to be 35 years old. But I think a man of mature years who will spend time and money trying to learn a trade must want to work pretty badly, and should be given a chance.

LEWIS WILSON.

AN EXCUSE FOR A HOLIDAY.

Chicago, June 5.—On Monday I made a long trip to have my headlights rechecked at the safety lane at 68th and Cottage Grove avenue. Much to my surprise and to the annoyance of several other motorists, we found a sign on the door: "Closed today."

Closed for what reason? Because of a so-called "judicial election day." Why should these employés of the taxpayer have the day off and inconvenience dozens of motorists?

I WONDER.

ASKS PROTESTS BY WIRE.

Chicago, June 7.—I note your editorial, "We Need Our Guns." It is a silly idea to sell them until we have others to take their place.

Why not telegraph over a great big no to the idea to Washington?

H. G. WILSON.

NO DECISION ON WAR POLICY.

Chicago, June 7.—We appreciate the excellent reporting job done by The Tribune reporter on the incident of the talk by Dr. Curtis W. Reese and the withdrawal of Prof. Anton Carlson from the annual meeting of the Adult Education council June 5.

We have a letter from Dr. Carlson, dated May 27, saying he would be glad to speak on "Adult Education and the War Situation" at that meeting. This should clear up the question of Dr. Carlson's misapprehension regarding the subject to be discussed.

The council is a nonpartisan educational clearing house with 92 affiliated member agencies. It does not express opinions or take action on matters of public policy. It has expressed opinions and made recommendations on matters of educational policy as they affect its primary interest in the field of adult education.

As to any matter of public policy, it becomes the concern of the council to provide an opportunity for free, full discussion of the factors involved. Decisions are outside the sphere of the council's function. In view of the above statement of policy and practice it is obvious that Dr. Reese could not nor did he intend to declare the decision of the council on the problem of aid to the allies.

RALPH MCCALLISTER,
Director, Adult Education Council of Chicago.

THE ALLIES' GREATEST NEED.

VANCOUVER, Canada, June 6.—We in Canada have read with pride and appreciation articles in American newspapers expressing sympathy for the allied stand in France and Flanders. We are especially grateful for the response of the American Red Cross and the various other mercy services which you are performing on the battlefields.

Remembering the tragedy of Thiepval and Chateau-Thierry, we understand your natural reluctance to send your sons into the slaughter. We also understand how necessary it is to keep your great navy guarding the Pacific and other vital points.

What we cannot understand, however, is your government's air policy. The United States will never be attacked by air if Germany is decisively defeated in this war. A major contribution to this defeat — perhaps the greatest contribution—would be the immediate delivery of an armada of fighting and bombing aircraft to the hard-pressed allies to save France and England. Hence it would also be a first class defense of American skies. If your government, backed by the support of your splendidly democratic people, does not send this help now, it will be too late. Won't you please help?

ENGLISH-CANADIAN GIRL.

AN EMBARRASSED CONSUMER.

Cicero, Ill., June 6.—I agree with Mrs. Mary Gregory regarding the state sales tax, but what can the defenseless consumer alone do about it? Maybe there isn't a law compelling you to pay the tax, but you can't compel a store owner to sell to you, can you, if he insists that you pay the additional tax?

When the tax was first established I tried the argument that it was illegal and was embarrassed by the look of astonishment on the part of one storekeeper, making me feel that perhaps I had better go away somewhere for a nice long rest.

MRS. JAMES C. LUCAS.

ASKS FOR CHEERY BELLS.

Chicago, June 6.—Bells in the vicinity of Randolph and Dearborn streets toll on the hour, quarter, and half hour. They toll a few slow, mournful notes as if reluctantly announcing another few minutes gone for good—or for no good—depending on how one has spent them.

Sometimes the bells play a little tune, usually inappropriate, such as "Just a Song at Twilight," which was the 9 a. m. selection for a while. Now it is "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

There are several large clocks within a few blocks in that district and it is hard to tell where the sound of the bells comes from.

The man behind the bells could win friends and influence people by playing something lively, especially in midafternoon when the work is piled up and fatigue begins. The lugubrious sound of the bells adds to that depressed feeling. A peppy tune every hour might mean the difference between success and failure to some workers within earshot of the bells.

Why not play a few bars of "America"?

LET MR. BROWN MARCH TO CALAIS.

Chicago, June 8.—In your column this morning appeared a letter by a certain Harold Lincoln Brown, the "Voice from the Far West." He condemns us in no uncertain terms for our attitude toward Britain and France.

If Mr. Brown is so anxious to fight with England and France against Germany why doesn't he leave the far west and travel eastward to, let us say, Calais?

When Mr. Brown is in the first rank "standing shoulder to shoulder with the few surviving democracies," then, and only then, will march willingly, behind him in the second line, the son of a disabled world war veteran.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Chicago, May 30 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. In the case of a father and one of his children's name appearing on joint ownership of stocks, bonds, bank account, certificates of deposits in banks, etc., does this particular item come under taxation and is it considered part of the estate of the deceased? For instance, while the father may own all the stock and in order to get away from taxes he puts it in the names of one or two of his children, along with his own name. Later the father dies.

2. What is the procedure?

3. What change is made in the title of stock certificates?

4. How does this law apply in Pennsylvania?

G. A.

1. The one-half that passes by survivorship would be subject to inheritance tax if the total gift is large enough.
2. There should be an inheritance tax examination.
3. By satisfying the transfer officer as to the facts of death, and by presenting an inheritance tax release, the survivor could get a new certificate.
4. Pennsylvania law would be substantially the same on the points that you raise.

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 11, 1805

Detroit, oldest city of any size west of the seaboard colonies, almost entirely destroyed by fire. Only one home was left standing. As in other cities, the disaster provided an opportunity for almost complete replanning. The old division into narrow streets and small lots was abandoned, each citizen whose old homesite had been destroyed was given a much larger lot free, and streets were arranged to provide many parks.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With More Comfort

FASTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder, holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

DEWEY'S STRAW VOTE HEAVIEST IN RURAL AREAS

Tops G. O. P. in Indiana with 57 Per Cent.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Indiana returns in THE TRIBUNE'S preconvention presidential straw vote furnish some interesting divergencies between rural and industrial voting on the leading Republican and Democratic candidates. Total results from the straw canvass in 87 Indiana cities are embodied in today's tabulation, with a total of 28,183 straw ballots, marked by Republican and Democratic voters on the sole question, "Who is your choice for nomination for President?"

Today's batch of returns includes 7,129 straws. Tomorrow first returns from Iowa are to be published. The straw poll is being taken in four states—Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Minnesota.

Dewey Farm Vote Heaviest.

Results from the 87 Indiana cities and towns indicate that Thomas E. Dewey, New York candidate for the presidential nomination, in a general way draws a heavier Republican vote in the farming regions than in the industrial centers. In both rural and manufacturing regions he is ahead of the Republican field, with 57 per cent of the straws. Wendell L. Willkie, native Hoosier, who runs second with 17 per cent, draws his largest vote in the industrial centers.

President Roosevelt, the returns indicate, gets a heavier vote among Democrats in most industrial centers than in the rural regions. Roosevelt has almost 80 per cent of the total Democratic straws.

Both Dewey and Roosevelt are far ahead of the field in each of the 12 congressional districts.

How Indiana Politics Works.

In Indiana politics the congressional district is the chief subdivision of party politics and machinery. The state party organizations are set up on a district basis, with the district chairmen constituting the state committee. This, by law, is the highest party authority. In a primary such as the recent one leading up to the Republican state convention on May 24, the politicians were more absorbed with county and district chairmen than with anything else. Election of national delegates was secondary.

Indiana's 28 delegates to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia on June 24 were elected by the delegates to the state convention who had been elected at the primaries. There are two delegates from each congressional district and four at large. They are uninstructed.

Congressional districts thus having the importance they hold in Indiana politics, the straw votes when sorted out by districts are interesting:

Largest contributions listed were $5,000 each by F. E. Sullivan of San Francisco and Franklin S. Edmonds of White March, Pa. Among contributors of $4,000 were Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors corporation, and E. T. Weir, president of National Steel corporation.

50 Volunteer to Sign Alien Roster in Elgin

Fifty aliens, many of them now in the process of obtaining citizenship, registered yesterday with the city court clerk of Elgin. The registration followed an invitation by Mayor Myron M. Lehmans to all aliens to provide Elgin authorities with data so that an alien roster may be compiled. The registration is voluntary. Thru it, Mayor Lehmans pointed out, Elgin's foreign born are enabled to "acknowledge their support of the American form of government."

G. O. P. VICTORY URGED AS STEP TO SAVE NATION

Brooks Cites Peril Thru Spread of War.

Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator; Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, and Richard J. "We represent the amalgamation Illinois primaries last April, joined last night in an appeal for Republican victory next November for the salvation of the nation.

They and other winners and losers in the spring nominating contests were guests at a dinner of the Cook county division of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league in the Hotel Sherman. Approximately 1,000 veterans of the world war took part in what was considered a curtain raiser for the party's state convention in Springfield next Friday.

Brooks Stresses Causes.

Brooks in particular urged that patriotism demands support of the Republican party this year. The same thought was expressed by every speaker who touched on national issues, but Brooks stressed most clearly the extraordinary causes he said exist in the present world situation for a change of party control in Washington.

"I stand in awe as I realize the conditions today," said the senatorial nominee. "The world is on fire as it never has been on fire in your or my lifetime. We couldn't conceive that this could happen. Therefore we thought it was impossible."

He spoke of the people of the United States as the people of the whole world because they include representatives of all nationalities, races, and colors.

Cites Need of Strength.

"We represent the amalgamation of the hopes and dreams of the civilized world," he said. "Now we will have to prove to the world that this kind of a government can live. If there is a weakness in our form of government, it didn't come out during war. It came during the last seven years of incompetence and incapacity.

"For seven years we have had a blitzkrieg of our own. They have been dive bombing against American institutions, hammering down American industry and the American way of life. The fifth column couldn't exist if they had kept it out of Washington for the last seven years.

"The first arm of our national defense is the Republican party. We must call America back to it."

Fate at Stake, Says Lyons.

"Americanism and Republicanism go hand in hand," said Lyons. "That is emphatically true in 1940, because in 1940 we may decide the fate of the United States for the next thousand years."

"We've had a great deal of talk about a coalition cabinet," said Green, "about doing away with the two party system and about adjourning politics, and that means that the real question before the people of Illinois and the people of the United States is whether the American form of goverment is going to be preserved."

Green accused the Horner state administration of "turning the Illinois National Guard into a political football." He also charged that it had neglected the national defense by failing to provide an adequate aviation landing field at Camp Grant and ignoring the need of a seaplane base on Lake Michigan.

Edward A. Hayes of Decatur presided.

Inquest Exonerates Hotel Manager in Fatal Beating

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Dan Gordon, 39 years old, manager of the Pinegate hotel, 557 Surf street, in the death of Robert Williams, 26, a guest. According to testimony Williams struck a clerk in the hotel lobby and then started after Gordon. Gordon hit Williams with a baseball bat. The fray occurred Saturday night. Williams died on Sunday.

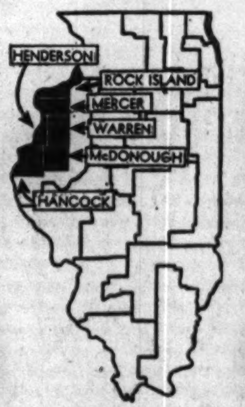
KILLED BY TRAIN AT GILMAN.

Gilman, Ill., June 10 (AP).—James Shields, 58 years old, was killed yesterday when a train hit him while he was walking across the Illinois Central tracks. A son, Russell, was killed in the same manner 21 years ago at Tolono.

14th District G. O. P. Delegates

This is the third in a series of sketches of downstate district delegates to the Republican national convention who will share the task of picking the G. O. P. candidate for President. The delegates from the 14th [Rock Island] district are the subjects of today's sketches.

Clarence F. Buck.



14th district [solid black].

Walter A. Rosenfield.

Clarence Frank Buck has been prominent in his party's affairs thruout a long career. He was born in Monmouth June 6, 1870, and worked as a farmer, stock raiser, and banker. As a young man he took an active part in local and county politics. Before the world war he was elected state senator from the 32d district, serving two terms. He was co-author of the state banking law.

In 1923 Buck was appointed director of finance for the United States shipping board. He resigned in 1924 to become collector of customs for the port of Chicago.

Two years later he quit that job to take charge of the state auditor's Chicago office. In 1928 he devoted his full time to managing the presidential campaign of Frank O. Lowden. He was a delegate at large to the national G. O. P. convention that year.

The next year Gov. Emmerson named Buck state director of agriculture. He resigned in 1930 to run for state treasurer, winning the nomination, but was defeated in the November election. In 1931 he declined President Hoover's appointment as collector of internal revenue for the 1st district.

Buck is the father of four daughters and a son. His home is at 124 South 10th street, Monmouth.

Walter A. Rosenfield has been active in politics for many years and gained convention experience at several G. O. P. national conclaves. He was a delegate at large to the 1912 convention and was district delegate in 1916 and 1924.

He was born in Rock Island in 1877. He is married and has two children. The Rosenfield home is at 1420 47th avenue, Rock Island.

Rosenfield has been interested in politics for most of his life. His first elective office was won in 1912, when he was chosen 14th district member of the Republican state central committee, a post he occupied until 1926.

He was elected mayor of Rock Island in 1923, serving two terms, until 1927.

Rosenfield volunteered for army service in the Mexican border campaign in 1916 and was a major in the army thruout the world war.

He is treasurer of the Rock Island Bridge and Iron works.

EGG DEALER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Edward Lask, 46 years old, head of the Calumet Poultry and Egg company, 9001 Baltimore avenue, was found shot thru the heart in his office yesterday. A pistol lay beside him. Police said Lask, who lived at 10742 Avenue H, had been in financial difficulties. He leaves his widow and two children.

TILE UNION SIGNS ANTITRUST LAW CONSENT DECREE

Aids U. S. Program to Police Industry.

In an action without precedent, the Bricklayers', Masons', and Plasterers' International Union of America, and the Tile Contractors' Association of America yesterday signed consent decrees binding them to police the tile industry and giving victory to the government in the drive against alleged monopolistic practices in the building industry.

Judge Michael L. Igoe.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe issued the decrees restraining 31 defendants, including the union and the contractors' group, from violating the Sherman antitrust law. Sixteen of the indicted manufacturing concerns and officials refused to sign, but indicated they would do so later. They were granted a week's continuance.

Arnold Hails Victory.

Thurman Arnold, assistant United States attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, came from Washington, D. C., to present the decree with his Chicago assistant, Leo F. Tierney.

Arnold said the action is especially important since it comes at a time when the nation is preparing a huge defense program and needs coöperation of labor and employer.

Now that the consent decrees have been signed, the government may proceed with a civil suit for a permanent injunction making the defendants subject to contempt of court penalties if they violate their provisions.

Opposed by A. F. of L.

The American Federation of Labor, with which the bricklayers' international is affiliated, has opposed all such proceedings, contending unions are not subject to the antitrust law.

Practices enjoined are conspiracy to restrict the sale of tile, circulation of black lists, withholding of labor, intimidating of contractors, requiring terms of one person not required of another, and imposing penalties to keep prices up.

500 NEGRO TAXI DRIVERS STRIKE OVER CAB RENTS

In a protest over cab rental rates, 500 Negro taxi drivers went on strike yesterday. The walkout was called by John Patrick, president of the Bronzeville Chauffeur's Safety club, whose members operate the 10 cents a passenger cabs in Michigan avenue and South Parkway.

Joseph Attwell, attorney for the club, said the men voted Sunday night to call a strike if the executive board could not reach an agreement with the cab owners for lower rentals. The drivers pay $4.70 to $7 per day with another $1 added for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. They are required to pay for gasoline and oil, which must be bought from the cab owners, and are responsible for damage done to the cabs, according to Attwell.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? White bread, meat, potatoes? It's little wonder you're constipated. You probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It's a kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a movement. If this is your trouble, may we suggest a crunchy toasted cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—for breakfast. All-Bran is a natural food, not a medicine—but it's particularly rich in "bulk." Being so, it can help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Eat All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

• Accurate temperature control makes meals look better—taste better—sell better

Restaurant owners are enthusiastic about the modern Electric Fry Kettle, because it provides positive heat control. Always maintains the exact temperature to prevent excessive absorption of fat and loss of flavor... to cook and color each food perfectly. Accurate heat control also eliminates overheating and consequent waste... reduces cooking odors... preserves fat so it can be used over and over again.

Start now to cook with electricity

The Electric Fry Kettle and all electric cooking equipment gives you easy, exact temperature control. And the new low alternating current rate now in effect makes electric cooking more economical than ever. For complete information, call RANdolph 1200.

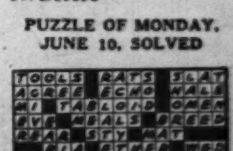
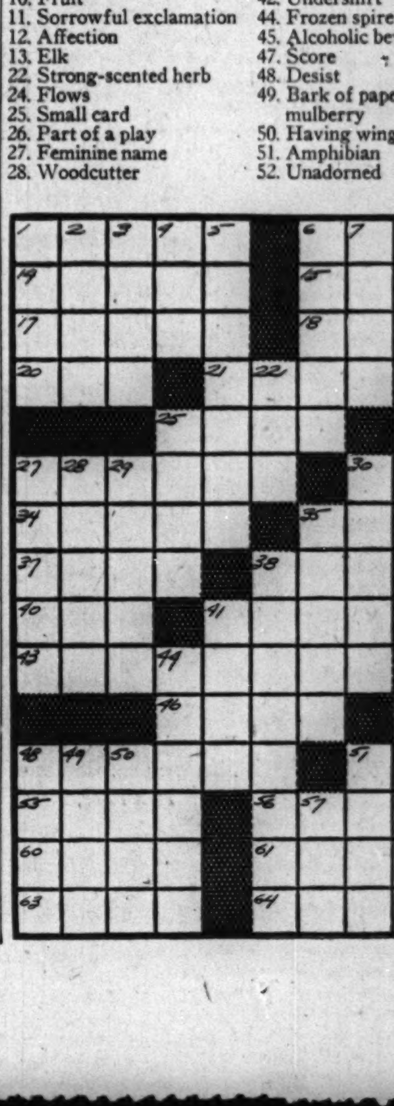
PUZZLE OF MONDAY, JUNE 10, SOLVED





STOP HITLER NOW!

WE AMERICANS have naturally wished to keep out of this war—to take no steps which might lead us in. But—

We now know that every step the French and British fall back brings war and world revolution closer to US—our country, our institutions, our homes, our hopes for peace.

Hitler is striking with all the terrible force at his command. His is a desperate gamble, and the stakes are nothing less than domination of the whole human race.

If Hitler wins in Europe—if the strength of the British and French armies and navies is forever broken—the United States will find itself alone in a barbaric world—a world ruled by Nazis, with "spheres of influence" assigned to their totalitarian allies. However different the dictatorships may be, racially, they all agree on one primary objective: "Democracy must be wiped from the face of the earth."

The world will be placed on a permanent war footing. Our country will have to pile armaments upon armaments to maintain even the illusion of security. We shall have no other business, no other aim in life, but primitive self-defense. We shall exist only under martial law—or the law of the jungle. Our economic structure will have to be adjusted to that of our gangster competitors. We shall have to change ourselves from easy-going individuals into a "dynamic race."

"Government of the people, by the people, for the people"—if Hitler wins, this will be the discarded ideal of a decayed civilization.

Is this "Alarmism"? Then so is the challenging scream of an air-raid siren, warning civilians that death is coming from the skies. We have ample cause for deepest alarm. It should impel us, not to hysteria, but to resolute action.

It is obvious that there is no immediate danger of direct invasion of the United States. Hitler doesn't strike directly when he doesn't have to. He edges up on his major victims, approaching through the territory of small and defenseless neighbors.

We have twenty-one neighbors in this hemisphere, in addition to the colonial possessions of Britain, France, Holland and Denmark. We must not forget that however wide the Atlantic and Pacific oceans may be, the Canadian and Mexican borders are no barriers to invasion.

The Monroe Doctrine is not an automatic safety catch, securing the entrance to our hemisphere from all intruders. We have to enforce it—all the way from Greenland and Alaska to Cape Horn. Furthermore, we have to guard night and day against the manifold enemies from within. We can not ignore the fact that Trojan horses are grazing in all the fertile fields of North and South America.

The Western Hemisphere contains the richest territory for exploitation on earth today. And the international gangsters want it. They have already started the process of taking it. For many years the agents of the Nazis have been effectively at work in Latin America, gaining ground by persuasion, bribery, intimidation. They have been fighting a trade war and a political war; and what we have lately seen in Norway and Holland and Belgium proves to us that these agents are ready to fight a military war when the orders come through from home.

THE FIFTH COLUMN

is led in this as in other countries by Nazis and Communists and their fellow travellers who are well trained in the dissemination of poisonous propaganda. Their object is to destroy national unity, to keep the United States in a state of confusion over all world issues so that we will be weak and helpless when our time comes. All Americans should beware the prevailing Nazi-Communist propaganda which attempts to capitalize our desire for peace by opposing all our moves toward national defense—sabotaging all aid to the Allies—preaching that Hitler has already won and we must meekly appease him.

"Divide—and conquer!" has been the Nazi watchword in the insidious invasion of all countries. The preliminary work of division has been carried on here with devastating success.

We can and should and will devote ourselves to a vast program of defense. But we must not try to fool ourselves into thinking that security can be bought. It will be achieved only by unity of purpose among ourselves, by the spirit of sacrifice that we can summon from our own hearts and minds. Overwhelming destiny will not be stopped "with the help of God and a few Marines".

This is a job for all of us! It will take years for us to build the necessary machines and to train the men who will run them. Will the Nazis considerately wait until we are ready to fight them?

Anyone who argues that they will wait is either an imbecile or a traitor.

How long shall we wait before making it known to Hitler and the masters of all the slave states that we are vitally concerned in the outcome of this war—that we would consider a victory for them an unmitigated calamity for civilization?

Whatever our feelings about the tragic mistakes of statesmanship in England and France we know now that the free people of those nations are willing to fight with inspiring heroism to defend their freedom. We know now that such men will die rather than surrender. But the stoutest hearts can not survive forever in the face of superior numbers and infinitely superior weapons.

There is nothing shameful in our desire to stay out of war, to save our youth from the dive bombers and the flame throwing tanks in the unutterable hell of modern warfare.

But is there not an evidence of suicidal insanity in our failure to help those who now stand between us and the creators of this hell?

WE CAN HELP—IF WE WILL ACT NOW

—before it is forever too late.

We can help by sending planes, guns, munitions, food. We can help to end the fear that American boys will fight and die in another Flanders, closer to home.

The members of our government are your servants. In an emergency as serious as this, they require the expression of your will. They must know that the American people are not afraid to cast off the hypocritical mask of neutrality, which deceives no one, including ourselves.

Send a postcard, a letter, or a telegram, at once*—to the President of the United States, to your Senators and your Congressmen—urging that the real defense of our country must begin NOW—with aid to the Allies!

The United States of America is still the most powerful nation on earth—and the United States of America is YOU!

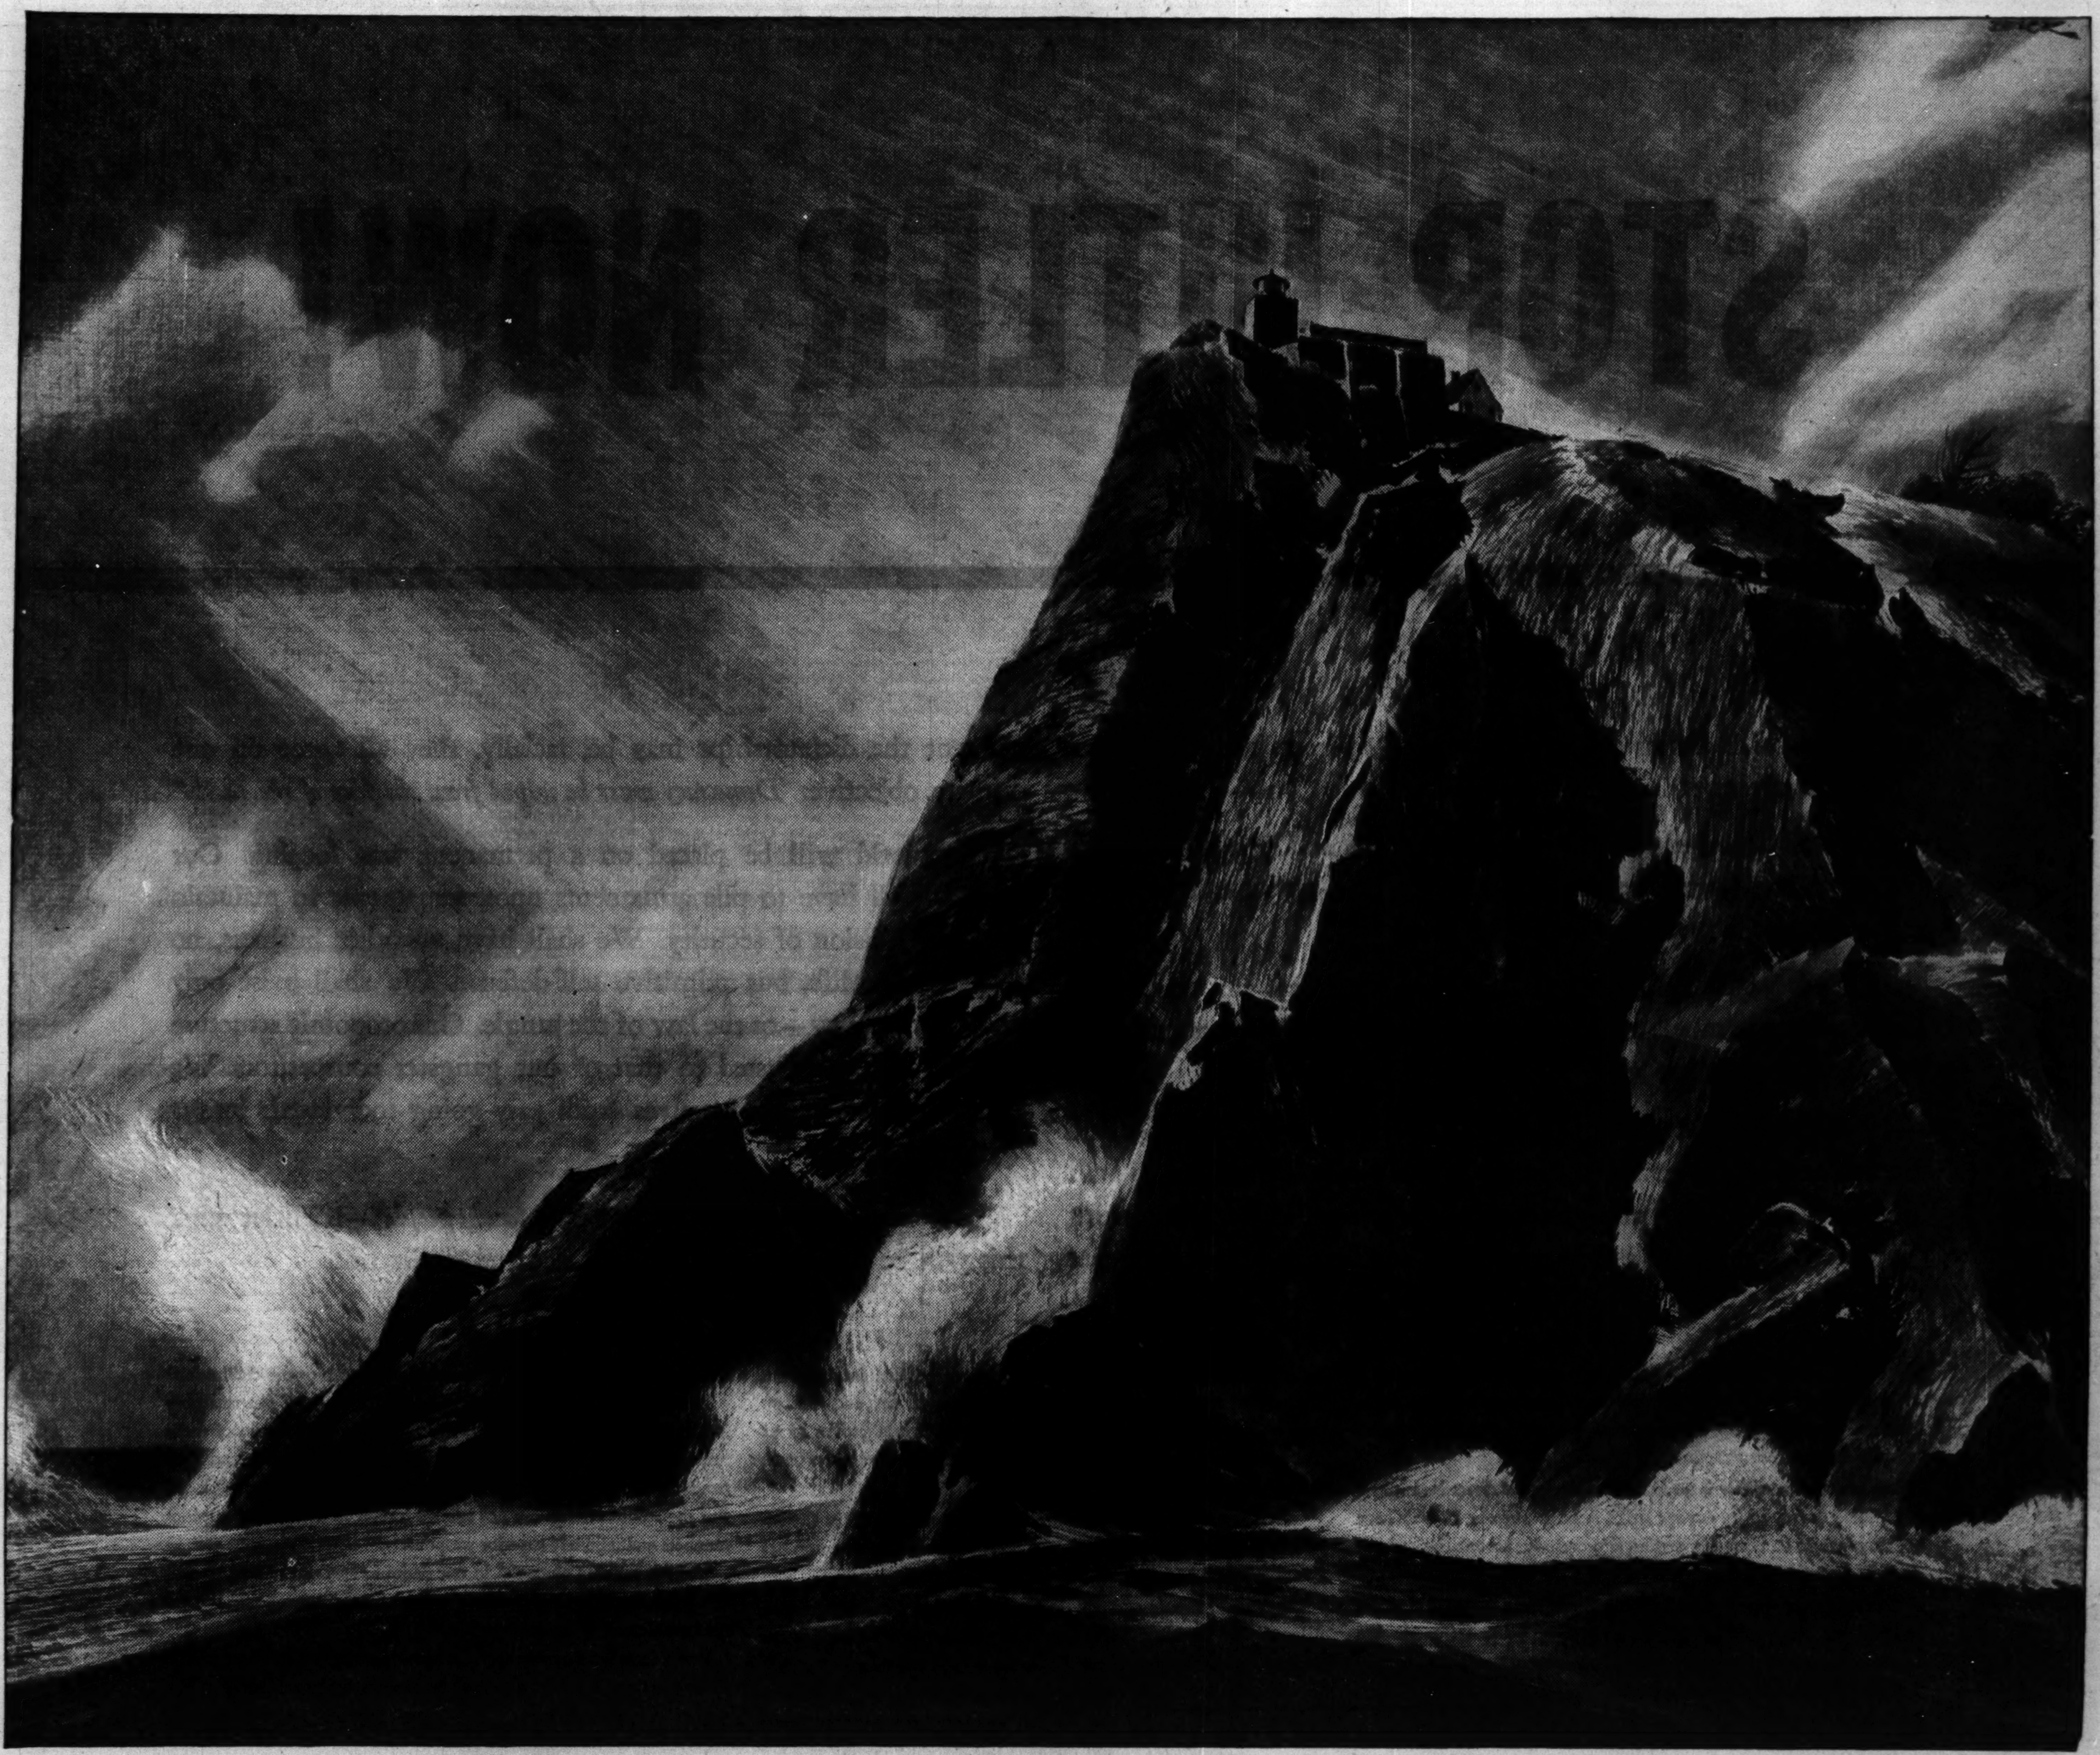
IN A DICTATORSHIP, THE GOVERNMENT TELLS THE PEOPLE WHAT TO DO. BUT—THIS IS A DEMOCRACY—WE CAN TELL THE GOVERNMENT WHAT TO DO. EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT AS A FREE CITIZEN.

TELL YOUR PRESIDENT—YOUR SENATORS—YOUR CONGRESSMEN—THAT YOU WANT THEM TO HELP THE ALLIES TO STOP HITLER NOW!



Built on the rock

Think of any outstanding business success, and you think of a business founded on customer faith and good will — built on the rock of public confidence.

A business standing out above the rise and fall of competition . . . weathering the waves of passing fads and fancies . . . holding a high place in the regard and respect of the people it serves, as the years come and go.

Against such successful businesses there is always the impatient clamor of competitive claims, attempts to measure up to the leader.

To appraise a newspaper's effectiveness, the advertiser must know how the newspaper built its circulation. How deeply its growth is rooted in the life and interests of its community. How well its editors understand the minds and hearts of its readers. How its circulation is obtained.

In Philadelphia, during the thirty-five years that The Evening Bulletin has led all newspapers in daily circulation, there have been many changes. Political changes, business changes, changes in the relative positions of secondary newspapers.

One thing in Philadelphia has remained unchanged, however—the leadership of The Evening Bulletin. Every year since 1905 The Bulletin has continued to lead in daily circulation among newspaper readers in Philadelphia.

Never in all that period of thirty-five years of leadership has a premium been given to subscribers to influence the natural choice of The Evening Bulletin.

That is why it is one of the most thoroughly read metropolitan newspapers in America. Every copy of its large circulation represents a voluntary purchase brought about solely by the reader interest of its pages.

The fact that The Evening Bulletin delivers the advertiser's message to more homes than any other Philadelphia newspaper is only one element of its advertising power. The advertiser's message has the added power of a completely voluntary circulation, reaching the home in the afternoon and evening when the entire family has time for thorough reading of a newspaper that stands first in the confidence of Philadelphians.

The Evening Bulletin brings these advantages to the advertiser at one of the lowest costs per reader anywhere. Consult your advertising agency.

Don't Snatch Objects from Baby's Grasp

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The marvelous, delicate, intricate use we make of our hands is one of the things which sets us far apart from the lower animals.

Consider your baby's hands. Little fat, starfish hands, or perhaps slender and fragile looking ones, they're the open sesame to the world into which he's been born. They're so much more than just part of his anatomy. They're wonderful, sensitive tools for him to use in learning to live.

For that reason I dislike seeing a mother snatch something from her baby's hand, or use her strength to unclasp his firm little grip on something he wants and intends to keep.

It is possible to bring a child thru his babyhood and little childhood without ever taking from him forcibly the things he shouldn't have. This is not theory. I have personal proof of it.

Now perhaps you think this isn't a matter of any importance, but it is. Just the way in which you get a baby to part with the thing he's grasping, and wants with all his might but must not have, is an important thing. It's important in its effect on him, and it is a symbol of your attitude toward him.

It's important, for one thing, because it draws the contrast between force and intelligence. Just watch a baby when he's being forcibly deprived of something. See his face get red with anger or resistance, and watch his frantic, leech-like clutch.

Or listen to his howl when something is suddenly snatched from him.

Or if he's used to that treatment and he's quick to sense your intention, see him "beat it" in the opposite direction as fast as he can with the forbidden object, sometimes to come to grief against a table or be hurt by the thing itself.

On the other hand, your baby or tiny child senses what might be called your physical respect for him if you don't use those tactics, and he instinctively responds to that.

"Give it to me, baby," said in a friendly voice with outstretched hand will almost always do the trick if you start that way with him. An explanation can be understood extremely early—if not by words, sometimes by voice or pantomine.

Except in extremity, depend on a calm "Give it to me, baby," without touching the thing he holds.

LOVELY AMAZON.

The lady's known thruout the town.
Enveloped in black velvet gown
That's smartly spangled, diamond-strewn,
She comes upon us, silent-shoon.
Identified by brooch, moon-pearled,
The lady's known thruout the world.
Yet no one's ever glimpsed her face
Behind her black mantilla lace.
She is an amazon, for sure.
Perhaps she is a blackamoor.
She never ventures forth in light
Of day. Her name? She's known as Night.

No. 1 Glamor Girl of the '90s.

Every so often there is a little flurry over the discovery of a Florodora Sextette girl. Chicago's Paul Stone comes forward with the information that he was a Florodora Sextette man during the days of its success at the New York Casino, and as such has fond memories of the period embalmed in celluloid in Lillian Russell, appearing currently in the loop. Mr. Stone also knew Miss Russell and has a collection of kodak pictures he values, taken one day when he was her guest at her summer home at Ventnor, N. J. "Miss Russell was 52 years old then and was shortly to be married to Alexander Moore," said Mr. Stone.

The New York café life of the period emphasized in the picture was not brought out as fully or magnificently as it might have been—Rector's, Shanley's, Martin's, Delmonico's, the Waldorf, Mr. Stone believes. Miss Russell's carriage to and from the theater, her footman, and other things that would have added atmosphere were omitted. "Her Lady Teazle costume would have been wonderful for Miss Faye and I would have liked seeing a scene at the card table with Weber and Fields in Hoity Toity, Miss Russell as a social favorite in Pittsburgh after marrying Moore, and a shot of her in her Red Cross costume she wore during the war," added Mr. Stone.

Warning! Child Stories!

Friends had children's stories to offer over the week-end: There was, for instance, the city child who, taken to the country for the first time, saw a windmill and cried: "O, look at the big mixmaster."

Invitations Out for Wedding of Helen Gillette

BY JUDITH CASS.

INVITATIONS were mailed yesterday to the marriage on July 6 of Miss Helen Gillette and Charles A. Chapin, son of Henry K. Chapin. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock, central standard time, in the garden of the summer home of the bride's father, Edwin F. Gillette, and her aunt, Mrs. William Shippen Jenks, at Lake Beulah, Wis. The Rev. Dudley Stark will officiate.

Mrs. Howard Austin Will will be her sister's only attendant and Henry K. Chapin Jr. will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be Gordon Howard and Carl G. Bingham Jr. Mr. Gillette, who will come east from his home in Pasadena, the week before the wedding, will give his daughter in marriage. The bride's aunt, Mrs. H. H. Irwin of Brookdale, Cal., will arrive next Saturday to remain until after the wedding. Mrs. Will leaves the day her aunt arrives for Pasadena, where she is to be a bridesmaid at the marriage on June 25 of Miss Margaret Halsted and Clarence Seamans.

Miss Halsted was a bridesmaid for Marietta Gillette when she and Mr. Will were married several years ago. Miss Gillette has been living in Chicago with her aunt, Mrs. Jenks.

Invitations Received for Peter-Gardner Wedding.

Invitations have been received to the marriage of Miss Christine Elizabeth Peter and John Hoyt Gardner, son of Mrs. Frank G. Gardner of Highland Park, which will take place on June 22 in Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. The service will be read at 4:30 o'clock in the garden of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Christian Peter, with a reception following.

Mrs. Gardner and her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Dorothy Gardner and Page J. Tribodeaux Jr., are going to Grosse Pointe Farms next Monday for the last of the prenuptial parties. Barrett K. Mason of Highland Park is to be Mr. Gardner's best man. The Chicagoans among the ushers will be Thomas Creigh, Everett Mills, John Harmon Jr., and Robert Hogue.

Mrs. Gardner, her daughter, and Page are leaving for California July 15 to spend two years or more there. They have leased their Highland Park home and expect to settle in Palo Alto.

Mrs. William F. Peter and her daughters, who have been spending the winter in Buenos Aires, are not expected at home in Lake Forest until about June 25, so they will not be here in time for the marriage of Miss Christine Peter, Mr. Peter's niece. Miss Phyllis Peter has decided to stay in Buenos Aires to continue her music, but Miss Sylvia Peter and Marion will come home with their mother.

Engagement Announced of Jeanette Schreiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oswald Schreiner of North State street announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette, to Dawson Larrimore Newton of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Marquis Newton of San Marino, Cal., and Long Island, N. Y. Miss Schreiner has been living in New York for the last two years, studying dress design. Her sister, Miss Lura, who has been living in New York also, is returning to Chicago next week to spend a month with her parents. The Newton-Schreiner wedding is planned for the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyndham Hasler [Cornelia Ranney] became the parents of a son, their first child, yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby is a grandson of the George A. Ranneys and of Mrs. Edward L. Hasler.

At the annual spring meeting of the Service club yesterday at the Glen View club it was announced that the club's annual fall revue would be given on Nov. 9 at the Auditorium theater. Rehearsals will start on Oct. 14. Miss Jean Kellogg will assist Mrs. Richard Vanderwarker, production chairman. In charge of advertising will be Mrs. F. Osborne Elliott and Miss Peggy Sargent, assisted by Mrs. George Bates and Mrs. George Cain.

California Bride Coming to Chicago

[Kirkpatrick Photo.]

Mrs. Kenneth Hempstead Hess will be coming to Chicago as a bride in a few weeks. Miss Georgia Sargent Clifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert George Clifford of Pasadena, was married to the son of the Kenneth Miner Hesses on June 5 in Pasadena. Mr. Hess and his bride will live in Wayne, where his parents reside.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids

Hollywood, Cal., June 10.—In the movies, the good men always beat the bad men. The Hays office insists upon that, and villains and other sinister forces expire no later than reel 8. The European war has not been conducted according to the Hays office. The bad men have been beating the good men, and enslaving them as they've done with Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Finland, Holland, and Belgium, and as they threaten to do with France and England when and if the opportunity arises.

Despite the Hays office, it is history that if the bad men have guns, they will beat the good men who have failed to get guns, and that is what has happened this time. It is largely up to you kids to see that that does not happen here, because I'm quite certain that as the Spaniards phrase it, it is better to die on your feet than live on your knees.

By the grace of God, we live under the American flag. It is a piece of bunting, covered with stars and stripes that represent 164 years of the American way of living. Under that flag and for that flag, many men have made enormous sacrifices even to the extent of surrendering their lives for it. Plain, every day men from farms and offices and mills and factories who wanted to live and yet accepted death because that was the only way, at the time, of continuing the ideals for which that flag stands.

It is entirely possible that you kids may be called upon to defend that same flag. It is important that if the occasion develops you should be armed as well, if not better, than those who will attack you. The kids of Poland, Belgium, Holland, France and England were betrayed by their elder statesmen, fatuous old men who could not bring themselves to believe that a barking dog often bites. These elder statesmen therefore made no preparations and the kids were led to a slaughter. It is up to you kids to insist that our elder statesmen do not make the same error. Insist that the United States of America give you an even-Stephen chance of survival.

Beware now, you kids, of those imbeciles who will argue against military training for all of us. Beware of those false counsellors who will oppose complete armament. Beware of those who will urge upon us as a nation a policy of appeasement. Beware, in other words, of any individual or any group of individuals who propose to hamstring you in preparing for a fight for life and liberty.

Once upon a time we had two great generals on our side: Gen. Atlantic and Gen. Pacific. Invention has wiped them out. Insist, you kids, that the elder statesmen of American compensate for the loss of those two important generals by the greatest air fleet and the greatest naval fleets that it is within our power to assemble.

If you can drum this thought home to your fathers, the United States will be so strong that no power or combination of powers will be able to intimidate us. The record books show that we can give cards and spades to any nation or nations in the world, if we are prepared and if we are trained.

The United States wins every Olympic game. We win every golf championship. Hollywood pictures make those of every other nation appear amateurish. Our airplanes are the finest that are manufactured. In steel, coal, oil, wheat, and cotton we have no competitors. American automobiles have no competition. In other words, when we are trained for anything, and when we put our minds to it, there is no nation in the world who comes dangerously close to it.

Tell your mothers and fathers, you kids of America, that you want an even chance of living. If war is to come, be trained for it, and above all, be armed for it.

Newest Beach Outfits a Sure Cure for Gloom

BY REA SEEGER.

Nothing like a shopping binge to cure the jitters! No matter how you acquire such a state of mind, a new hat usually dispels the gloom. Some sink their cash supply in frivolous nightgowns, and this summer the finds are fully guaranteed to revive the wilting spirits of the most dejected soul. New housecoats or a summer negligee are other articles to restore a blithe outlook. The present collections of costume jewelry in delicate pastels or snowy white would likewise change the color of the sky.

You can't equal the 1940 swim suits and beach togs for brilliance. The reds are fire red, the blues the same shade as an Italian lake, the husky old gold satin lastex numbers will lift the most sunken morale. The striped beach coats can be seen for miles along any beach or coastline.

Sun tanned Lorelei will not be able to resist the gleam of white satin or the slightly naughty flesh pink or fragile blues, and the coppertops will gloat over all the stunning shades of green and carbon blue.

The best news about all these collections is that understanding promoters have hauled the loot downstairs in most shops where you can shop when time means something. Or if you're just lukewarm on the notion of living out of doors all summer long, these gay and gaudy showings will fire your enthusiasm, and you'll buy while the urge is working at top speed. Big, floppy beach hats are here by the dozens, and when you say big it's a mild understatement. A couple of persons find shelter under one of these spreading discs of straw or linen and welcome a third without straining the hospitality.

Rousing 'Ballad for Americans' Wins Acclaim

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The tempest of applause that blew thru the Studebaker theater last night was primarily a tribute to the men and women who had just given such a rousing, rollicking performance of Earl Robinson's "Ballad for Americans."

But it is not too sentimental to believe that the applause was also a tribute to America itself—to that aspect of America which these grave times have at last made clear to us all. For in this brave ballad there is presented, with the rugged naïveté characteristic of folk music, a picture of an America that started out with a simple, and to many a silly idea, and that is making that idea work a little better with each generation. The idea, of course, is the freedom and the equality of man.

The ballad starts with Washington, Franklin, Revere, and company, progresses to Lincoln and the civil war, then to the present day. It is humorous, often rowdy, always infectious. Toward the end is a diverting picture of the composite American, the "nobody who is everybody," the English-Negro-Scotch-Irish-Russian-German-Italian individual who is a faithful Catholic-Protestant-Jewish-Seventh Day Adventist and who spends his [her] life running a corporation, cleaning streets, operating a beauty shop, playing an instrument, pounding a typewriter, and caring for a home.

The performance last night was a triumph for Raymund Koch, who brought to the part of the soloist not only a splendidly textured baritone voice, but also a great gift for apt characterization and for an infectious, earthy type of humor. He was very well supported by a mixed chorus, and by the Illinois Symphony orchestra. Leo Kopp, the conductor, saw to it that nothing of the piece's verve was lost.

Earlier in the evening Saul Dorfman, resident pianist, was presented in the solo part of Beethoven's third concerto. He played vigorously and fluently, and articulated his phrases so well that they were always intelligible. The whole impression which he made would have been very favorable had he not introduced a fantastically inappropriate cadenza in the first movement.

At the Civic Opera house this afternoon the Chicago Opera company will begin its auditions for actual parts [as distinguished from the auditions held some months ago for places in the chorus.] Applications for a hearing in this new series of auditions will be accepted up to next Saturday.

The Chicago division of the National Piano Playing tournament, which was held at the Stevens hotel, ended yesterday. In eight days 302 players were heard.

The Stage

"Hell and Paradise," an experimental three act play about contemporary Europe by Eric Eisner, will be given its première on Wednesday and be repeated on Saturday in the Woman's Club theater under the auspices of the Chicago Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Mr. Eisner, a Czech playwright and director, has staged the production and will be one of the actors.

Chicagoans Urged to Give Generously to City's Own Needy

While the vast tragedy of homeless millions in warring Europe moves America to generous giving, Chicago citizens are reminded by the United Charities that, in a peaceful land also, dire poverty is a cruel enemy in crippling young bodies. In the slums of this city there still are thousands of undernourished, ailing children and pale mothers. On the Fox river is Camp Algonquin, the summer retreat offering health to the needy in the measure of the generosity of more fortunate neighbors.

Two gifts were added yesterday to the Camp Algonquin fund. The Delta Phi club sent $10. An unnamed parent gave $5 "in memory of a little son." With previously acknowledged gifts amounting to $58.64, the total received is $73.64.

The same anonymous parent left $5 for the Free Ice fund, which now has $15 in its treasury. Both funds are administered by the United Charities. Donations should be sent to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Knowing she has but a few months to live, Madge Darmeny gathers her family about her so she can select the most deserving heir, unbeknown to them. She is a childless widow, and Amelia Pennyfeather, a distant cousin, has been living with her for years. Her nearest kin is her own niece, Leda, and the next in line are Frank and Geoffry, nephews of her husband. Leda is married to Frank but in love with Geoffry. Eight year old Betsy is Frank's child by a former marriage, and she and her stepmother dislike each other very much. Madge's secretary, Shirley Westall, is acting as governess for Betsy. On the pretense she has to retrench, Madge has her family come live with her on her large estate. She confides to her solicitor, Alfred Barnes, of her plans. He tells her of Geoffry's latest scrape. He gave a bad check for a diamond bracelet. Madge has always overlooked Geoffry's debts and escapades because he has been able to get around her with his charming ways, but when Leda shows up with a diamond bracelet, saying a girl friend gave it to her, Madge becomes suspicious of both Geoffry and Leda. Frank is an old friend of Shirley's father, and one day while visiting him, Frank sees Shirley and realizes she reminds him of his first wife and that he loves her. On his way home Betsy tells her father that Geoffry gave Leda the bracelet. Frank trails Leda and Geoffry to a friend's apartment and finds them in the midst of a drunken party. He orders Leda home, she refuses, and Geoffry starts a fight, but Frank knocks him down and takes Leda home. Madge sees them come in and knows something is wrong. When Geoffry arrives later, Madge lectures him and tells him he should settle down. She suggests that he marry Shirley, and he, playing up to his aunt, agrees. The next day he breaks a date with Leda and takes Shirley to the races. Leda is furious and tries to get Frank to take her there, too. He refuses.

INSTALMENT XIV.

THE OTHER WOMAN.

As tho in answer to prayer, as Leda sat on the balustrade kicking her heels, Marta Shott and her special boy friend, a rather sissified old bachelor named Mervin Longworth, drove up in Marta's powerful roadster.

Marta had been a little anxious about Leda when they got to Ashmartin and discovered that Geoffry was there with a beautiful stranger.

Leda, of course, didn't tell her the truth. She made it appear that she had been disinclined to go, at first—owing to trouble with Frank—and that Geoffry, for lack of better company, had taken Aunt Madge's secretary.

But now she'd like to go—yes, indeed, she would. There was plenty of room for three in Marta's car.

And then something happened that rather spoiled Leda's story. The fishing party chose that moment to reappear. Perhaps Frank had realized that he owed something to Leda; or perhaps the thought of Geoffry and Shirley had overpowered him.

However it was, Leda was on the point of squeezing herself in between Marta and Mervin Longworth, when up rattled Frank's disgraceful little car with Betsy in the antique rumble seat, looking sulky but resigned.

"We came back for you," Frank said, greeting Leda's friends with an off-hand nod. "We decided we could postpone our fishing trip and take you to the Point-to-Points. Cast out the tackle, Betsy."

Betsy threw the rods and nets overboard, with no good grace.

"Uncle Geoffry played you up, didn't he, mummy?" Betsy said maliciously. "Now you can pay him out for going off with Shirley like that."

Marta Shott tittered and threw an uncertain glance at Frank.

Leda turned a dark, unbecoming crimson.

"It was very sweet of you to come back, Frank, but quite unnecessary," she said.

"I told him that," piped Betsy. "I told him you'd find somebody to take you, mummy, even if Uncle Geoffry——"

Leda gave her a furious look.

"Will you kindly keep quiet?" she said.

"Yes, Bettikins, you seem to be having a lot to say. Get in, Leda," said Frank.

He could almost feel Leda's mind wavering, but Marta Shott decided for her.

"Get back in, Mervin. See you over at Ashmartin, Leda. There's a mob, but we'll find you somehow."

Mervin hopped in, Marta waved, and they roared off.

Leda bit her lip angrily as she took her seat in the little old car beside her husband.

Frank felt almost sorry for her. It was hard for her to suffer mortification. And Betsy had done it. Betsy, in fact, was always doing it, whenever those two came within arm's reach of each other.

The Point-to-Points stretched over rough country, and the whole course was four miles, but there were shorter events on the program. The crowd was spread out accordingly. There was no grandstand. A few tents had been erected for refreshments, but almost everybody brought their own lunch.

Frank Darmeny's car was by no means conspicuous for its age and shabbiness. Every type of vehicle was here, from the char-a-bancs that brought sightseers from Folkestone and Canterbury, to farmers' carts and bicycles, and any amount of local people came on Shank's mare.

They straggled along the whole course, but the biggest crowd was congregated in the vicinity of the winning post, where the bookmakers had set up an improvised ring.

Ordinarily Betsy Darmeny would have been wildly excited at the privilege of attending anything so interesting, but today she was perverse. She might not have been aware of it, herself, but one of her chief instincts was to come between her father and her stepmother. When Leda entered Frank's life, Betsy was ousted. She had struggled hard to get him back, but so far the odds had been against her.

Lately, however, with her clever child's intuition, she saw a chance, but today had proved a setback. Leda had won over her again; it was because of Leda that they were at the Point-to-Points, and consequently the race-meeting was a defeat for young Betsy.

But in view of the picnic gala, the horses, and the pure rustic fun, it was going to be very hard for her to keep up her attitude of disapproval. Especially as she spotted her friends, the Mortgage children, at once.

And Frank and Leda very soon spotted Geoffry and Shirley. Frank ran his car into a space between a char-a-banc and a touring car, before he saw that Geoffry had parked on the other side of the touring car.

Betsy scrambled down and darted off immediately, hoping that her father would notice and be as hurt by her desertion as she was by what he had done.

Frank got down and helped Leda out.

Geoffry and Shirley Westall were down by the fence that bordered the course. They were standing close together and Geoffry seemed absorbed in his slender companion.

Frank, noting Leda's hot, hungry gaze, suspected for the first time that what little he had seen with his own eyes and heard as gossip thru the medium of Betsy, might be true. Or was it only that Leda was in love with Geoffry, and that he did not return her affection?

Leda started off and Frank caught her by the arm.

"Hi—wait a minute. Where are you going?"

She looked at him as tho she hardly realized who he was.

"There's Geoffry—" she panted —"with that girl. I want to speak to him. I want—"

"What you want is to pull yourself together," Frank said quietly. He turned her half around so that she faced him. There, with people milling about them and the din of the race meeting on all sides, he asked her a straight question.

"Leda, are you in love with Geoffry?"

Her eyes smoldered as they burned into his.

It was on the tip of her tongue to blurt out the truth to him, but his face had gone so white that his freckles stood out with alarming effect, and somehow that startled her and brought her halfway to her senses.

Perhaps he wouldn't stop at killing Geoffry if she confessed. He might kill her, too. Yet with all her being she longed to confess and put an end to the trying situation.

"Because if you are—" he said.

"No—no—no! What in heaven's name makes you think such a thing as that?"

"Don't shout, Leda, Leda. Do you want the whole world to know what we're talking about?"

Her lips quivered and she put up her handkerchief. Reckless and desperate tho she was, she certainly did not want the whole world to know.

Frank regarded her steadily.

"On your word of honor, Leda?"

"Don't be absurd. On my word of honor, of course. You've neglected me shamefully, Frank, and Geoffry was somebody to play about with. After all, he's your cousin. You were brought up like brothers, really. I can't help being interested in him, and I don't like to see him making a fool of himself over Aunt Madge's typist. Somebody ought to stop him."

Frank winced. He did not know that any special stigma attached to typists, but the way Leda spoke it sounded as tho Shirley Westall might be afflicted with leprosy.

Better Leda have it, however much it hurt him. It might clear the air; it might even lead to some patched-up sort of truce between them.

"Leda, don't make any mistake about Shirley. She's a grand girl, and last night Geoffry told Aunt Madge that he was in love with her and wanted to marry her. Aunt Madge was delighted. In fact, she brought the subject up, herself. She wants him to marry and settle down, she says."

Invitations Out for Wedding of Helen Gillette

o'clock today at the Indian Hill club. Mrs. John Baird, who lives in Honolulu and who is visiting Mrs. Richard Vanderwarker, will tell about life in the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. George Bates, who has just returned from a trip to the Bahama Islands, will take over the duties of secretary from Miss Dorothy Drummond. Miss Drummond's family has moved to Pasadena and she will leave shortly to join them. Today's meeting will be the last one until next fall. Two new members of the board are Miss Jane Weary and Mrs. John E. Love.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour is opening her Lake Forest home at 256 North Green Bay road today from 9 until 5 o'clock for a Woman's Exchange sale. Many luncheon parties have been arranged for today so that hostesses can take their guests to the sale. Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams is giving a party at her home in Lake Forest and Mrs. Champ Carry, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, and Mrs. W. Roy Carney are entertaining at the Onwentsia club, which is just across the road from Mrs. Armour's.

Miss Barbara Keith Austin and Miss Mary-Lee Neeves, who were graduated from Vassar yesterday, were elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Miss Austin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Charles Austin of Glencoe. Miss Neeves is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland K. Neeves, also of Glencoe. Her engagement to Victor H. Trumpy of Madison, Wis., was announced last week.

Young Women Ushers to Be Luncheon Guests.

Mrs. Henry T. Roberts and her sister, Mrs. Nelson Thomasson III., are giving a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club today for the young women who will usher at a white breakfast at the club next Friday. Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president of the Federation of Music Clubs, which is sponsoring the breakfast, will be a guest at the luncheon today. The ushers, who are to wear white hats, have decided to make them themselves out of fresh flowers. They include Miss Virginia Skinner, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Katherine Stenson, Mrs. George W. Ryerson, Mrs. Nathaniel Duval, Mrs. Frank Johnston Jr., Miss Barbara Willson, and Mrs. Ralph W. Applegate.

The Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society is giving its usual spring luncheon for its president today at the Indian Hill Country club. Mrs. Gerald Van Doren is the president. Mrs. Peter D. Ridenour II., as vice president, is in charge. The new members of the center are giving a "yokel spree" Friday night at the Victor Vienna café on Waukegan road, north of Winnetka avenue.

Mrs. Robert Reid is opening her home in East Division street this afternoon at 3 o'clock for a tea and book discussion of "Mr. Skeffington" by Mrs. Clarence Hough.

Chicago Hadassah Pays Tribute to Mrs. Hattie Callner

Mrs. Hattie Callner, pioneer business leader and member of the Chicago chapter of Hadassah, was the organization's especial guest at a party celebrating her 75th birthday yesterday at the Stevens hotel.

Several hundred members applauded as events of Mrs. Callner's life were dramatized in a play written by Mrs. Ignace E. Weiss, a fellow member. Mrs. Callner built up her own construction business in Chicago and erected some of the city's first apartment buildings. For the last two years she has been hostess to some 2,000 members of Hadassah at a luncheon culminating its annual drive for funds.

Senior and junior members of Hadassah are planting a grove of 2,000 trees in Palestine in Mrs. Callner's name.

Now Amazing Proved Hygienic Protection for Married Women

Thousands upon thousands of women have now learned to use a sensational, scientific discovery for hygienic purposes. This boon to womankind is not a poison, yet actually kills germs at contact. It is called Zonite, and its action is amazing when used for feminine hygiene. It instantly kills germs and bacteria on contact, yet it is proved safe—will not harm delicate tissues. And Zonite deodorizes—assures daintiness. Helps keep one fresh, clean and pure. So successful has Zonite been that over 20,000,000 bottles have already been used. Get Zonite from your druggist today. It's surprisingly easy and economical to use. Ideal for feminine hygiene. Follow the simple directions and enjoy proved hygienic protection that you may never have known before.

Nathaniel Leverone Will Be Speaker at Supper for Students

Nathaniel Leverone, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers club and member of the Chicago Crime commission, will speak on "Business Looks at Youth" at a supper to be given by the Chicago Woman's club tomorrow evening for 50 outstanding high school boys and girls of Chicagoland.

The 50 are coming to Chicago as guests of The Tribune to appear on the broadcast, "Citizens of Tomorrow," at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening over station W-G-N. Philip Maxwell of the editorial staff of The Tribune, who plays the school principal in the series, and other members of the cast will be guests at the supper.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of The Tribune, will speak at the broadcast, which is to be the last of this series. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools; James McCahey, president of the board of education; other prominent educators, and teachers and students of Wright Junior college will be guests.

The Junior Association of Commerce will entertain the visiting students at luncheon tomorrow at the hotel La Salle, and at 3 o'clock they will be taken for a ride over Chicago in a TWA plane.

Potatoes needn't ever be served monotonously. There are a dozen variations for every one of the commonly accepted methods of serving them. Take, for example, creamed potatoes.

Properly creamed potatoes are cooked until tender in boiling salted water, after which they are drained and a medium white sauce is poured over them. But consider what can be done to that white sauce to change its flavor. Here are a few suggestions:

White Sauce Variations for Creamed Potatoes.

1. Melt half a cup or more of cheese in the sauce. A yellow grated or bulk cheese is preferable to others. Process pimiento is good.
2. Add a tablespoon or more of finely cut cheese or green onion tops to the potato cream sauce.
3. Sieve a canned pimiento and add it to the sauce.
4. Add a tablespoon or more of minced parsley.
5. Add a tablespoon or more each of minced parsley and chopped pimiento. And include a tablespoon of chives or minced onion, too, if you like. This combination makes a very flavorful and colorful sauce.
6. Add 2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives to the sauce.
7. Use bouillon for half the liquid in the "white" sauce.
8. Season sauce with a little lemon juice curry powder and a whiff of red pepper.

Creamed potatoes may be baked after creaming. This is a good idea if you want to save time in dinner preparation. The potatoes may be boiled in the morning or early afternoon [but not night before] added to the sauce and casseroled, ready for a half hour's baking before serving. Slice or dice the boiled potatoes and put them into the casserole in layers with the sauce. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over the layers, or cheese and buttered crumbs may be strewn over the top of the finished dish. This preparation is known as au gratin potatoes.

Any of the variations suggested for creamed potatoes may be used for baked cream "spuds." Here's a particularly tasty combination: Add 1 tablespoon each of minced onion, parsley, pimiento, and green pepper to the sauce and top the casserole with cheese and crumbs.

Bake any such casserole in a 375 degree oven until it is bubbly and well browned on top.

All this talk about cream sauce or white sauce and no recipe for it? Here's the recipe, which experienced cooks won't need, and which inexperienced cooks should learn by heart, since it's the basis of so many good cooked dishes in addition to those made with potatoes.

Standard Medium White Sauce.

[2 cups.]
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk

Melt butter in a saucepan, or better, in the top compartment of a double boiler, over hot water. Blend in flour, salt, and pepper. Add cold milk gradually, stirring constantly to keep sauce smooth. Cook and stir until sauce thickens and becomes smooth. Add higher seasonings, if desired.

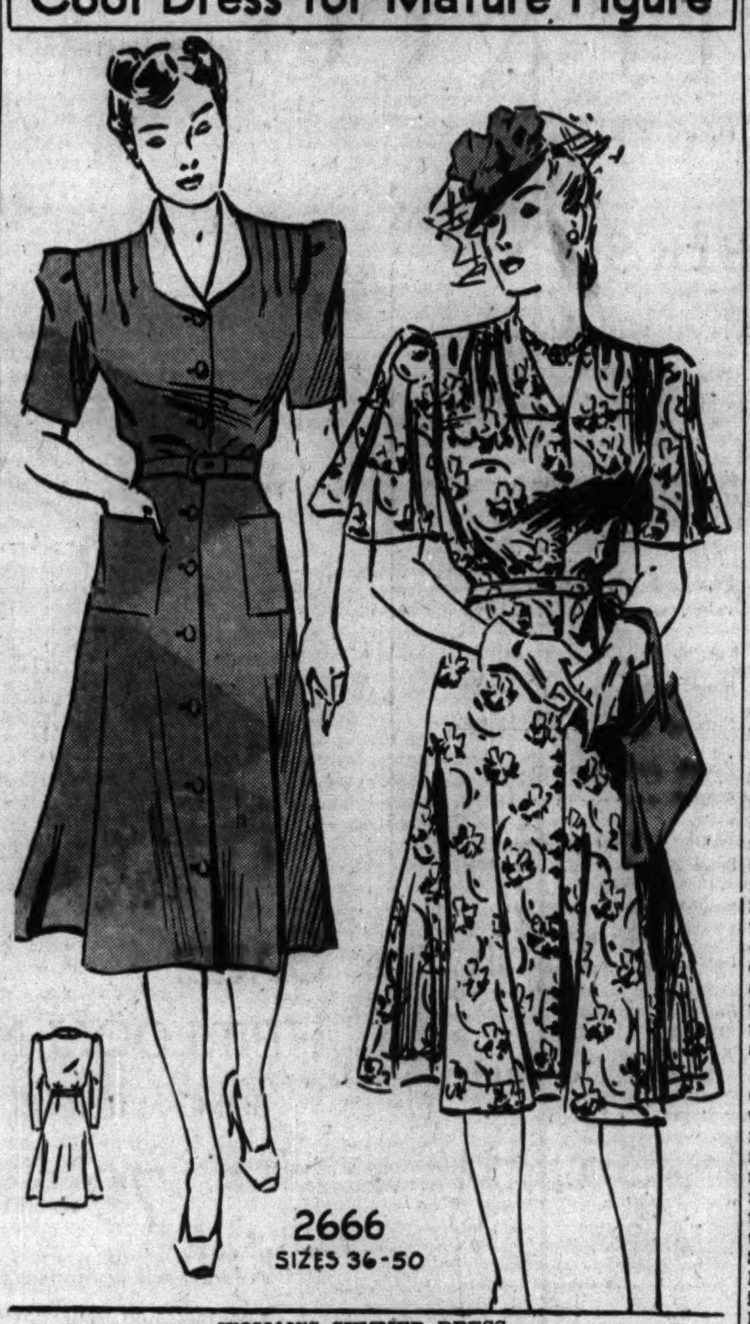
Cool Dress for Mature Figure



WOMAN'S SUMMER DRESS.

One of the most difficult matters for the larger woman to contend with in summer is keeping and looking cool. Her dresses have a great deal to do with this and we're offering a pattern today which will help her to achieve daintiness and charm no matter what the thermometer reading.

One version is strictly tailored, with contrasting collar and buttons. Darts fit the shoulder line superbly, and soften the bodice of this simple and becoming dress, the pockets of which are fashionably large, the lines slenderizing. Use any easily tubbable summer fabric except sheers.

Sheers, however, are perfect for the other version, which is dressier, with cape sleeves and no pockets. This dress is so light, airy and comfortable that you'll never know you have it on.

Style No. 2666 is designed for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material for dress with cape sleeves; 3½ yards for dress with short, plain sleeves, and ¼ yard of contrasting.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the summer Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

The Restaurant Waiter Earns Your Courtesy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It's plain to most of us that while waiters occasionally commit "crimes" which irritate and annoy customers, the latter are more frequently guilty of petty violations of fair play. So, at least, thinks a certain restaurateur we know. Just a few of the things in which diners and lunchers-out might coöperate are mentioned.

Monsieur thinks that a man could hold off that argument with his wife for a less public time, especially when the entertainment is in progress. If the performance bores, one can leave. The same goes for telling the girl how much you love her, while the show is on.

But it is the treatment of waiters that seems most in need of correction, and the first step in more agreeable relations is to consider him as a human being, which he most certainly is. If you give him an order and he fills that order and, in the meantime, you change your mind, admit it. Don't expect him to be psychic, making the change for you.

Dropping cigarets on the floor of a restaurant isn't any nicer a performance than if you dropped them around your own home floors. It gives the room an untidy appearance.

Smearing the table with bread rumbs or cigaret ashes isn't any more the behavior of well bred people in a restaurant than at their own or a friend-host's table.

In fact, the summing up of public restaurant behavior, in our judgment, is that an individual is on display before a number of people, and as most of us like to be considered "nice people," we must act like nice people or we'll never be taken for such.

Women often can behave abominably in public eating places, registering themselves in observing eyes and minds as undesirable friends and housemates.

June 11, 1940.

Universal day—If you have been interested in noticing the number of the days when the major war moves are made, you probably noticed that 11 and 2 were prominent. May 10 was one of these days. So watch today. It is a 22 day.

Year ahead—Don't expect too much this year. Be content to work patiently on all the details of your plans. Duty and responsibility are important this year if this is your birthday.

Names—The letters I and R are usually found several times in the average name. If neither of them occurs at all then the person is destined to stay within a very narrow and limited range of endeavor. Nine gives the broad, humanitarian viewpoint and is the most emotional of the numbers, so those without it have little sympathy and are not very expressive emotionally.

If you've ever been in a sticky-hands state at a picnic or in the country after the car stalled you'll appreciate a handy new kit that cleanses the hands without water. You can use it any time, anywhere. For the automobile it comes in a large tube with a towel put up in a screw top can. For the workshop or garage you get a jar of it. Simply put some of this pastelike substance in your palms, then rub the hands together as you do when washing with soap. Then dry them on the towel. How the dirt and grease do come off! And all without the aid of a drop of water.

Adviser Lets Off Steam on Makeup Tints

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

First, we'd like to start a movement whereby makeup manufacturers would cease changing colors with every new freak dress shade. We think it complicates an already complicated feminine occupation. True, we don't have to adopt that startling new lipstick, rouge, and powder shade to wear with the orange or purple frock, because we don't have to choose those colors for dress. What happens is that some of the good old sturdies get lost in the shuffle, colors that, for all 'round wear, have proved becoming, with the introduction of striking new shades that live for a short time and then disappear.

In one of the trade magazines devoted to cosmetics we recently read a warning to perfume manufacturers: "Past efforts have been expended to glamorize perfumes and to flood the market with new fragrances of which very few have been successful, leaving the old favorites still reigning supreme!" We see the same thing happening in makeup numbers. Manufacturers are crowding us with too many changes. Our word isn't the only word to be taken, either. We have women telling us often that they've just gone back to an old favorite "they used a long time ago," because they can't keep up, because some of the new shades are frankly unbecoming.

Now, having gotten that out of our system, we do proceed to tell women that just because they wear formal evening clothes seldom does not mean that they needn't have a makeup change for night hours. One must remember that she isn't quite the same girl in the evening because the lighting changes her perceptibly. So, she should play to that evening lighting even in her informal dress, if she's interested in appearing at her nicest.

Olivia de Havilland believes that eyes should be played up at night and powder shades should be experimented with under electric lighting. Throat, arms, and shoulders should be whitened with liquid powder and polished off with chamois to remove excess.

"Glamour after dark" is important, she says, because that's when man and maid are in the romantic mood.

Mother of Two, Ill and Deserted, Needs Gifts of Furniture

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Miss M., a case worker, has requested assistance for a young woman who is ill and, except for her two small children, very much alone in the world.

The woman in question married against the wishes of her parents and was cast off by her family. Shortly after her second baby was born the husband deserted. In order to support herself and the children, she sold her furniture, piece by piece, until forced to apply for aid. Shock and nervousness brought on an illness from which she is just now recovering.

An agency is assisting her, but cannot provide the needed furniture, including a bed and dresser, table and chairs, floor covering, a sofa and an icebox. The worker believes that if the mother can be settled in a few rooms of her own it will help her to solve her problems with courage and regain her health.

If readers have any of the requested items to offer, the assisting agency will arrange transportation.

Tomorrow Tag Day for Salvation Army; Doughnuts for Sale

Paper doughnuts, symbol of Salvation Army service to the needy, will be sold on busy streets of the city by hundreds of women volunteers tomorrow. Doughnut day is the annual one day financial drive conducted by the Army to raise funds for year round activities.

Part of the funds will be used for the army's fresh air camp at Antioch. Other projects that will share in the drive proceeds are the settlement at 3053 Normal avenue, the emergency lodge, 1230 West Adams street, which gives temporary refuge to women and children in need, and the home and hospital at 5040 North Pulaski road where unwed mothers are given care.

Mrs. Henry Paschen, 345 Fullerton parkway, is chairman of the volunteer workers for Doughnut day.

When a summer cottage comes in for its share of modernization, the installation of a running water system can add immensely to the pleasures of life in the open. An expert plumber can advise on the best source of water, best location for pump and storage tank, best piping system, and so on. And in a summer cottage, as well as a city home, the bathroom capacity can be increased by having a simple shower cabinet installed separately.

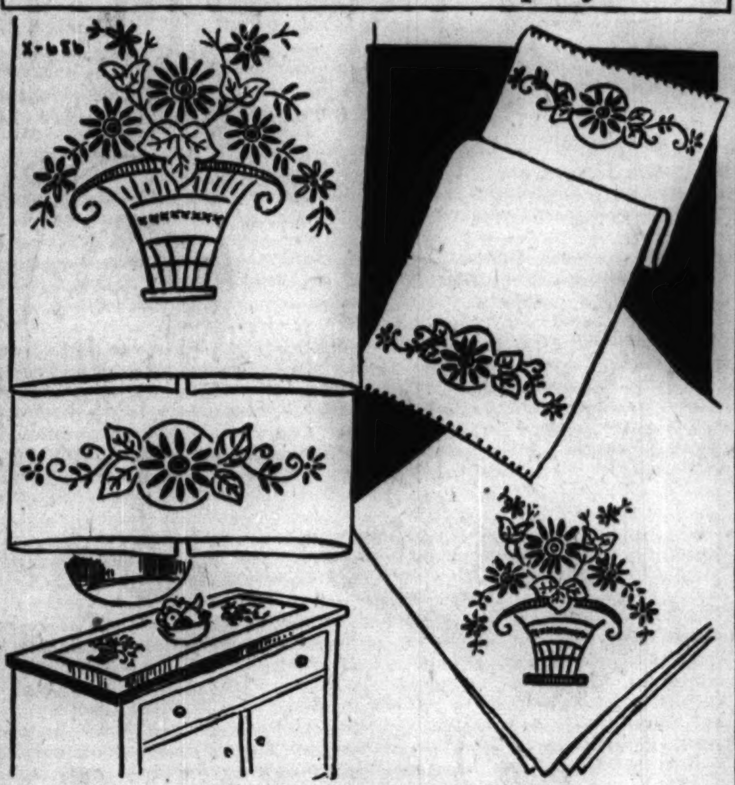
Embroidered Floral Sprays



BY NANCY CABOT.

Embroidered baskets and floral sprays are two of the most popular motifs in the needlework field. They not only work up most effectively, but they are extremely easy to do. This hot iron transfer design is ideal for runners, pillow cases, luncheon cloths, towels, or chair sets. The pattern contains four baskets 6x7 inches and four floral sprays 2x7 inches.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the basket and floral sprays, No. X-686, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

No fallacy is more costly to the average player than his habit of attempting to conceal a holding that the declarer will have no difficulty in determining for himself. There is an "ostrich burying his head" complex here; a childish strategy to seek concealment where no such possibility exists. Obviously I am not suggesting that the defenders should virtually expose their cards for declarer's guidance, but it is a fact that the pendulum can swing too far in the other direction.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's bid was, of course, a shutout attempt to take advantage of the condition of the score, and probably was the best response available.

West opened the jack of clubs, which East won with the ace, declarer's queen dropping. Now it should have been obvious that the number of spade tricks which the defenders might take depended not merely on the location of the spade king, whether that card was held by the declarer or by West, but also on East's method of attacking the suit. Of course, if West held the king with at least two guards it would not matter whether East led the ace and a small one, or his fourth best, or any other card; three tricks would be certain on mere continuation. But if declarer had the king it was vital to use the correct technique.

First, let us see what happened on East's attempted "concealment play." He laid down the ace and then played a low spade, no doubt feeling that he was being very cagey, and that declarer never would dare finesse against the queen. In sober truth, the declarer did hate to take this finesse, but he saw that there was simply no place for him to get rid of his other losing spade. Dummy's hearts had yet to be established, and to go up with the spade king would, in all likelihood, merely defer the loss of the low spade. Therefore, in desperation declarer had to risk the spade finesse. Obviously, the jack won the trick, trumps were drawn, and the heart ace was the defenders' only other trick.

This was no hand for East to attempt a hoax play. He should have seen that successful defense rested on the chance that his partner held either the heart ace or the spade king. If it were the latter the lead of the spade queen could do no harm, but if declarer had the spade king that lead was vital.

Obviously, had East made this proper lead, the spade queen, declarer would have covered and won the trick, but then when West gained the lead with the heart ace a spade continuation thru dummy's jack would have netted the defenders the two vital spade tricks.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There seems to be a new makeup every sixty seconds these days, and we must confess that it's a little difficult for us to work up mountains of enthusiasm about each one. In this blasé office many a new lipstick, launched by a manufacturer in an avalanche of extravagant adjectives, is given a yawning once over. After all, there are only so many things you can do with red—and we rather suspect that all those things are being done this season.

But occasionally a little honey comes along that has the wonderful quality of distinction. It stands out in the endless lipstick parade. Such a one came in last week. It's a summer makeup, lipstick, dry rouge and a perfectly glorious new shade of powder. The lipstick, glory be, has subtlety. There's just the tiniest trace of blue in it—and what a relief from those screaming reds!

It's elegant with a nice tan, complete refutation of the old theory that a tan skin called for a brownish lipstick. It doesn't, necessarily. This year tans aren't going to be utilized to give the face a "yaller" aspect. Your tan must have a rosy glow—and so should your lipstick. This one has got it, plus a good, rich undertone that makes it outstanding. The rouge matches, of course.

The powder shade is, like the lipstick shade, refreshingly different too. Not exotic, it's immensely wearable, but there is no shade precisely like it that we can remember. It's one of those flattering shades almost any one can wear—and it's a particular success for the woman who likes her complexion finish to look rather radiant. You'll love it.

CUBS FACE GIANTS IN DOUBLE HEADER TODAY

DODGERS BEAT PIRATES, 8 TO 7, TO LEAD LEAGUE

Phelps' Triple in 8th Brings Victory.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 10 (AP).—Squeezing past the Pirates, 8 to 7, today, the Brooklyn Dodgers climbed into first place in the National league by a single percentage point and put the pennant race back in the same spot it was on May 27.

Luke Hamlin.

That was the day that the Cincinnati Reds moved past the Dodgers by half a game in won-lost reckoning, but trailed in percentage. Tonight the idle Reds were half a game in front, but they had .689 for 31 games won and 14 lost while the Dodgers had .690 for 29 games won and 13 lost.

Rough, Tight Battle.

Brooklyn's battle with the Pirates was as rough and tumble and just as tight as the score indicates. Each team used 17 players including five pitchers and two catchers. There were 25 hits, with the Dodgers having the deciding blow—a triple by Babe Phelps with one on in the eighth inning.

The Dodgers spurted out in front with three runs in the first inning, batting Rip Sewell out of the box before he could get a batter out. The Pirates teed off on Luke Hamlin with three tallies in the second, when Elbie Fletcher led off with his sixth home run of the season.

Fitzsimmons Victor.

Brooklyn scored twice in both the fifth and sixth and then the Pirates rallied again to tie the score with four runs in the seventh on a walk, two singles, a double by Fletcher and another single.

They couldn't do anything with Fred Fitzsimmons, last of Brooklyn's five pitchers, however, and Fitz got credit for his fifth victory against one defeat. Score:

I Wonder.

'Twas on this rustic bridge that first we met,
This little stream had never seemed so blue;
I was a prince of bashfulness, and yet
I summoned courage up to speak to you;
Your smile was like the bursting of a rose,
Your great round eyes were deeply hazel brown,
I loved your tantalizing turned-up nose,
And I can still recall your gingham gown.

Ah, many times since then we crossed this stream,
Two happy little youngsters hand in hand!
And many times we dreamed our long, long dream
And whispered of the future we had planned—
I wonder would you grieve or feel delight
To know that I am here alone tonight.

Bridge of Dreams.

We built a bridge that's long and wide
That only you and I can see;
It spans across the miles and years
Along the road of memory.

Where we may walk when spring arrives
Renewing days of long ago;
And where we'll meet at intervals
Until our step is tired and slow.

Upon this bridge we find the joy
We miss in every other place—
Because it's here our souls commune
And where we find each other's face.

We built a bridge—a bridge of dreams—
And it belongs to us alone,
Where we may wander side by side
And share the youth that now has flown.

WHITE SOX STAY UP LATE TONIGHT; PLAY ATHLETICS

Smith to Pitch in Team's First Game Under Lights.

Sox Lose, 6-2

WILMINGTON, Del., June 10.—The Chicago White Sox made five errors in an exhibition game tonight against Wilmington of the Interstate league and lost, 6 to 2. Wilmington, managed by Chief Bender, old time pitching star, is a farm club of the Philadelphia Athletics. The Sox used Orval Grove and Ed Weiland on the mound. Score:

Chicago	010	000	100—2	8	5
Wilmington	000	420	00*—6	6	2

Batteries—Grove, Weiland and Turner, Silvestri; Swank, Marsh and Howell.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 10.—The White Sox will play their first 1940 American league night game tomorrow when they engage the Philadelphia Athletics in the first engagement of a two contest series to terminate the Sox's second invasion of the east.

The Chicagoans, who have been playing exceptionally interesting baseball for the last 10 days, will put themselves on view to the Chicago home folks Friday night in the first Chicago lamplit game of the year. The Boston Red Sox will be the attraction and Johnny Rigney has been named to see what he can do in the way of duplicating his 1939 night triumph over the Bostons. The Red Sox pitcher hasn't been named, on account of things recently having been upset in the life of Manager Joe Cronin, mostly on account of pitching inadequacy.

.500 Rating Goal of White Sox.

The Sox will return home with only sketchy memories of the fact they lost their first nine home games. After that, it is recalled, they put together a five game winning streak immediately before dropping their home finale May 25.

It may shape up that the Sox will arrive at the .500 mark after the league standings in their homecoming match Friday night. They will be only one game under .500 if they beat the staggering Athletics tomorrow night and Wednesday afternoon. At present the Chicagoans have won 22 and lost 25. On this trip they have split four game series with St. Louis and Boston, taken two out of three from the New York and Washington teams, and dropped a double header to Cleveland. Manager James Dykes has no specific worries born of physical mishaps and is in good shape to open a drive for first place now that his athletes have shown they can beat the Yanks.

Smith to Pitch Tonight.

In the game tomorrow night Edgar Smith, who last week defeated the Yanks after eight tough luck failures in competition with the champions, will vie with his former associates, the A's. In losing three straight to the St. Louis Browns over the weekend the Athletics appear to have thrown their pitching forces into pretty much of an uproar. Lee Ross has been announced as their pitcher tomorrow.

The Sox's slugging twins, Taft Wright and Luke Appling, who are batting .354 and .350, respectively, can hardly wait to get at the Philadelphia pitchers.

EX-BUNION DERBY STAR WILL RACE HORSE 40 MILES

Charleston, S. C., June 10 (AP).—A physician will race a horse over a 40 mile course here June 19. The man is Dr. Arne L. Suominen, a native of Finland.

Dr. Suominen issued his challenge a few weeks ago to any horse owner in Summerville, a resort near here.

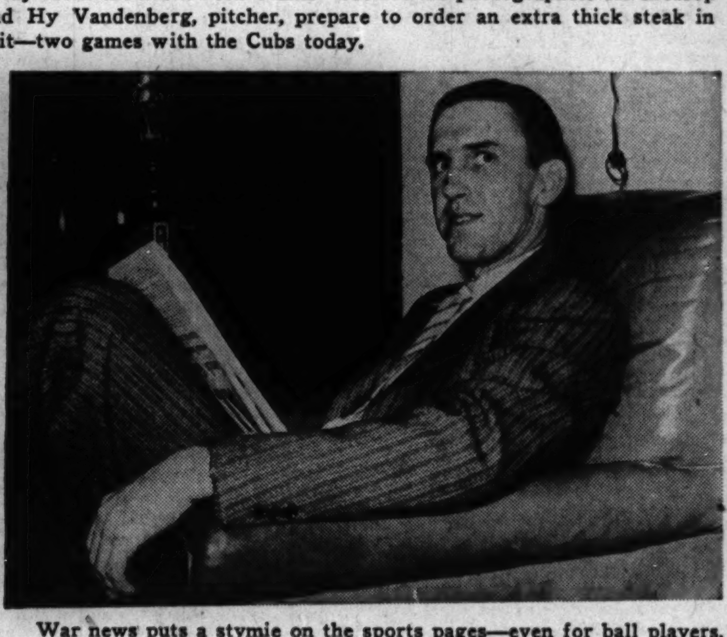
John Finucan accepted, and has begun training his horse. Grange Cuthbert Jr., son of Sommerville's mayor, will be the jockey.

Dr. Suominen, who ran nearly 1,000 miles with C. C. Pyle's Bunion Derby in 1928, is running 12 or 15 miles barefooted every day to get in shape.

What Ball Players (Giants) Do on Their Off Days

A rainy day keeps the Cubs away from the New York Giants—but not the photographer. Al Glossop (left), youthful second baseman, and Hy Vandenberg, pitcher, prepare to order an extra thick steak in their north side hotel. They'll need it—two games with the Cubs today.

Burgess Whitehead, New York third baseman, looking for something inviting at the hotel cigar stand.



War news puts a stymie on the sports pages—even for ball players. Joe Moore, veteran Giant outfielder, reads the latest advices from the battlefronts.

CARDS GO UNDER SOUTHWORTH'S DIRECTION TODAY

St. Louis, Mo., June 10 [Special].—Billy Southworth, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, arrived today and will take charge of the faltering team in tomorrow's game with the Boston Bees. The Cardinals, now in seventh place in the National league, must beat the Bees tomorrow to avoid being dropped into Boston's place in the cellar.

Southworth watched from the stands as the Bees battered the Cards today, 12 to 2, getting 21 hits. Southworth, manager of the Cardinals for a short time in 1929, was promoted from the managership of the Rochester team of the International league last week when Ray Blades was fired as manager.

"I intend, first of all, to instill a fighting spirit in the team," Southworth said. "Straightening out the pitching will come next. In a few days, I believe, the fans will be looking at a changed ball club."

LEE, PASSEAU TO PITCH FOR NORTH SIDERS

New Yorkers Name P. Dean, Lohrman.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having put together a seven game winning streak and hoping to carry it still farther, the Cubs, who just now are functioning with a strange lineup of Boy Scouts and vets, have a big defensive job on their hands today. They were excused from work yesterday because of a shower, so must engage the third place Giants in a double header this afternoon. Capturing two games in the space of a few hours is normally fraught with hazards. But winning a pair has been done before, even against worth while competition.

So far, the winning streak fashioned by the lineup which Manager Hartnett would have considered a nightmare if it had been proposed to him at the start of the season hasn't resulted in much satisfaction in the percentage column. Even with the seven successes without a break, the north siders remain anchored in fourth place, three laps from the Giants, the team immediately above them. And the three teams now on top of the Cubs may continue to show that catching them from behind is no easy task.

Gleeson Earns Berth.

Just how long Hartnett's trick lineup, picked in desperation over the team's lack of batting power, can go without being leveled off by stiff competition, which the poor Phils and still poorer Bees couldn't furnish, is something to be determined only by continuing the experiment. The manager isn't kidding himself, but he is just as superstitious as all pilots, so there'll be no marked switch back to first stringers until the spell is broken.

One fellow pretty certain not to be yanked out of there is Jim Gleeson, who wasn't given much thought earlier in the season. Gleeson was slighted for the very good reason that he wasn't of much value last year. But the ex-Yankee farm hand has been banging the ball and along with it performing as an excellent patrolman in center. As long as Jim can keep his bat talking against the better pitching he's safe.

Lee, Passeau for Cubs.

The pitching for today will be what it was scheduled to be yesterday, with the addition made necessary by the bargain bill. Bill Lee and Paul Dean were booked to argue yesterday and will do it this afternoon unless one of the managers decides to do last minute juggling. If Lee and Dean are paired, the other duo will be Claude Passeau for the Cubs and Bill Lohrman for the Giants.

The Cubs will conclude their home stay tomorrow and leave immediately after the game for Cooperstown, N. Y., where they'll play Boston's Red Sox in an exhibition on Thursday. After that affair the Chicagoans will proceed to Boston, where they open their season's second eastern tour on Friday.

SHINE O' NIGHT SHINES IN RAIN AND MUD OF CRETE

Captures Harvey Purse by Length and Half.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Harvey Purse, a 6 furlong dash for 3 year olds, shaped up as a repeat performance of some of last season's juvenile stakes as the horses paraded to the post with rain in their faces and mud underfoot yesterday at Lincoln Fields. With Potranco, Designer, Predicate, Connaught, and other regulars of last year in the field of seven, it seemed just like homecoming day. But a comparative visitor, Shine O'Night, broke up the neighborly atmosphere by taking the lead at the start and holding it all the way to beat Potranco by a length and a half while Connaught was getting in third.

Not that Shine O'Night was entirely new to the Lincoln Fields crowd. On Wednesday of last week she ran a fairly good race over a fast track, setting the pace to the stretch, but weakening in the drive to finish fourth to the Walmac Farm's Chi. She was quite an outsider yesterday, returning $19.80 to win, $7.20 to place, and $4.80 to show, after the heaviest support had gone to the Lexbrook entry of Designer and Potranco, this pair being backed down to 6 to 5.

Tired But Determined.

Shine O'Night refused to quit yesterday, tho she was a tired little filly at the finish. Jockey Henry Hauer sent her away from the starting gate at high speed and she soon drew out to a lead of two lengths. Potranco and Designer were close up in the early stages, but the latter gave up after yielding third place to Connaught approaching the far turn.

On the lower bend Shine O'Night continued to protect her advantage. Potranco and Connaught were struggling for second place. Showing a liking for the sloppy going, the little filly came on without faltering while Potranco and Connaught continued their duel for second place right up to the wire.

It was a great day for longshot players. After Au Fait had won the first event and returned $16, $6.60, and $5.20, Cardarrone and Granicus cooperated in a $236.80 daily double.

They Forget Cardarrone.

Cardarrone is a 7 year old horse which once ran in fairly good company but a bowed tendon, old age and similar disabilities forced him down to the $1,250 claiming group. He outclassed his rivals completed yesterday, but most of the betters had forgotten how good he used to be. So he paid off at $33.60, $16.80, and $6.60. His daily double colleague, Granicus, returned $26.40, $9.20, and $4.20 in the mutuels.

A favorite, Ballinderry, broke the parade of outsiders by scoring in the Grant Park purse, a six furlong event for horses of the $2,500 class. Then Shine O'Night added her contribution to the rout of the public choices, after which Lifeguard came in to pay $27.40 $10.20 and $4.40.

LEAGUE LEADERS PLAY TONIGHT ON SOFTBALL CARD

Four of the leading teams of the Windy City Softball league will see action on tonight's schedule.

At St. Philip stadium, Kedzie and Van Buren streets, the Bill Rands, National division leaders, play the Sacred Hearts, and the Petrone Senators, American division leaders, face the Witt Hanley Yankees. The Yankees are tied for second place in the American division.

At the new Rand stadium, 75th and Euclid avenue, the Lopota Steelers, tied for the lead in the National division, battle the Pollack Motors, while the Goranson Alleys meet the Dust Motor squad.

Last night's results:

Lopota Steelers, 9; Pollack Motors, 6.
Goranson Alleys, 10; Dust Motors, 3.

Betty Jameson Wins Medal in Women's Golf

St. Louis, Mo., June 10 (AP).—Betty Jameson, the national women's golf champion who has been roughly handled in tournament play since she ascended to the throne, was in rare form today as she led a field of 135 players thru the qualifying round of the 14th annual Trans-Mississippi tourney.

Putter Bothers Patty.

The 21 year old San Antonio girl carded a four-under par 73 to defeat Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the defending champion, who is trying for her third straight title. Miss Berg had a pair of 37s for a 74.

Betty started out with a par 4, dropped a long putt for a birdie 4 on two and then strung out seven straight pars before clicking an eagle on the 411 yard 10th to go three under. She hurried thru the next seven holes in regulation figures and finished with a birdie 4 on 18 for her 37—36—73.

Five Others Break 80.

Five other contestants made the rounds under a blistering sun in 79 or lower. They were: Phyllis Otto, 15 year old Iowa State junior champion of Atlantic, 36—39—75; Mrs. Russell Mann, Milwaukee, Wis., medalist in the national six years ago, 39—36—75; Kay Pearson, Houston, Tex., 39—37—76; Mrs. Lillian Zech, Chicago, 37—40—77; Jo MacRae, Ames, Ia., 38—41—79.

Miss Jameson was paired against another Texan, Mrs. Bryan Winter of Dallas, in the first round. Miss Berg will play Mrs. H. H. Silverforb of Kansas City. First round pairings:

Title Conflicts Ruin Boxing, Coulon Warns

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Johnny Coulon.

Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champion from 1907 to 1914, warned yesterday that some commissions supervising professional boxing are unconsciously harming the game and turning it into a racket. He bases his findings on the present hold "certain promoters and managers" have on the sport, a hold he charged was acquired with the help of commissioners.

"Boxing remains one of the best sports in the world," the 51 year old Coulon said. "However, professional boxing, as conducted today, is not doing as well as in the so-called outlaw days."

Coulon said there was no fight czar, such as Mike Jacobs, operating in his time. As a result, boxers could fight whom they pleased, when they pleased and where they pleased.

Johnny believes in the old axiom that "titles are won and lost in the ring."

"In my time," Coulon said, "a champion was best in his weight division literally and not theoretically. Today things are different. Various commissions recognize various boxers as champion in one class."

Three men—Harry Jeffra of Baltimore, Petey Scalzo of New York, and Jimmy Perrin of New Orleans—are officially recognized as featherweight champion by the Maryland commission, National Boxing association, and the Louisiana commission, respectively. At the same time Sammy Angott is called lightweight title holder by the N. B. A. and Lew Jenkins by the New York and Texas commissions.

"This shows the lack of coöperation in the ranks of the N. B. A.," Coulon continued. "Despite the fact that the association named Angott and Scalzo rulers in their classes, Maryland, Louisiana, and Texas, all N. B. A. members, have seen fit to dispute the dictates of the executive officers and the majority of the membership. This action only tends to strengthen a monopoly enjoyed by New York. Until member states work hand in glove, the game will remain in an unhealthy state."

Bennett Wins Over Pallatin in 10 Rounder

Leonard Bennett, a strong Detroit welterweight, handed Tommy Pallatin of St. Jospeh, Mich., a boxing lesson in a 10 round return bout in Marigold Gardens last night. In a previous meeting last year Bennett scored a five round technical knockout over Pallatin. The victory was Leonard's fifth straight, while the setback was Pallatin's first in six starts.

When the 10th started Bennett's body punches had piled up points in every round except the seventh, which was even. As a result Leonard eased up in the final round, to the accompaniment of cheers from the 1,383 spectators. Gross receipts were $1,545.58.

Eddie Camp, west side heavyweight, pounded out a decision over Lee Oma of Detroit in an eight round semifinal. Oma suffered a knockdown in the sixth round.

Joey Chizar, South Bend lightweight, who has changed his name to Joey Chase, held Frankie Agnes to a five round draw in a preliminary encounter. Kelly Kohn, Peoria junior lightweight, beat Jesse Yarber, and Johnny O'Hara, local middleweight, conquered Johnny Hackert in additional fights of four rounds.

OLD PASTIMERS HOLD OUTING IN MILLS STADIUM

The Old Pastimers, an organization of veteran baseball players, amateur, semipro and professional, is sponsoring an outing and field meet in Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, tomorrow evening. Two softball games will be played under the lights, one between two picked teams of members of the Old Pastimers. Proceeds of the outing will be devoted to aiding veteran baseball players and their families who are destitute.

Peter Murphy, president of the organization, is chairman of the ticket committee for the event. He can be reached at the Old Pastimers' offices, 22 North Clinton street, telephone Dearborn 4659, or at Kedzie 5800.

CATCHER DIES IN GAME.

Rimersburg, Pa., June 10 (AP).—A heat stroke was blamed for the death yesterday of Claude Hill, 40, catcher for the Tidal baseball team, during its game with the Rimersburg Miners' union.

GHOST LAKE IS THE LOCALE FOR THIS FISH STORY

Large Wisconsin Muskie Puts Up a Fight.

BY BOB BECKER.

The upper Chippewa river in northwest Wisconsin is at a good level for float trips thru the ideal stretches of water for pike and muskie fishing. Wild haw and cherry trees in the north woods are covered with fragrant blossoms and the muskie fishermen who are throwing underwater plugs and spoons are having some real fun these days.

This was the fishing situation as we found it around Hayward, Wis., when we looked over several lakes on that section of the fishing front. The day we spent on Ghost lake, about 22 miles east of Hayward, was exceedingly active. The muskies threw water in our face, raced thru the weeds trying to grab our lure before it got too close to the boat, and generally acted as if they liked to look at all the lures.

A Perfect Spot for Muskies.

It was an overcast, misty day when we headed for the north end of Ghost lake, which is about 22 miles east of Hayward. It has so much vegetation it is just about perfect for muskies and large mouthed black bass. One of the objectives of our trip to the center bar [near the north end], and a small weed bar so small that it's called the "peanut bar" was to see if we could hook a big wall-eye. Few are caught in Ghost lake, but those hooked weigh 3 to 10 pounds.

Fred Scheer, our fishing partner, navigated the boat around the center bar where the lily pads were just beginning to poke their "bonnets" above the water. Only once around was required to get a strike on our wooden minnow. It was a 3 pound wall-eye.

Fish Puts Up a Battle.

Halfway around again and, wham! a muskie hit the wooden minnow. This fish, tho small, proved to be a regular bouncer. It went into the air as soon as it felt the hook. Down with a splash it came and then leaped above the lily pads three more times before we managed to steer it into open water. There we let it run around at the end of a well snubbed line until it was ready to be brought alongside. It proved to be a 34 incher, dark in color as are all muskies in the brownish water of Ghost lake.

At 10 minutes to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the time when the Solunar table said the fish should have the "go" signal, the muskies swung into action again. There were four around the boat within 20 minutes. We had one of these on for a few seconds. But it was hooked lightly, so it bid us good-by very quickly.

Riggs Placed at No. 1 in Clay Court Tourney

Robert L. Riggs of Chicago, top ranking national tennis star, has been placed No. 1 on the seeded list of players who will start the nine day battle for the national clay courts championship at the River Forest Tennis club next Saturday.

Last minute entry of Welby Van Horn, California youngster who won his way into the finals of the U. S. singles tournament at Forest Hills last fall, brings new competition for Riggs.

Seven of the first 10 ranked players in the United States are entered. The official draw will be made following a luncheon at the Merchants and Manufacturers club at noon today at which Walter T. Ritter, chairman of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association committee sponsoring the tournament, will preside. The list of seeded players for the men's singles follows:

1. Robert L. Riggs, Chicago, ranked No. 1 in U. S., champion of United States and England, three times national clay court champion.
2. Frank Parker, Beverly, Cal., No. 2 nationally; Davis cup star, national clay court champion in 1933 and 1939.
3. Donald McNeill, Kenyon college, No. 3 nationally; champion of France, former national indoor champion.
4. Welby Van Horn, Los Angeles, Cal., No. 4 nationally, runnerup in 1939 U. S. singles tournament.
5. Bryan M. Grant Jr., Atlanta, Ga., No. 7 nationally, three times national clay court champion.
6. Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, Fla., No. 8 nationally, runnerup in national clay court championships 1938, 1939.
7. Henry Prusoff, Seattle, Wash., No. 10 nationally.
8. Francis Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., unranked for want of competition in 1939.

Foreign Seed: Charles Hare, England, former No. 2 English player and Davis cup player.

Announcement of the list of seeded women players has not yet been made. Top spot on that list, however, is conceded to Alice Marble, the only woman ever to hold at one time the singles, doubles, and mixed doubles championships of England and the United States.

COAST PRESENTS A STRONG FRONT IN QUARTER MILE

Three Aces Are Entered Against Big 9½.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Whether Roy Cochran of Indiana is named to run in the quarter mile next Monday, when the Pacific Coast and the Western conferences engage in their fourth meet in Dyche stadium may not be nearly as important as it would seem in the light of Cochran's American indoor record for this distance.

Cochran will be handicapped by injury to some degree, since he hasn't been able to train properly for three weeks. The Big 9½ may be happy to settle for a third place in this race, and it likely will go to Michigan's Warren Breidenbach. If Cochran should compete, he doesn't figure to place better than fourth.

There was a preview of this race in the Princeton invitational meet last Saturday. Lee Orr of Washington State, Pacific Coast champion, won the 440 yard sprint in the record time of 46 8-10 seconds, one tenth of a second faster than his winning time in the Pacific coast meet in Los Angeles. Breidenbach was third.

Fails to Match Early Speed.

While Breidenbach has a mark of 47.2 seconds this year, when he won the quarter in the Michigan-Pittsburgh dual meet the week before the conference games, he has been far over the figure since. Supporting Orr Monday will be Clarence Barnes of California, whose best mark is 47.3 seconds and who was narrowly beaten in the eastern intercollegiate meet. The third man from the coast will be Craig Williamson of Stanford.

Williamson is a member of Stanford's record setting mile relay team, which won in the Pacific Coast meet. His time for the quarter is 47.4 seconds. All three of the invaders, who will report in Evanston this week-end, have run the quarter mile faster than the Big 9½ record established 24 years ago by Binga Dismond of Chicago.

At this time, in addition to Breidenbach, the Western conference quarter milers are Jack Leutritz, second to Breidenbach in the Big 9½ race, and Wilbur McCown of Illinois. Leutritz and McCown are well over 48 seconds.

Racing Luck Plays Part.

The race, however, will be one of the meet's features. In comparing speed measured in tenths of seconds it must not be forgotten that racing lucky and peak condition are important. One mistake around the turn, the advantage in position after leaving the lane, as well as ability to run at top form may alter the results. Certainly the improvement the Western conference hopes to make in this year's point score may rest partly on this race.

Officials of the Western conference believe that the meet will be greeted as enthusiastically as it was in 1938, when the second of the series was held in Dyche stadium. The 15 events will require only about an hour and a half and will be held at twilight. Since only six contestants are entered in each field event as in the races, the high jump, pole vault and broad jump will not be excessively long as in conference meets.

World Records in Danger.

The meet also serves the conference rivals as excellent preparation for the national collegiate championships in Minneapolis June 21 and 22. The Pacific Coast conference and the Big 9½ annually furnish the majority of national collegiate champions. Outstanding contenders in 13 of the 14 N. C. A. A. events [there is no mile relay in the Minneapolis meet] will appear in Evanston Monday evening. Three on the list may equal or break world records.

The three are Clyde Jeffrey, Stanford sprinter, who has unofficially equalled the 100 yard dash record of :09.4; John Wilson, Southern California's high jumper, who missed the world mark by a half inch this spring, and Archie Harris of Indiana, who established Big 9½ and Central college discus records this year.

Huskies Stop Off for Drill En Route East

A university crew traveling the length of the land to avenge a defeat suffered last year from one of its neighbors stopped briefly in Chicago yesterday.

In the 1939 Poughkeepsie regatta on the Hudson river, the University of Washington oarsmen put on a burst of speed in the closing yards of the four mile race, but failed to catch California by 10 feet. The Huskies hope to reverse this decision a week from tomorrow, their coach, Al Ulbrickson, said yesterday while his athletes were taking a practice spin on the Lincoln park lagoon.

Four Have Chance.

"It looks like an open race," he declared. "At least four of the eight crews have a good chance to win it." Then he named California, Cornell, Columbia, and his own aggregation. Other contestants are Wisconsin, Syracuse, Navy, and Princeton.

Washington recently defeated California by two lengths, but Ulbrickson believes the Bears will be improved in next week's race. California set a record, 18 minutes and 12 3-5 seconds, in winning last year. Four of the Washington crew are sophomores.

The Washington coach said he has been following the growth of schoolboy rowing in Chicago. He said the annual Chicago Interscholastic regatta is giving the sport a tremendous impetus in the middlewest and predicted its steady growth among high schools.

It Costs Money.

"One of the main obstacles to the spread of rowing in high schools," he said, "is the expense of equipment. George Pocock, Seattle boat builder, is considering a plan to make shells by mass production, which will more than cut their cost in half. This will put the sport in financial reach of many high schools."

The custom made shells cost upward of $1,250.

RIVALS WATCH CORNELL

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 10 (AP).—Despite a drizzling rain and rough water, crews from six colleges were on the Hudson for long drills this morning in preparation for the intercollegiate regatta, June 18.

Attention of rival coaches was centered on Cornell's eight, for the general impression prevails that the unbeaten Big Red eight will be the crew to watch in the four mile varsity contest.

Ky Ebrigh, termed California's morning workout as "very satisfactory."

Jack Cunning, coxswain of the Wisconsin varsity, took his place, in the Badger shell for the first time this morning and immediate improvement was noted in the work of Ralph Hunn's crew.

GLENVIEW OPENS SEASON.

The Glenview Athletic club will open its semipro baseball season tonight, against the Niles Center Red Sox in Roosevelt park, Glenview. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Prep Nines Play Today in Semi-Finals

The four survivors among the 31 members of the city high school baseball league play today to determine which two will meet in Wrigley field Saturday afternoon for the pennant.

Steinmetz, winner of the west section campaign, meets Calumet, champion of the south section, on Spencer Coals field, and Lane Tech, north section winner, engages Fenger, south section runnerup, in Mills stadium.

Fenger reached the semi-finals after beating Bowen, 6 to 0, in a playoff of their tie. Fenger then battled Farragut, central section first place nine in the quarter-finals, winning 8 to 2.

Lane, to which playoffs and titles are an old story, practically breezed to the semi-finals. The only undefeated team in the league, the Techs got out of playing Von Steuben in a game postponed from May 15. Since the contest could not change the lead, Von Steuben waived it.

In the quarter-finals, Lane shut out Crane Tech, west section runner up, 4 to 0.

Steinmetz won the west section title by a comfortable margin, finally losing two out of 14 contests. Calumet had the same record in its group but was pushed all the way by Bowen and Fenger. The former beat Senn 7 to 3 and the latter won from Lindblom 6 to 5 in the quarters.

Batteries probably will be Stevenson and Dreger for Fenger; Soderlind and Logsdon for Calumet; Posehl and Quandee for Steinmetz and Chmiel and Schaffer for Lane.

Western Junior and Collegiate Next in Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Now that Lawson Little and Gene Sarazen have completed their extra inning argument for the United States Open championship interest in national golf presently will turn to the annual western junior and national intercollegiate tournament. The junior, which is really national in scope, will baptize the Mill Road Farm course in West Lake Forest as a competitive battleground, beginning next Tuesday and continuing thru June 21.

Entries for the junior were to close today, but the Western Golf association announced yesterday the deadline has been extended to Saturday. The fee is $2, and should be forwarded to Secretary John Searles of the W. G. A., 7001 North Clark street. The tournament is open to all boy golfers who have reached their 16th birthday, but have not attained their 20th.

Then Comes Collegiate.

The national intercollegiate, one of the finest tournaments in amateur golf, will be decided from June 24 to June 29 at the famed Ekwanok club in Manchester, Vt. Entries for the event will close tomorrow night with Chick Evans, chairman of the N. C. A. A. golf committee, 619 Clark street, Evanston. The fee for a team of four to six players representing any university or college is $20, admitting the players to both the team and individual competitions. The fee for any players who wish to play for the individual title alone is $5.

Advance entries for the junior indicate the national complexion of the show. Among those already entered are Ralph Levy and James Wittenberg of Memphis, Tenn.; Stan Evans of Evanston; Jack Culp and Sanford Rissman of Chicago; Bud Rocetti and John Page of Muskegon, Mich.; Robert Marchbank of Greensburg, Pa.; Manuel de La Torre of Highland Park; Jim Funston of Michigan State college; John Hayes of Urbana, Ill., and John Franklin, John Putnam, Tom Engstrom, and Crawford McCoy, all of Oregon, Ill.

An 18 hole medal play qualifying round will be played next Tuesday, with the low 32 scorers gaining the match play bracket. This will open Wednesday with two 18 hole rounds, a procedure to be repeated Thursday. The final on Friday will be at 36 holes.

Stanford Comes Back.

Eight Big 9½ schools, Notre Dame, and Michigan State will attempt to wrest the national team championship from Stanford in the intercollegiate at Ekwanok. Coach Eddie Twiggs will bring the Stanford squad here on June 19 on its way to Ekwanok. The Indians' leading star is Warren Berl, the young San Franciscan who went to the title match last year at Des Moines before yielding the crown to Vincent D'Antoni of Tulane. D'Antoni is now in the Harvard business school, but will not defend his crown, since graduate students are not eligible.

Coach Ted Payseur of Northwestern will bring five Wildcat golfers to Ekwanok, including Capt. Chester Bland, who finished fifth in the recent Big 9½ tourney; Dick Haskell, sophomore who placed ninth; Gordon Wolfley; Bill O'Neall and Charles Barrett. Northwestern was runnerup for the 1939 team championship.

Illinois has entered the five man squad which won the conference title last month. The squad will be led by Capt. Herb Patton and will include F. W. Richart, Johnny Holmstrom, Alex Welsh, and Gene Modjeska. Bill Gilbert of Ohio State who took the Big 9½ individual honors with a 72 hole score of 297, will be the Buckeyes' main hope. With him will be Charles Evans, Gene Durrant, Tony Montanero, Ross Bartschy, and John Simione. Other Big 9½ schools entered are Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Chicago.

Hagen to Enter.

Capt. Walter Hagen Jr. of Notre Dame, recent winner of the Indiana collegiate title, said during the national open that he and probably four other members of the Irish squad will make the trip to Ekwanok.

Eighteen holes of medal play will be the order of the first two days at Ekwanok. These will not only serve as the qualifying round for match play, in which the 64 low scorers will be admitted, but also will determine the team championship.

Accuse Negro Editor in Death of Toledo Star

Toledo, O., June 10 [Special].—A first degree murder charge was filed today against James Craig Watson, editor of a Negro weekly, accusing him of the fatal shooting Tuesday night of Henry Giles Jr., 21, star Negro tackle on the University of Toledo football team.

Giles was fatally shot in a fight in front of the University stadium. An argument over attentions to a girl is said by police to have precipitated the shooting. Giles, while attending Newark, O., High school, was state scholastic shotput and discus champion and for three years was on the All-State scholastic basketball team.

Raab Tailors to Meet Parichy Girls Tonight

The Raab Tailors, twice victors over the Parichy Bloomer Girls, will attempt to make it three straight and advance to the .500 mark in league play when they invade Parichy stadium, Harlem and Harrison streets, in one of three Girls' Major Softball league games tonight. In other games the league leading Rivals will meet Hydrox in Spencer Coals field, 4200 North Central avenue, and the second place Rockolas will battle the Mills at Harlem and North avenues. Last night's league contests were postponed because of wet grounds.

LITTLE GIVES HIS CADDY CREDIT—AND ALSO CASH

Cleveland, O., June 10 (AP).—It'll be college next fall for 18 year old Henry Eickhoff, who caddied Lawson Little to his National Open golf championship.

The youth received $200 of the $1,000 purse Little won along with the title—enough to pay a year's tuition at Fenn college, where he will study metallurgy.

"You're the swellest guy I know," the boy said soberly as the new champion handed him two crisp $100 bills. "I wouldn't be going to school if it wasn't for this."

"I asked and followed his advice on a lot of shots in this tournament and he didn't let me down once. He won the title for me," said Little.

The Open champion was 17th choice among the caddies who selected players for whom they worked according to numbers based on seniority.

Meister Bräu "THE BEER"
PETER HAND Meister Bräu

"Defrost Your Beer if you want to enjoy its honest flavor"

Richard Seibold;
MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER

● Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

HOW TO MAKE THE "50-DEGREES" TEST
Which has swung thousands to the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other beer at average refrigerator temperature. Let stand until it's the proper temperature. Then open and compare flavor. Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

The "50-DEGREES" Test Reveals Beer Flavor—Good or Bad

Shows you why we won't add sugars or syrups even though we could save time that way

THE colder some drinks are the better. But beer is different. A lot of people don't seem to know that. I see them drinking beer so cold they can't possibly taste its true flavor.

If you want to know how a beer really tastes, drink it the European way—at 50 degrees. That's where true beer flavor shows up—good or bad. A lot of people already know this old brewer's secret of how to taste and compare beer flavor. And these are the people we make our beer to suit.

We could save time by adding sugars or syrups to the brew. But we'll never do it. We bottle with only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself so Meister Bräu is naturally lively and sparkling, smooth and mellow.

Do the "50-Degrees" Test. Then you'll get full enjoyment from beer flavor. And you'll find out why thousands prefer Meister Bräu.

Phone your retailer for Meister Bräu and compare it with any beer—regardless of price. I'll stake my reputation on your verdict.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BROTHERS, LINGLE SLAYER, IS FREED AND REARRESTED

Seized in St. Louis Killing on Release from Joliet.

Leo V. Brothers, a St. Louis gangster, was released from Joliet penitentiary yesterday after serving eight years and three months for the slaying in 1930 of Alfred Lingle, a CHICAGO TRIBUNE reporter. Brothers was sentenced to serve 14 years, but good behavior reduced the term by five years and nine months.

Upon his release Brothers was seized by Detectives Paul Girard and Nick Kuve and placed on a train for St. Louis. There he faces trial for the fatal shooting on Aug. 2, 1929, of John Di Blaze, a service car driver for the street car company in St. Louis. Di Blaze was slain in a union war centered on an attempt to organize service car drivers.

Brothers was indicted in the slaying by a St. Louis grand jury on Sept. 27, 1929. He protested his innocence yesterday when taken into custody by the St. Louis detectives.

Brothers shook hands with Warden Joseph Ragen, posed for photographers, but refused to be interviewed when he was released.

"This is the hardest $10 I ever earned," he told Warden Ragen when he was handed the money given departing convicts.

Lingle Slain in Subway.

Brothers is now 41 years old. He has a wife and a son, 15 years old. His mother, Mrs. Rose Jessen, lives in Webster Groves, Mo. His father is dead.

Lingle was shot to death June 9, 1930, as he walked thru the Randolph street subway leading to the Illinois Central railroad station. Brothers, then a fugitive from St. Louis, was known in the Missouri city as a slugger and gunman who had been arrested more than 60 times.

When arrested for the Lingle murder he said he had been receiving $25 a week from a taxicab drivers' union in St. Louis. He was sent to Chicago with a letter of recommendation to Thomas Maloy, business agent of the Motion Picture Operators' union, since slain.

Brothers carried a membership card in the movie operators' union as a means of identification. It had been issued in the name of Bader, an alias he used in Chicago.

Chauffeur for Ted Newberry.

He became affiliated with a north side bootleg gang and for a time was chauffeur for Ted Newberry, a gang chief who later was shot to death. Later Brothers joined another faction of bootleggers headed by Jack Zuta, west side vice monger, and Joe Aiello, both of whom later were shot to death.

Lingle, as a reporter of crime news, had acquaintances in gangland circles.

His murder went unsolved for several months. Then investigators for John A. Swanson, then state's attorney, and Swanson's special assistant, Charles Rathbun, received information that Brothers was the slayer. His indictment and trial followed.

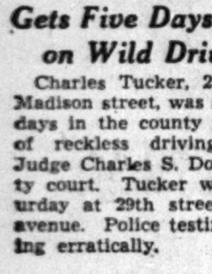
Prosecuted by Wayland Brooks.

The prosecution was headed by Wayland Brooks, then an assistant state's attorney, now Republican nominee for United States senator. Brothers was defended by Attorney Louis Piquett, who later became John Dillinger's lawyer and lost his right to practice.

Brothers pleaded not guilty, but did not take the witness stand to deny the shooting. None of the witnesses was able to testify to seeing Brothers shoot Lingle. He was convicted, however, on the testimony of witnesses who saw him run from the subway and flee west in Randolph street after the slaying.

The prison psychiatrist last month reported that Brothers had admitted activity in labor rackets but still protested his innocence in the Lingle slaying. The report said his "denial of guilt is not consistent with his background and general orientation."

2 TIME PAROLEE GETS LIFE FOR POLICE SHOOTING



John Cronin.

Parole abuses were assailed yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Francis T. McCurrie as John Cronin, 31 years old, a two time parolee, was sentenced to life imprisonment for shooting a policeman. His victim, Policeman Martin Dugan, who was permanently crippled, sat in a wheelchair during the hearing before Judge John Sbarbaro in Criminal court.

"In my experience as a prosecutor it has become inevitable to find that when a policeman is shot it is done by a repeater," McCurrie said. "This defendant was paroled in 1927 and violated that parole. Yet he later was paroled on a subsequent sentence of 1 to 20 years for robbery."

Cronin seized $13 in a grocery robbery at 2350 Harrison street last Feb. 26. Policeman Dugan, who was on traffic duty, was wounded while capturing him. Cronin was sentenced as an habitual criminal.

Gets Five Days in Jail on Wild Driving Charge

Charles Tucker, 27 years old, 836 Madison street, was sentenced to five days in the county jail on a charge of reckless driving yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Safety court. Tucker was arrested Saturday at 29th street and Michigan avenue. Police testified he was driving erratically.

CITY RED CROSS DONATIONS RISE TO $700,000 MARK

Chicago contributions to the national 20 million dollar Red Cross war relief drive were close to $700,000 last night. James B. Forgan, chairman of the local campaign, announced a gift of $1,500 from the Union Tank Car company in addition to $422 previously donated by the concern's employés.

Among other gifts received yesterday were $1,447 from the Barrington chapter of the Red Cross, $1,239 from the Liquid Carbonic company and employés, $1,050 from Poor & Co., and $1,000 from Universal Oil Products.

WOMAN SINKING IN BATTLE WITH BLOOD DISEASE

Mrs. Anne Harnstrom, 24 years old, a patient in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital who is fighting for her life against a rare blood poisoning, was in a critical condition last night.

Hope was held out earlier in the day when a woman who had been cured of the same disease, volunteered as a blood donor. The woman, who asked that her name be withheld, had been attracted by a notice yesterday in THE TRIBUNE. Numerous telephone calls from others, who offered their blood, were received by the hospital.

Mrs. Harnstrom was rallying from complications after the Caesarean birth of a daughter when the infection, staphylococcus septicemia, was detected four days ago.

Her husband, Leroy Harnstrom, 652 North Albany avenue, a young machinist, has been in constant attendance at her bedside. Their baby, which was seven and a half pounds at birth, is still at the hospital in perfect health.

Two Women Foil Bandits by Hiding Gems in Potatoes

Two women made good use of their food in Hans Nielsen's Fried Chicken restaurant at 7840 South Western avenue early yesterday when four bandits entered and began frisking the patrons for valuables. Mrs. Lawrence Tomlinson, 6715 Emerald avenue, and Mrs. Maurice Morrison, whose address was not learned, mixed their wedding rings in with their potatoes. The robbers overlooked the jewels but took $125 from Nielsen and $51 from other patrons.

NORTHWEST SIDE RENEWS ITS PLEA FOR SUPERROAD

BY HAL FOUST.

Civic organizations of the northwest side yesterday renewed their advocacy of superhighway construction. At a luncheon meeting in the Irving Park Y. M. C. A., representatives of clubs with 150,000 members reiterated a long denied demand for an elevated highway in Avondale avenue abutting the North Western railroad embankment from the loop to the fan of rural highways that radiate from the northwestern corner of the city.

On a suggestion of Harry G. Weimer of the Logan Square Kiwanis club, a committee was directed to explore a possibility of financing superhighway construction in conjunction with the impending traction unification.

Part of Transit Problem.

"In the traction negotiations," said Weimer, "it is proposed that millions of dollars be borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Superhighways are as much a part of the city's transportation system as subways or street cars. Express buses might operate on the Avondale superhighway, paying a substantial part of the cost."

The chairman, Bernard S. Molay of the Portage Park Chamber of Commerce, also was authorized to appeal to the reorganized Chicago Plan commission to prosecute superhighway building. The commission is to meet tomorrow. James E. Bulger, a director of the Chicago Motor club, said he will bring this subject to the attention of the planners.

The luncheon group was the motor club's northwest area council, an affiliation of 78 local improvement and civic associations. The group in the past has obtained 100,000 signatures to petitions for an Avondale elevated highway.

Prevent Many Deaths.

A report on an engineering study read at the luncheon calculated that this elevated highway would prevent 27 deaths and 900 personal injuries by removing thru travel from surface streets. In driving from this northwestern section of the city to the loop, motorists now detour three miles to use the lake front outer drive or they travel the direct route over one of the dangerous diagonal carline streets lined with shopping districts

The driving time between the loop and the northwestern corner of the city would be cut an average of from 16 to 18 minutes. This time saving would be shared by a traffic estimated at 90,000 cars a day.

The Cook county highway department, in its studies for a northwest superhighway, recommended as preferable to the Avondale elevated a depressed roadway parallelling Clybourn and Elston avenues for most of its distance.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Anna J. McDonough.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna J. McDonough, a lifelong resident of the northwest side, who died Sunday in her home at 4501 North Knox avenue, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Edward's church. Burial will be in All Saints' cemetery. Mrs. McDonough was born on a farm at what is now Elston avenue and Irving Park road. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jeschke, who settled in that area before the civil war. She leaves her husband, Joseph; two daughters, Mrs. Jean Beckway and Miss Eileen McDonough, and a son, James.

William Anderson.

William Anderson, maintenance superintendent for the Walgreen Drug company, died of a heart attack last night in the West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, while visiting his wife, Floy, a patient. He was 59 years old and lived at 1124 Massasoit avenue. He formerly lived in Dixon, Lee county. Besides his widow, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Janet Widdowson and Mrs. Aleta Sperring.

Fred Baughman.

Services for Fred Baughman, 41 years old, 538 Benton street, a world war veteran, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 220 North Lake street, Aurora. The Veterans of Foreign Wars, of which Mr. Baughman was a member, will be in charge. Mr. Baughman died Sunday of a heart attack. He leaves his widow, Hilma, and two children.

Edward D. Hammond.

Funeral services for Edward D. Hammond will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in his residence at 28 North Porter street, Elgin. One of the founders of the Chicago Gravel company, he was a son of David S. Hammond, a pioneer sheriff of Cook county. Mr. Hammond died Sunday night in the Sherman hospital at Elgin. He was 87 years old. Two daughters survive.

William Albert White.

NEWCASTLE, England, June 10.—William Albert White, authority on oil and fuel, died today at the age of 61. He was the inventor of the White oil burning system and the compound engine bearing his name.

Capt. James J. Wagner.

Capt. James J. Wagner, Great Lakes navigator and diver and a hero of the Eastland disaster, was buried yesterday in Acacia Park cemetery. Services were conducted at 1820 Michigan avenue by St. Bernard commandery, No. 35, of the Knights Templar. Capt. Wagner died Thursday at the age of 72 years. After sailing grain boats on the lakes for a score of years, Capt. Wagner became a diver and underwater blaster. When in July, 1915, the Eastland, an excursion boat, capsized in the Chicago river near the Clark street bridge, Capt. Wagner, working for three days as a volunteer diver, recovered 105 bodies from the wreck. His widow and a brother, Henry, survive. Capt. Wagner's home was at 3533 Evergreen avenue.

Mrs. William Kreis.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Kreis, mother-in-law of Richard Pfennig, vice president of United Air Lines, will be held tomorrow morning in Peru, Ill., where she had lived most of her life. Mrs. Kreis died Sunday in the Pfennig home at Western Springs after a long illness. She was 55 years old. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Pfennig, who formerly was chief stewardess of United Air Lines; Mrs. John Duncan of Peru, and Mrs. Floyd Rett of Detroit, Mich.

Arthur R. Moore.

Funeral services for Arthur R. Moore, 68 years old, who died Sunday in the Woodlawn hospital, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Bryn Mawr Community church. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery. Mr. Moore had been a painting contractor since he came to Chicago in 1893 from Arthur, Ont., Canada. He was a member of the Kenwood Masonic lodge. He leaves a daughter, Margaret, and two sons, Richard and Donald. The family home is at 7117 Paxton avenue.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?

Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing

"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.

Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.

Place your bridge or plate in water, add a little STERA-KLEEN, leave for a few minutes or overnight—can't harm. Rinse, and it is purified and clean, ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

16 SCIENTISTS

Reveal Great Discovery About

CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

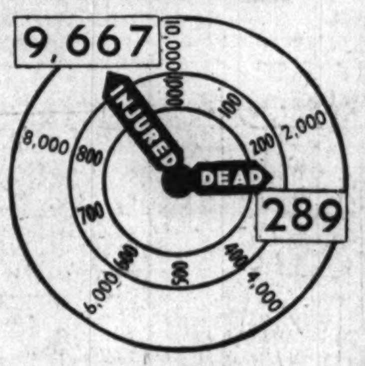
You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive!! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen must do the work!

Now Comes in New Delightful Tasting "Bubbling" Form!

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1940 Traffic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

FATALLY INJURED AS MOTORCYCLE AND AUTO CRASH

James Bernacchi, 26 years old, was fatally injured yesterday when his motorcycle collided with an automobile driven by Mrs. Esther Hanson, 2315 Chicago road, Chicago Heights. The accident occurred in the Dixie highway at Union avenue, near Steger. Bernacchi was carrying race track programs to Lincoln Fields. He lived at 3328 North Bell avenue.

Mrs. Stella Kazlauskas, 53 years old, 2103 South Western avenue, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, of injuries suffered on Sunday when she was struck by an automobile in Route 20, five miles east of Elgin. She was walking across the road to purchase milk at a farmhouse when the accident occurred. The driver was David Larson of Rockford.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 371 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 289 died in Chicago, where 9,667 were injured during the same period.

Plans Completed for Fall Session of Hospital Aids

Plans were completed yesterday for the eighth annual Institute for Hospital Administrators at a committee luncheon of the American Hospital association in the Drake hotel. The institute will be sponsored by the association from Aug. 28 to Sept. 11 at the University of Chicago. The program will include lectures, demonstrations of hospital management, and forums. Dr. M. T. MacEachern, director of the institute, was chairman of the meeting yesterday.

INDUSTRY GEARS PACE TO FASTER TEMPO OF WAR

Chicago Steel Mills Expand Anew.

New evidence of industrial expansion, largely the result of war developments, was reported yesterday from the nation's steel mills and other branches of production.

Steel mills boosted their operations, Aluminum Company of America acted to reopen a plant that has been idle for eight years, United States Steel corporation disclosed larger shipments of finished products, and the federal reserve board reported May gains in several war goods industries.

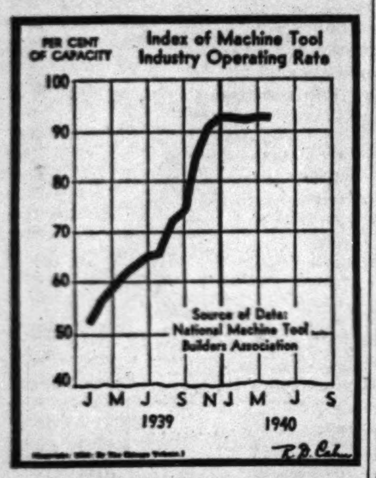
The American Iron and Steel institute said steel mills began the week with operations at an average of 84.6 per cent of capacity, compared with 80.3 per cent a week earlier.

Sharp Gain During Month.

A month ago the national operating rate was 70 per cent of capacity, and a year ago the schedule was 53.1 per cent. This week's rate is the highest since the week ended Jan. 15, when it was 84.8 per cent.

In the Chicago area at least one big steel mill was whirring along at the fastest rate in years, and the average for this district was estimated at 90.6 per cent of theoretical capacity.

It was understood that Chicago area mills of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, subsidiary of United States Steel and largest operator in this district, are in full production, allowing for repair requirements. Carnegie is at practical capacity when its rate is 85 per cent of theoretical capacity.



The graph shows the rise in the operating rate of the machine tool industry.

At the peak of the steel boom last fall Carnegie was operating at 88.2 per cent of capacity. Indications yesterday were that the rate is now above that level.

Demand Is Widespread.

Carnegie and other Chicago mills reported that demand is spread over a large number of products, including steel needed for heavy machinery, machine tools, and tin plate, semifinished steel for manufacturing purposes, and for construction. Steel men said the machine tool industry's 1940 business probably will be the best in history.

At the Carnegie plants and others workers who have been on part time are now working full time, and some furloughed employés are being called back to their jobs.

The plant being reopened by Aluminum company is at Buffalo, N. Y. It will make magnesium castings for the aircraft industry. Resumption of work is set for July 1, and 300 persons will be employed at the start. The company is spending $500,000 to equip the plant, which will be operated by a subsidiary, American Magnesium corporation.

May Shipments Gain.

United States Steel's shipments of fabricated steel in May totaled 1,084,057 net tons, an increase of 176,153 tons as compared with 907,904 in April. In May, 1939, shipments were 795,689 tons. The company's subsidiaries have delivered 5,078,714 tons of steel so far in 1940, compared with 4,030,842 in the corresponding 1939 period.

The reserve board said in a bulletin that its index of industrial production for May is expected to show a rise to about 105, the first monthly increase since the index began falling from a level of 128 last December. The index was at 102 in April. The bulletin said the machinery, aircraft, shipbuilding, wood pulp, and chemical industries have been especially active.

Figures made public yesterday showed that the number of ships under construction or under contract in the United States had climbed to 295 on June 1, with 23 vessels having been added to the list in May. The 295 vessels total 1,516,185 tons.

2 MORE LEADERS JOIN STETTINIUS' ADVISORY STAFF

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—Charles E. Adams of New York, chairman of the board of the Air Reduction company, and Robert T. Stevens, a director of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, today joined the staff of Edward R. Stettinius Jr., member of the national defense advisory commission in charge of raw materials.

Officials said that Adams, who is also chairman of the board of the United States Industrial Alcohol company, would be senior administrative assistant to Stettinius. Stevens is a specialist on textiles and will have charge of that phase of Stettinius' organization.

Ford Discloses Plans for New AirplaneMotor

Detroit, Mich., June 10 (AP).—Henry Ford, examining a fast United States army pursuit plane to determine its adaptability to mass production methods, disclosed today he is working on a new airplane motor.

The automobile manufacturer, who said recently he could build 1,000 standard planes a day under certain conditions, did not describe the new motor in detail.

His comment was made as he clambered over and peered into a Curtiss P-40 plane flown here from Langley field at his request.

Kept for Closer Study.

After a preliminary inspection of the plane, Ford received permission to keep it here for a closer examination, and also was promised that an even faster plane—a twin motored Lockheed P-38—would be here for his study soon. The top speed of the single engined P-40 is 367 miles an hour; the P-38 has a maximum speed of 420 miles.

Of the new motor, which Ford said be believed would be an improvement over present engines, the industrialist said only that it was of simplified construction and was of the Rolls-Royce type.

The P-40 landed today at the Ford airport in suburban Dearborn near Ford's vast Rouge plant where in world war days the manufacturer built whippet tanks, ambulances, and submarine chasers, the latter ultimately at the rate of one a day.

Others Examine Ship.

Ford was joined in his inspection of the craft by his son, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford company; Charles E. Sorenson, general manager, and P. E. Martin, vice president.

"We will make all the studies we can in a preliminary way and see what can be done," the elder Ford said.

When he said he could build 1,000 planes a day, he stipulated there must be no "meddling by government agencies" and no changes in specifications after production was started.

ITALIAN BONDS OWNED BY AMERICANS TOTAL 121 MILLION DOLLARS

New York, June 10 [Special].—Italian bonds originally sold in the United States are now outstanding in the amount of $121,355,600. Interest payment has been regular. This figure does not include the adjusted debt of the Kingdom of Italy to the government of the United States. This is in default, and principal and interest total $2,022,745,422.

Italy also has sterling obligations to a total of 1,861,780 pounds.

Kingdom of Italy sinking fund 7 per cent gold bonds due in 1951 are the only national obligation in the lot. There are now $66,174,400 of an original issue of $100,000,000 outstanding. They were floated by J. P. Morgan & Co. at 94½. Tonight they closed on the New York Stock exchange at 36.

There are two municipal issues, $16,181,200 City of Rome sinking fund 6½ per cent bonds due in 1952, and $15,958,800 City of Milan external loan sinking fund 6½ per cent bonds due in 1952.

Other Italian bond issues outstanding here are the Italian Public Utility Credit institute 7s, $10,374,200; Lombard Electric company first mortgage series A 7s due in 1952, $3,932,500; Adriatic Electric company 7s due in 1952, $2,907,500; Instituto di Credito Fondiaro Delle Venezia series A 7s due in 1952, $979,000; Italian Credit Consortium for Public Works series B 7s due in 1947, $3,835,000, and Ernesto Breda company first mortgage 7s due in 1954, $1,213,000.

Court Postpones Hearing on North Western Rail Plan

Hearng on objections to the North Western railway reorganization plan was postponed yesterday until June 24 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes. A petition asking the court to throw out the plan was filed Saturday by Attorney Luther M. Walter on behalf of the company. The petition charged that the plan, which would wipe out equities having a book value of $182,730,000, would deprive the stockholders unjustly of their rights.

Plan Treasury Refunding at 1 Per Cent Rate

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—The treasury will refund the 353 million dollars in 3⅜ per cent bonds, due June 15, with an issue of 3¼ year notes, bearing 1 per cent interest, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today.

Any bonds not presented for exchange will be paid in cash, but cash subscriptions will not be accepted for the new note issue, the amount of which will be limited to the total of bonds tendered for exchange.

The bonds to be retired were issued in 1928. The new notes will mature Sept. 15, 1943.

Market on Even Keel.

Morgenthau said the market has behaved "beautifully" in the face of the new war news, the market for United States obligations particularly having taken the Italian action "right in its stride." If market conditions were bad, it was anticipated that the treasury might have been forced to pay off all or most of the maturing bonds in cash.

Federal reserve officials expressed the opinion that the government bond market will be little affected by the flotation of new national defense loans. They said they believed the defense issues will be absorbed readily, especially in view of the present huge excess bank reserves which are hungry for investment.

Acquire 10 Millions.

The federal reserve open market committee bought about 10 million dollars of government obligations for the system's account during the recent decline in the market, a reserve board bulletin stated.

Morgenthau said that the resolution of the house ways and means committee to confer with the treasury on problems of excess profits taxes and amortization before the next session of congress "is entirely acceptable and most pleasing to the President and myself." Such studies would be aimed at tax legislation on excess profits arising from the national defense program.

RAISE ESTIMATE ON U. S. WINTER WHEAT HARVEST

489 Million Bushel Crop in Prospect.

A winter wheat crop of 489 million bushels was predicted yesterday by the department of agriculture. Spring wheat production was estimated at 239 million bushels.

A month ago the department had forecast a winter wheat harvest of 460 million bushels. The new estimate is within 2,000,000 bushels of that of private wheat experts 10 days ago. Production last year was 563,431,000 bushels, and the average for the 10 years, 1929 thru 1938, was 571,067,000 bushels.

Prediction on the spring wheat harvest, which supplies about one-third of the nation's needs, was based on the prospective plantings reported in March, totaling 19,425,000 acres, or 10.8 per cent more than the planted acreage of 1939, and the condition of the crop on June 1, which was 88 per cent of normal. Condition of the crop was 71 per cent a year ago. The 10 year average was 76 per cent.

Yield Per Acre Cut.

June 1 conditions indicated a yield of 14.3 bushels of winter wheat per acre, against 14.9 bushels in 1939 and 14.3 bushels, the 10 year average. For rye, the forecast was 12 bushels, compared with 10.3 last year and 11.4 per cent, the 10 year average.

About 254,000,000 bushels of wheat were reported carried over from last year. The annual domestic requirements range from 650,000,000 to 700,000,000 bushels.

Rye production this year is expected to approximate 38,640,000 bushels, compared with 39,249,000 bushels raised in 1939 and 38,095,000 bushels, the 10 year average.

List Crops' Condition.

The June 1 condition of the various crops follow:

Durum wheat, 88 per cent of normal, against 69 a year ago and 75, the 10 year average; other spring wheat, 88, against 71 and 73; oats, 82, against 72 and 78; barley, 82, against 72 and 78; hay [all], 83, against 73 and 76; pasture, 81, against 73 and 77; apples, 67, against 69 and 63; peaches, 61, against 71 and 60, and pears, 67, against 65 and 62.

The peach crop was set at 52,012,000 bushels, compared with 60,822,000 bushels in 1939 and the 10 year average of 52,723,000 bushels. Pear production was estimated at 30,853,000 bushels, against 31,047,000 bushels last year and 26,333,000, the 10 year average.

Barley stocks on farms the first of the month amounted to 50,630,000 bushels, or 18.3 per cent of the 1939 crop, against 52,292,000 bushels and 20.7 per cent a year previous. Rye on hand totaled 11,268,000 bushels, or 28.7 per cent of the 1939 crop.

The indicated acre yield and total production of winter wheat, by important producing states, follow:

Stock Prices Sink to Two Year Lows as Italy Joins Strife

New York, June 10 (AP).—More adverse war news, topped off by Italy's long awaited plunge into the conflict, hit the stock market today and many issues dipped to the lowest levels in 2 years or longer.

It was an orderly downswing, with selling never getting out of hand. Leaders, off 1 to 4 points at one time, cut their losses at the close. Some observers believed the Italian move had already been fairly well discounted. A few inactive issues were down as much as 10 points at the low time.

Fall as Mussolini Talks.

Prices slipped at the start as bulletins told of further progress of the Nazi drive toward Paris, the capitulation of Norway, additional sinkings of British ships, and the imminence of Mussolini's decision to join the fray.

As Mussolini hurled his battle challenge at the allies quotations fell to bottom marks of the day. Then there was a quick comeback, led by steels. The recovery, however, failed to carry thru and another moderate dip appeared in the last half hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed 1.2 points lower at 37, equalling the low figure of May 27, 1938. Except for the short rallying period, dealings were relatively slow. Transfers totaled 971,440 shares against 469,410 last Friday.

Helpful was the brightening outlook for steel and other industries which are benefiting from domestic and foreign rearmament demand. Steels were aided when this week's mill operations were estimated at the highest level since mid-January and United States Steel's May shipments showed an increase.

Wright Aero Off 7 Points.

Prominent losers were Wright Aeronautical and Norfolk and Western, off 7 each; Eastman Kodak, 6½; Allied Chemical, 4½, and Union Pacific, 4¼.

Falling 1 to more than 3 were Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Sperry, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, du Pont, American Can, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Kennecott, International Nickel, American Telephone, United States Rubber, and Great Northern. Montgomery Ward was up most of the session, but eased at the finish.

Among curb losers of 1 to 8 points were Aluminum of America, Aluminum Ltd., American Gas, Bell Aircraft, Brewster Aero, Heyden Chemical, Standard Steel Spring, and New Jersey Zinc. The turnover was about 176,000 shares compared with 86,000 last Friday.

FORM CHICAGO GROUP TO AID REARM PROGRAM

Formation of a committee on national defense to help mobilize Chicago industrial and commercial resources in support of the government's rearming program was announced last night by Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Gen. Robert Wood, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., heads the committee, which includes: Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad and member of President Roosevelt's national defense advisory commission; Gen. T. S. Hammond, president of Whiting corporation; Col. J. A. Holabird, architect; W. J. Kelly, president of Arthur J. O'Leary & Son Co., steel maker; A. H. Mellinger, president of Illinois Bell Telephone company; Roy C. Osgood, of the First National Bank of Chicago, and A. W. Shaw, business counselor.

WHEAT CLOSES 1 CENT HIGHER; ITALIAN WAR SELLING SHORT LIVED

A variety of factors — including Italy's entry into the war—tossed the price of wheat over a range of about 4 cents in trading yesterday. Closing prices were about 1 cent higher than Saturday's.

Nervousness over the foreign situation and favorable weather reports from the grain belt was apparent when trading started. Prices of July and September wheat dropped to within fractions of the established minimums.

Buying attributed to hedge lifting by milling interests who reportedly sold the government about a million barrels of graham flour over the week-end for relief purposes, then carried prices upward.

Quotations were fractionally above Saturday's close when Mussolini's declaration of war was made. The reaction in wheat—a drop of about a cent—was short lived. New buying carried prices to the day's high, about 4 cents above the early low. Values weakened somewhat before the close.

For weeks, traders had classed the possible entry of Italy into the war as a bearish factor and some said the removal of the uncertainty had a favorable psychological effect on the market.

Corn moved in line with wheat, closing slightly higher.

MORE MILLIONS OF TRADE LOST IN GROWING WAR

New Markets Swept Away by Italy.

The United States, thru its exports will feel the impact of Italy's plunge into the whirlpool of the European war. The wave is expected to wash away another 5.8 per cent of this country's shipments to Europe.

Exports to eight Mediterranean countries and trade areas, now blocked to commerce, last year totaled $75,736,719, or 5.8 per cent of the $1,285,994,475 of United States goods shipped to Europe. Imports amounted to $73,761,031, or 11.9 per cent of the $617,328,918 from Europe. In addition, trade of several more millions of dollars with Asiatic and African countries is cut off.

38.3 Per Cent Lost.

Previous tidal waves of the war had swept away $419,223,966 of export business with 14 European nations. With the 32.5 per cent lost then and the 5.8 per cent now, the United States has witnessed the submersion of 38.3 per cent of its European exports.

American economy has relied to a great extent upon some of the products normally imported from the Mediterranean area. These include Turkish tobacco, long staple cotton, olive oil, valona [used in tanning], licorice root, opium for medicinal purposes, gum Arabic, filberts, figs, currants, pistache nuts, cork, cheese, special types of wool, bone ash, and fertilizer materials.

Chief United States exports to these countries include automotive products, machinery, electrical equipment, cotton, petroleum, iron and steel scrap, and chemical products.

Trade between the United States and Italy alone totaled $98,784,132 in 1939.

Boost Buying Since War.

Italy bought $58,863,556 of goods and sold the United States $39,921,132 of cheese, canned tomatoes, olive oil, raw silk, silk fabrics, and other products. Since the war began last September, Italian purchases in this market had expanded.

American investments in Italy are estimated by the department of commerce at $143,800,000, divided almost evenly between property and security holdings. The department places

The Art Institute of Chicago, now in its sixty-second year

Where the art of centuries holds "Open House"

THE YOUNG ARTIST in velvet and ruff squinted at his newest canvas. Yes, it was good. He smiled as he signed it. "How proud of his pupil Titian would have been," thought El Greco. "The Assumption of the Virgin" had the dignity, motion, color the old master liked. It was daring, too—intense—ecstatic. Spain had never before seen painting like this!

Today, El Greco's "Assumption," having spanned the ocean and nearly four centuries of time, is the most prized possession in the Art Institute of Chicago.

This renowned museum houses art that is valued at many millions of dollars and is visited by more than a million people a year. The Spanish and French paintings comprise one of the most noted collections in existence. All countries, all trends, all periods are represented. From the celebrated Tuscan school of the 13th century to Van Gogh in the 20th—and on to the current followers of Cézanne who owe a great deal of their inspiration to El Greco.

Truly the Art Institute is a treasure house—a worthy Chicago landmark.

In the field of finance, Chicago finds one of her best-known landmarks in The Northern Trust Company. Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, June 10 (AP).—Foreign dollar loans lead another broad downward movement in the bond market today. Most hurtful to values were the chary attitude of buyers in view of Italy's final entrance into the war and indications of further German progress in the drive toward Paris.

Volume of dealings was comparatively small, but sellers found bids sharply limited in most groups.

Widest losses in the overseas division included: Italy 7s at 36, down 4; Rome 6½s at 30, down 4⅛; Milan 6½s at 26, down 3⅞; Italian Public Utility 7s at 27⅜, down 5⅛, and Berlin City 6s at 7⅝, down 5⅛.

Quotations were reduced 1 to around 5 points for obligations of Denmark, Queensland, France, Argentina, Haiti, and Buenos Aires. German government bonds dropped 1½ to 2⅜. Japanese issues were generally higher.

Corporate liens down a point or more included Southern Pacific 4½s of '68 at 30, Studebaker 6s at 85, Western Union 5s of '60 at 54⅛, Nickel Plate 5½s at 50, Northern Pacific 4s at 59½, and Delaware and Hudson Refunding 4s at 37½.

Some low yield corporates slid off fractionally. United States government loans lost 1-32 to 8-32 point.

Transactions were $5,709,500 face value, compared with $3,792,475 last Friday.

Chicago Stocks.

Shares traded on the Chicago Stock exchange headed downward yesterday. Most of the volume leaders closed with losses, which ranged to 1½ points among the 10 most active issues.

Commonwealth Edison dropped 1⅛ points. Swift & Co., ranking next to Edison in volume, was the only issue among the 10 leaders to show a gain. It moved up ⅜ point.

Trading totaled 21,000 shares in all issues.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares declined 7 points to $171 bid, and Northern Trust was off 5 points at $470 bid yesterday as the Chicago bank stock market slumped. Continental Illinois dipped 3 points, City National and Harris Trust 2 points each and Chicago Title 1 point. American National was unchanged.

ASSERTS RUBBER NEED CAN BE MET WITHIN 2 YEARS

Inventor Forecasts Rapid Synthetic Output.

Synthetic rubber production in this country can be accelerated to meet full domestic needs in one to two years, Dr. Jacque C. Morrell, co-inventor of a process to obtain rubber from petroleum refinery gases, estimated yesterday.

The establishment of an adequate domestic supply of synthetic rubber would make the United States independent of the Dutch East Indies and nearby British possessions, sources of about 97 per cent of the world's output of natural rubber, if these should be cut off by war.

Materials Now in Stock.

"It is possible to set up synthetic rubber plants without any serious delay," said Dr. Morrell, who is associate director of research for the Universal Oil Products company, Chicago. "Old factory buildings can be converted into the required plant space for the installation of the necessary equipment.

"Plants can be constructed readily because much of the equipment consists of pipes and other materials already in stock. The problem of labor is not as important in this type of manufacturing process as in other industries. The only skilled workers required are the relatively few technicians, engineers, and chemists to supervise production."

Large Supply Available.

Dr. Morrell said that the petroleum industry can supply more than 100 times the raw materials required to manufacture one billion pounds of synthetic rubber a year, which was approximately the amount of crude rubber imported in 1939. The new rubber factories, he said, should be established close to refineries or in strategic locations accessible to pipelines.

"The process developed by Universal Oil Products makes possible the cheap production of synthetic rubber in vast quantities," he said. Development of a commercial method of making butadiene and isoprene was the economic solution of obtaining the basic raw materials for making synthetic rubber from our own American resources. The necessity of maintaining a naval lifeline to the tropics is thus eliminated."

Have 3 Months' Supply.

Rubber manufacturers have about a three months' supply of crude rubber, Dr. Morrell said. In the event on an emergency, this available inventory could be supplemented by various rubber substitutes already being made by the leading companies in the industry.

The time necessary to attain full synthetic rubber production would depend primarily on the demand for substitutes, Dr. Morrell said. Quantity production could be reached in a concerted program of rapid plant construction with only a small loss in efficiency which otherwise would be avoided in a slower development.

FIRST MORGAN STOCK EXCHANGE SEAT SOLD; OWNED FOR 79 YEARS

New York, June 10 [Special].—Junius S. Morgan, son of J. Pierpont Morgan, today sold the first New York Stock exchange seat ever held by J. P. Morgan & Co. It went for $40,000, a gain of $1,000 over the price on the preceding sale of a stock exchange seat, last week, which was the least paid for a seat since 1915.

Junius S. Morgan.

The Morgan membership passed down from partner to partner since the formation of the firm in 1861, had been retained under a special rule of the stock exchange.

When the old firm incorporated as a state bank in April, theoretically none of its officers should have held stock exchange memberships. Exchange rules, however, permit it to make an exception in cases where a membership is not used by a corporation officer for the benefit of the corporation. Thus, no pressure was brought upon Junius S. Morgan to sell his seat. His father, J. P. Morgan, transferred his membership before the partnership became a corporation.

RECORD CLAIMED FOR COOPERATION WITH AAA PLANS

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—The Agricultural Adjustment administration reported today that a record total of 6,020,400 farmers, operating 82 per cent of the nation's cropland, were coöperating with federal crop control programs this year.

Last year's 5,764,200 coöperators operated 80 per cent of the cropland. Benefit payments totaling about $775,000,000 will be distributed among the coöperating farmers.

RESERVE BOARD 'ASSERTS 'BURIED GOLD IS 'IN USE'

Answers Suggestion of Arms Financing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—The federal reserve board said today that the treasury's unprecedented gold hoard of 19 billion 336 million dollars is in use altho "buried in the ground" at Fort Knox, Ky.

While not specifically saying so, the explanation, published in the board's monthly bulletin, was believed aimed against suggestions for use of the gold, such as paying for the national defense program, or giving it away for rehabilitation of foreign countries [the latter suggestion coming from Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle Jr.]. An English columnist also proposed recently that the United States turn over a large part of the gold to the allies to finance their war. The board's explanation could be interpreted for foreign as well as domestic consumption.

Outline Purchase Method.

"In view of the public's interest in the gold problem," the bulletin said, "as reflected in an increasing volume of inquiries addressed to the board on the subject, it seems desirable to publish the following account of the transactions by which gold becomes the property of the United States and is put to monetary use."

Reduced to simple terms they are as follows:

1. The treasury receives the gold—usually at a United States assay office or mint—and issues a check in payment for it.

2. The check is deposited by the seller of the gold at his bank, which gives him credit in his deposit account.

3. The bank deposits the check in the federal reserve bank and receives credit in its reserve account.

Charged to Treasury Account.

4. The federal reserve bank charges tho check to the balance which the treasury maintains with it.

5. The treasury replenishes this balance by crediting gold certificates to the federal reserve bank in exchange for deposit credit.

"At the conclusion of these five steps," the board said, "the matter stands as follows: The treasury has possession of the gold; bank deposits and bank reserves have both been increased by the amount of the gold, and the treasury's checking balance at the federal reserve bank, reduced by the purchase of gold, has been restored by credits based upon the gold."

Claim Cost Is Nothing.

"The purchase of the gold has cost the treasury nothing, for after the transaction it has the same amount in its checking balance that it had before," the board claimed. "It has acquired the gold and put the gold to use."

One of the most frequent criticisms against the Roosevelt administration's gold purchase policy is that it benefits foreigners by giving them more in the American market for their gold than they could get elsewhere; also, the constant flow of gold to the United States for the attractive price of $35 an ounce which the treasury is willing to "credit" to the seller increasingly makes our gold less valuable as a medium of exchange. With the United States holding nearly 75 per cent of the world's monetary gold the tendency has been for other countries to use substitutes for gold in trading.

United's Planes to Use New Philadelphia City Airport

Planes of United Air Lines will begin using the new Philadelphia Municipal airport at Hog Island on June 20 and will suspend operations from the Camden, N. J., airport, the company announced today. The new airport covers 494 acres, has four miles of paved runways, three of which are more than a mile long, and one of the most elaborate lighting systems in the country. It is 25 minutes from downtown Philadelphia. United also announced that service between Chicago and Philadelphia would be increased to three 21-passenger Mainliners daily.

Majestic Stockholders Approve Reorganization

Majestic Radio and Television corporation's counsel, James A. Sprowl, yesterday informed Federal Judge John P. Barnes that the necessary two-thirds of the company's stockholders have approved the plan for reorganization of Majestic under section 77B of the bankruptcy act. Two-thirds of the creditors previously had consented to the plan. Judge Barnes set June 22 as the date for a hearing on confirmation of the plan.

PRODUCTION OF PORK REACHES LARGEST MAY VOLUME IN SIX YEARS

Widespread liquidation of hogs by farmers swelled pork production last month to the largest May volume in six years, the department of agriculture reported yesterday.

Packing plants under inspection of the government slaughtered 3,890,182 hogs during the month, an increase of 280,000 head over the April kill, whereas a decrease of about a half million head had been expected. The May total was 13.8 per cent more than a year ago, 50.4 per cent larger than in 1938, and 85.3 per cent larger than the 1937 May slaughter.

Bearish war news, early declines in stocks and grains, and a sharp break in wholesale markets for fresh pork, caused a slump of hog prices yesterday. Reductions of 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds were general, with some losses ranging to 25 cents.

The cattle market was stronger, with good steers and yearlings 10 to 15 cents above last week's close. Beef cows sold weak to 15 cents lower.

Steady to weak prices prevailed for sheep and lambs.

RAILS OPPOSE POOLING SMALL LOT SHIPMENTS

Washington, D. C., June 10 (AP).—Representatives of western railroads expressed opposition today to pooling less than carload lots of freight. They contended that such shipments could best be handled by individual roads. They testified at a senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee hearing on legislation to regulate freight forwarding concerns.

Recommending regulation, F. H. Law, vice president of the Illinois Central system, urged that these agencies be encouraged in their own field at the same time the roads were developing the less-than-carload business.

F. E. Sperry, general transportation superintendent of the Burlington; J. J. Mahoney, transportation superintendent for the Santa Fe, and Frank W. Robinson, traffic vice president of the Union Pacific, also expressed opposition to pooling of merchandise freight.

DEBITS TO BANK DEPOSITS LOWER IN HOLIDAY WEEK

Debits to deposit accounts by 159 banks in the 7th federal reserve district for the week ended June 5 decreased 10.6 per cent from the preceding week and 0.3 per cent from the corresponding week of last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago announced yesterday.

The debits for the week of June 5, which included Memorial day, amounted to $1,136,672,000, against $1,271,644,000 for the preceding period and $1,140,485,000 for the 1939 span. Total debits during the 13 weeks ended June 5 totaled $16,377,193,000, which was 11.7 per cent more than the $14,655,430,000 of the comparable period last year.

In Chicago banks alone, debits for the week ended June 5 were $667,807,000, compared with $695,561,000 for the corresponding week of 1939.

Butter and Egg Futures Rally, but Close Uneven

Butter for November delivery closed unchanged and the October egg future finished 0.15 cent lower yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Prices rallied from the day's lows after news of the Italian declaration of war. Butter receipts were less than a week ago and the government maintained prices in the cash market. Wholesale egg prices held steady as the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation bought 120,780 dozens.

Chicago Corp. Asset Value for Senior Stock Lower

Preference stock of the Chicago corporation, largest investing company in the middle west, had an asset value of $47.83 a share on May 31, compared with $58.85 on Dec. 31, it was disclosed yesterday. The shrinkage left no asset value for the common stock at the end of the last month. On Dec. 31 the common had an asset value of $1.28 a share.

RUBBER AND TIN FUTURES RISE ON WAR'S NEW TURN

Most Other Staples Sink in Active Trading.

Prices of rubber and Straits tin, prime requisites of American industries in time of peace and war, rose yesterday as Italy entered the conflict in Europe. The United States obtains its supplies of both these commodities from British and Dutch controled territories. Most other staples declined in futures and cash markets.

Straits tin futures closed 1 cent to 1¼ cents a pound higher on sales of 67,200 pounds. Crude rubber futures advanced 0.18 to 0.74 cent. Announcement of higher freight rates on rubber from Batavia and Singapore, effective Aug. 1 helped to strengthen prices.

Silk Futures Also Rise.

Raw silk futures advanced 3 to 11 cents a pound on a turnover of 520 bales.

Altho copper futures slipped 0.05 cent, sales continued at a good pace in the cash markets. Sales over the week-end totaled 18,340 tons with Friday sales of 16,453 tons the highest since May 31 when 18,669 tons moved. Sales so far this month total 42,911 tons compared with 9,316 tons in the same period in May.

Commission house and Boston trade interest selling forced wool tops down sharply early, but announcement of Italy's entrance into the war brought short covering and new trade buying into the market. Prices at the close were down around ¼ cent a pound. Standard tops, which had advanced 7 cents a pound last week on prospects of government buying in its armament program, declined a cent a pound yesterday.

Other Commodities Lower.

World sugar futures halved early losses on late war news, closing 0.045 to 0.06 cent lower on sales of 4,000 tons. The domestic futures were 0.01 to 0.02 cent lower on sales of 3,450 tons.

Raw hide futures rallied from early lows but finished down 0.02 to 0.07 cent a pound. Sales continued in good volume with a turnover 5,840,000 pounds.

Santos coffee futures closed down 0.03 to 0.05 cent a pound with sales totaling 9,500 bags. The Rio coffee future finished 0.03 cent lower.

Bleachable cottonseed oil futures sagged 0.07 to 0.09 cent a pound. Cocoa futures were down 0.02 to 0.03 cent a pound.

SEC TO OUTLINE ITS PLANS FOR ELECTRIC BOND

Washington, D. C., June 10 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today granted an application by the Electric Bond and Share company for an expression by the SEC of its tentative views on what the holding company system should do to comply with the geographical integration provisions of the holding company "death sentence" law.

It denied another Bond and Share application, however, for a substantial delay of the SEC proceeding for corporate simplification. Hearing on this was set for June 17.

The action regarding geographical integration was similar to that accorded the United Gas Improvement company, Commonwealth and Southern corporation, and Engineers Public Service company. Also, as in these cases, the SEC denied a request for dismissal of the proceeding.

STEEL COMPANY SELLS LAND TO ORDNANCE MAKER

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced yesterday it had agreed to sell to representatives of the Empire Ordnance corporation 14½ acres of land and a machine shop in Philadelphia. The shop and land adjoin Carnegie's Pencoyd works. The price was understood to be less than $500,000. The sale did not include any part of the neighboring steel plant.

Empire Ordnance is a new subsidiary of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc. Willys is negotiating with the allied purchasing commission for large munitions contracts.

Mexico to Reveal Values Placed on Oil Properties

MEXICO CITY, June 10 (AP).—Federal Judge Ponciano Hernandez Ortega announced today that the evaluation of foreign oil company properties expropriated March 18, 1938, will be made public this week. Appraisal of the properties was delayed by new calculations required as a result of the agreement reached by the Mexican government and the Sinclair interests for payment to Sinclair of $8,500,000.

War on Garden Insects

June 10, 1940.

NOW that most of the vegetable crops in the sample garden at Du Page county farm are up and are being cultivated regularly, part of the daily routine of caring for them is to go along each row and look for insects. Without daily inspections of the crops the insects are likely to destroy young plants before they are well out of the ground.

Last week striped cucumber beetles attacked the ornamental gourds growing by a fence along one side of the garden and nearly ruined some of the plants before they were discovered. The plants were sprayed with arsenate of lead. Cucumber and melon plants also have been attacked.

A Troublesome Pest.

Cucumber beetles gave trouble last year, feeding on various kinds of vine crops and sometimes destroying young cucumber, melon, and squash plants just as they pushed thru the ground. These insects are difficult to poison. Instead of trying to poison the beetles, many gardeners dust plants with some material that will repel them and prevent them from eating.

A mixture of 1 part of calcium arsenate and 15 parts of burned gypsum sometimes is used for this purpose. The plants are covered heavily with the dust as soon as they break thru the soil, and the applications are repeated as often as necessary.

Flea beetles also have eaten holes in the leaves of many of the small plants. So far they have given most trouble on the potatoes. These are small, black bugs that quickly jump off the leaves and disappear when disturbed.

Controling Flea Beetles.

A combination of Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead often is used for controling flea beetles. Gardeners usually consider this more effective than arsenate of lead used alone. The spray is made by adding 2 pounds of arsenate of lead to a 5-6-50 mixture of Bordeaux [5 pounds of copper sulphate, 6 pounds of hydrated lime, and 50 gallons of water]. Calcium arsenate may be used instead of the arsenate of lead.

Vegetables that have escaped insect injury are growing well, and some are ready for the table. Radishes, leaf lettuce, and green onions were picked last week.

The peanuts finally came up and are starting to grow. It was nearly a month from the time the seeds were planted until the first plants started pushing thru the ground.

Tomato plants and some of the annual flowers were watered last week when the surface soil became dry. A creek runs alongside the garden, and the gardeners say they could keep many of the plants watered thru a long drouth if necessary.

BUDD DECLARES TECHNOLOGICAL RISE MEANS JOBS

Railway Head Calls It Way to Better Life.

Challenging the theories of some economists and lay observers that the world has reached a "static" economy, Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad, declared yesterday that technological progress will produce more jobs in the United States and further raise the standard of living.

Ralph Budd.

"Only thru continued technological improvements can we find new things to produce and thus provide additional employment," he told 700 members and guests of the Traffic Club of Chicago at a luncheon in the Palmer House.

Recall First Steel Rail.

The luncheon, attended by many widely-known steel and railway executives, marked the 75th anniversary of the rolling of the first commercial steel rail in this country. Clarence Randall, vice president of the Inland Steel company, also addressed the meeting, and G. Cook Kimball, executive vice president of the United States Steel corporation, presented a motion picture illustrating the progress in the art of steel manufacture.

Citing transportation as an outstanding example of technological advance, Budd asserted six million persons are now employed in transportation by rail, highway, waterway, airway, and by pipe line, compared with two million 20 years ago when railroads handled most of the commercial transportation.

Alloys Extend Life of Rails.

This nation, Budd declared, is rapidly moving from "an age of steel into an age of alloys," with the combination of steel alloys creating transportation and other machinery considered impossible a few years ago. He paid tribute to metallurgists for the creation of the modern steel rail, declaring they had produced a rail of 131 pounds per yard which is capable of carrying 400 million tons of revenue freight before the necessity of replacement. The old type iron rail, he said, was worn out after one million tons of freight had been carried over it.

Randall declared the development of the west, which coincided with the beginning of modern railways, would have been delayed if thru some industrial quirk the automobile had been perfected before the steam locomotive.

LABOVITZ TERMS PROPERTY TAX LAW OUTMODED

I. M. Labovitz, economist of the Illinois tax commission, yesterday told members of the City club at a forum luncheon in the Hotel Sherman that the Illinois property tax law is ill-suited to its present needs. Among the several changes he recommended were the simplification and uniform classification of tax levy provisions for the various types of taxing units, the application to public utilities of unitary assessments now used in assessing capital stock of domestic corporations, and shortening the interval from assessment date to delinquency date.

Labovitz said that the general property tax is preëminent among sources of state revenue and is "destined to continue long in this position." He pointed out that altho its importance has been diminishing, it supplies three-fifths of all state and local revenue. Changes in the present law and simplification of administrative processes do not require constitutional alteration and are "mere details," he asserted.

PRICE OF 'FREE' POUND STERLING FALLS 19 CENTS

French Franc Also Slips as Italy Enters War.

Announcement of Italy's entrance into the war sent the British pound sterling tumbling 19 cents in the New York market yesterday. The French franc weakened with the pound.

In point of volume of transactions trading in the pound was nearly at a standstill, because of recently imposed British regulations forbidding use of the unpegged pound in payment for British goods.

The dwindling volume of trading in sterling tended to confirm predictions that the British regulations would wipe out trading in the unofficial pound at New York. The British rules require that goods be paid for in sterling bought at the official rate of $4.03½.

Pound Cut to $3.53.

The drop carried sterling down to $3.53 from $3.72 on Saturday. The French franc closed at 1.99 cents, against 2.12 at the end of last week.

The Italian lira was quoted in New York at 5.05 cents, the figure at which it has held with little variation because it is officially controled.

The Bank of England quoted the lira nominally at 71 to 74 lire to the pound, which at current exchange rates would be about 5⅛ cents in American money.

The London stock market was strong, and British government bonds rose an average of about ⅛ point.

Gold Imports Soar.

In Washington, D. C., figures on gold imports were made public showing that May shipments totaled $438,000,000, nearly double the $249,884,712 shipped in April. British empire shipments accounted for $388,000,000 of last month's volume.

The British shipments included $281,198,000 from Canada, $62,044,000 from the United Kingdom, $31,369,000 from South Africa, $5,177,000 from Australia, $4,137,000 from India, and $3,956,000 from Hongkong.

The Netherlands also sent $9,431,000 before submitting to German conquerors, Italy sent $8,248,000; Japan, $4,743,000, and Switzerland, $11,452,000.

Portions of the incoming gold being deposited under earmark for foreign governments and central banks and in the federal reserve system swelled their aggregate gold deposits $36,652,000 to a total of $1,268,953,000.

WHY A NEW NAME?

As a bondholder of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway I was interested in a news item recently that the preferred stock of the reorganized company would be renamed class A stock in order to be eligible for listing on the New York Stock exchange. Why was this necessary?—D. L.

Answer: The New York Stock exchange adopted a new requirement early in May that any preferred stock submitted for listing on the market must bear a provision that the stock as a class has the right to elect at least two directors if six quarterly dividends on the stock have been omitted.

When the reorganization plan for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois was drawn this ruling was not in effect and no provision was made to grant this minimum voting right to the preferred stock created under the plan. With the railroad nearing completion of its reorganization there arose the problem of qualifying the preferred for listing on the exchange.

Under the reorganization plan the preferred stock has equal cumulative voting rights per share with the common stock. In cumulative voting each share has the right to as many votes as there are directors to be elected, and these votes may be bunched for one director or distributed among 13 directors [in the case of the C. & E. I.] at the discretion of the shareholders.

Attorneys for the road's reorganization managers said that the preferred stock of the new company would have had more voting power than is required by the stock exchange, but that it was ineligible for listing under the new rule because there was no provision for the stock's right to be voted as a class for two directors.

To comply with the exchange's requirement the managers decided that changing the name of the senior stock from preferred to class A stock would make it eligible for listing without having to undergo the process of changing the reorganization plan.

The new class A stock will have the same rights as the former preferred stock: preference over the common stock as to dividends of $2 a share each year, cumulative if earned, and to $40 a share and accumulated dividends in the event of liquidation.

GERMAN SUFFIX.

What is the meaning of the letters "A. G." at the end of the names of many German companies?—K. F.

Answer: The letters are an abbreviation for Aktiengesellschaft and designate a joint stock company.

COTTON

Chicago prices were 2 points higher to 3 points lower at the close of trading yesterday after an irregular session.

The FSCC bought 4,675,000 yards of cotton ticking Saturday to be used in the home mattress making program, it was reported. Bombay trading was at a standstill.

Sales of cotton goods last week were about 40 per cent of current capacity.

MORE MILLIONS IN TRADE LOST TO GROWING WAR

Additional Markets Swept Away by Italy.

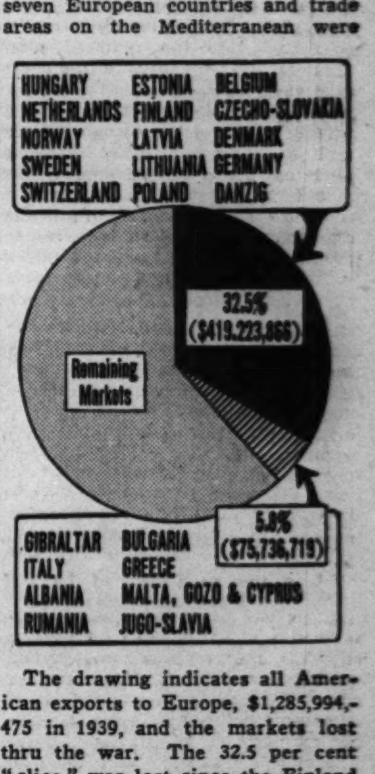
Italian investments in the United States at $40,000,000.

Extension of the arena of war to the Mediterranean will close that sea to American flag ships, removing more than 20 vessels from their regular routes.

American Export Lines, Inc., has served many of the ports with 18 vessels. The United States lines has been sending the liners Washington and Manhattan, to Genoa and Naples. Ships of American President lines have called at some of the Mediterranean ports.

Other Nations Affected.

Last year's exports to the other seven European countries and trade areas on the Mediterranean were Gibraltar, $181,746; Albania, $130,085; Bulgaria, $351,363; Greece, $6,390,958; Malta, Gozo, and Cyprus Island, $607,622; Rumania, $6,233,280, and Jugo-Slavia, $2,978,109.



The drawing indicates all American exports to Europe, $1,285,994,475 in 1939, and the markets lost thru the war. The 32.5 per cent "slice" was lost since the Finland war. Now 5.8 per cent more is believed cut off by Italy's entry into the strife.

Imports were Gibraltar, $3,344; Albania, $148,584; Bulgaria, $2,815,469; Greece, $22,359,395; Malta, Gozo, and Cyprus, $633,357; Rumania, $2,378,148, and Jugo-Slavia, $5,501,602.

This country's exports to the Asiatic and African Mediterranean countries in 1939 were Turkey, $8,312,737; Syria, $3,061,471; Palestine, $7,645,696; Egypt, $13,966,707; Tunisia, $1,029,408, and Algeria, $2,055,228.

Imports were Turkey, $19,831,153; Syria, $2,949,554; Palestine, $638,509; Egypt, $7,023,728; Tunisia, $764,071, and Algeria, $2,027,751.

14 Countries Cut Off.

The 14 European countries from which trade had been blocked previously and their exports to the United States for 1939 follow:

ASSEMBLE 133 CARS OF SOVIET FREIGHT ORDERS

Tacoma, Wash., June 10 (AP).—The 10,000 ton Swedish freighter Ecuador will begin loading 133 carloads of auto truck bodies, metal presses, dies, and precision instruments tomorrow for shipment to Vladivostok, Russia, railroad officials disclosed today.

The cargo—totaling 7,650,000 pounds—has been shipped here at the rate of 20 to 25 cars a day for two weeks. Charles Morton, Northern Pacific freight inspector, said the supplies were purchased in New York and Detroit by Amtorg, soviet trading agency.

Another shipment intended for Russia—$4,500,000 of engines, presses and copper and steel ingots—was returned here several weeks ago by the American freighter, Wildwood, after the ship put about in mid-Pacific. The Wildwood's captain said he returned "on advices from foreign embassies."

WESTERN UNION NETS $245,000 PROFIT IN APRIL

Improvement in the earnings of Western Union Telegraph company was reported yesterday by R. B. White, president, who also announced arrangements to refund the company's bank loans.

Net income for April rose to $245,006, from $24,850 in the 1939 month. Profit for the four months ended April 30 amounted to $455,478, or 43 cents a share, in contrast with a net loss of $793,632 in the first four months of 1939.

White reported that the company repaid $2,000,000 of bank loans on June 1. He said arrangements have been made to refund the remaining $3,100,000 of outstanding bank loans and repay them in installments running to Jan. 1, 1943.

INSURANCE LOAN ARRANGED.

The L. A. Young Spring & Wire corporation has arranged a $2,000,000 10 year 3¼ per cent serial loan from the Prudential Life Insurance company for funds to retire an outstanding bank loan of $1,750,000.

Replaces Needle in Newest Philco Models.

The application of the photo-electric cell for reproducing sound in home phonographs was announced yesterday by the Philco Radio & Television company before 800 distributors and dealers at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The photo-electric cell already is widely used in burglar alarms, sorting and counting devices, for opening and closing doors automatically, and for camera exposure meters. Its adaptation to use in the phonograph promises several advantages over the old style needle, Philco engineers said.

Eliminates Needle Changing.

These advantages include "scratch-free" reproduction; faithful rendition of the highest audible frequencies; a ten-fold increase in the life of a standard recording; elimination of changing the needle, and a safeguard against scratching the records.

Instead of the rigid needle that grinds into the grooves of a record, transferring the vibrations thru a twisting of a crystal, the new device employs a tiny sapphire floating jewel that glides in the groove. Its pressure on the record is less than an ounce, so it does not cut much into the discs. This "head" will last a decade of ordinary use, it is said.

Light Beam Relays Tone.

A tiny light bulb housed in the tone arm casts a beam onto a very minute mirror which swings on an axis attached to the floating jewel. As the sapphire vibrates in the record groove it moves the mirror back and forth. The mirror reflects tiny light beams on and off a small photo-electric cell in the phonograph arm. These beams actuate the cell. When the vibrations of the mirror are rapid the cell translates the current into high notes; when they are slow, low notes result. Thus, sound is reproduced thru a mere beam of light.

A television tube which its makers say will open up the field to amateurs and experimenters was demonstrated publicly for the first time yesterday before 200 radio parts distributors at a convention of the RCA Manufacturing company at the Morrison hotel. The tube is a smaller, simplified version of the tubes used in studio television cameras.

I SAY, WASN'T THAT A YOUNG LADY THEY JUST CARRIED INSIDE?
INDEED IT WAS, MR. CRISPIN! ...AND A PRETTY ONE IN THE BARGAIN! ...AH, MY PATIENT IMPROVES!
WELL, SHERMAN, WE'VE DELIVERED YOUR ORPHANS AND PATIENTS... SINCE THAT CLEARS UP OUR BUSINESS HERE, I'LL PAY YOU FOR THESE CLOTHES AND GET ON MY BICYCLE...
WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY WALKING OUT ON A LADY? I HAVE CEASED TO BE THE CAPABLE MOTHER HEN... FROM NOW ON, I'M A FLUTTERING MOTH AND YOU'RE MY FLAME! START SPUTTERING!

Personal Loans
On Your Own Signature.

Here salaried men and women [single or married] can get $25 to $250 or more entirely on earning capacity and personal responsibility. We prefer to make these loans the way most people like—without security—without endorsers.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.

Simply do this:

1. Make application. [Can be in person or by phone.]
2. Come in, sign and get the cash.

Pick Your Own Payments.

Take a year, or more, to repay. You know best how much you can afford each month—you name the payment which best fits your income.

PRIVACY.

We keep the entire transaction strictly between us. Your employer, friends or relatives are not notified.

SIMPLE TO GET.

Our loans are made on the simple basis of your ability to make small, regular payments, and if you can, you should not hesitate to see us for a loan at once. Come in or telephone.

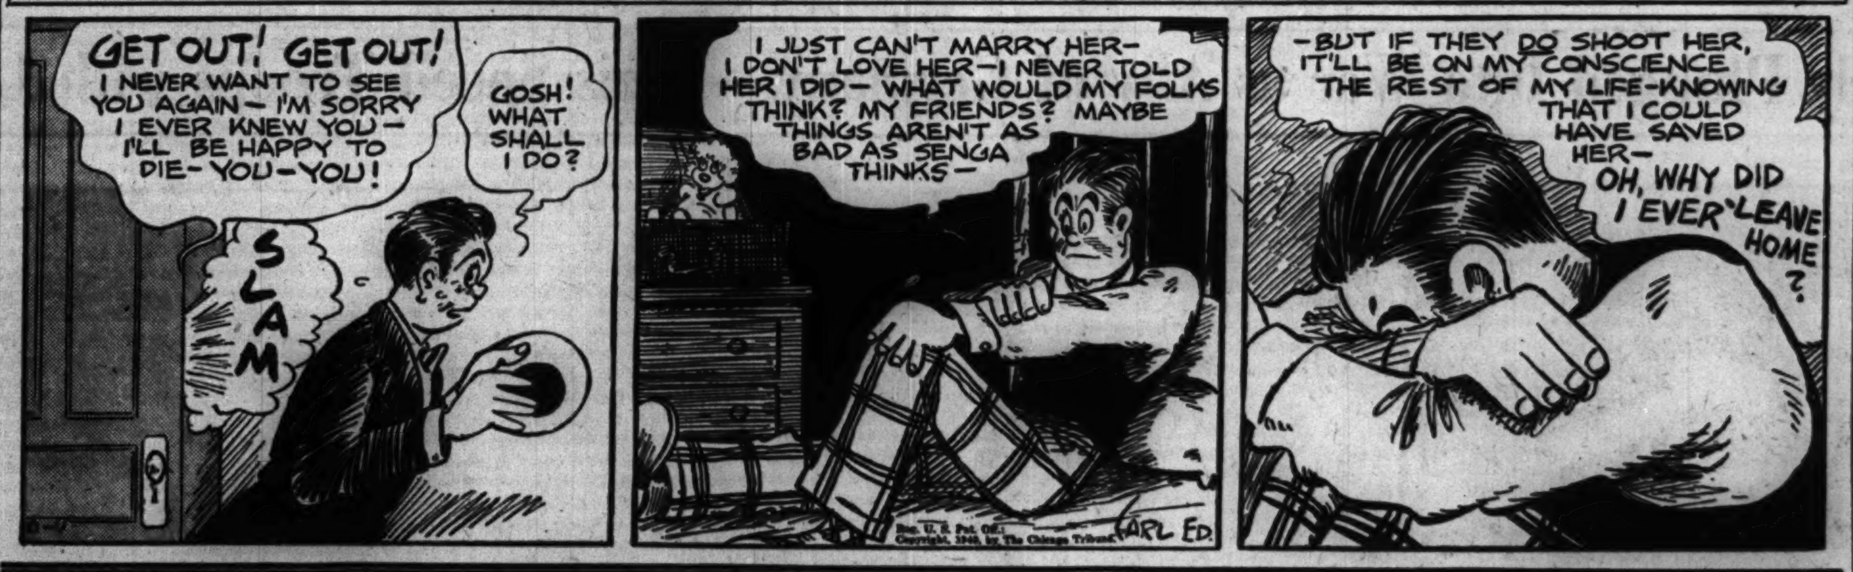
HAROLD TEEN—SINGED BY A WOMAN SCORNED



GET OUT! GET OUT! I NEVER WANT TO SEE YOU AGAIN—I'M SORRY I EVER KNEW YOU—I'LL BE HAPPY TO DIE—YOU—YOU!
GOSH! WHAT SHALL I DO?
SLAM
I JUST CAN'T MARRY HER—I DON'T LOVE HER—I NEVER TOLD HER I DID—WHAT WOULD MY FOLKS THINK? MY FRIENDS? MAYBE THINGS AREN'T AS BAD AS SENGA THINKS—
—BUT IF THEY DO SHOOT HER, IT'LL BE ON MY CONSCIENCE THE REST OF MY LIFE—KNOWING THAT I COULD HAVE SAVED HER—OH, WHY DID I EVER LEAVE HOME?

A CORRECTION.
Recently we advertised a 1935 Dodge sedan for $195. This was inaccurate, as the car was available only at a higher price. We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
